On Thursday the 8th of May, the members of Company F, 2d Penna. Cavalry, now encamped east of the capitol at Washington, presented to Lient. Thomas G. Snyder, of this county, a Leantiful sword. Sergeant-

Six: Our present assembling, is one of those frequent occurrences, which spontaneously flow from a free and enlightened peoplewhether in peace or in war, as citizens or soldiers. The prominent trait of American character is the manifestation of their feelings by some token of honor or respect to those wholhave won their esteem. Thrown together by the direful necessities of civil war, those who I have the distinguished honor to represent on this occasion, have had frequent occasions to observe your conduct as one of sheir officers, and have thought fit to manifest their esteem for you, by presenting you with this beautiful sword. This, sir, is not a vain and empty show, but with the act you have the assurance that the members of Co. F, appreciate you as a citizen and a soldier, and would make some slight return for the kind regard you have ever manifested for their comfort. Prompted by these motives, they have selected me for, and on their behalf, to present you, sir, with this sword. While wearing it in the present struggle in support of the Union, we feel assured that the same justice and magnanimity which hitherto characterized you as an officer, will be extended over your command. May you do battle with it in the fear of God, always remembering your accountability to Him, and should it please an allwise Providence, who watches over the destinies of men, to spare your useful life till this Glorious Union be restored, our Constitution vindicated, and peace and order again be re-established throughout our once happy land, then may you return to your fireside and fully enjoy the blessings peace and liberty give; then place the memento, this day presented, among the heir-looms of the household, as a token to your posterity of the consideration and gratitude of citizen

SERGEANT-MAJOR WATSON : Permit me to return to you, and through you, to the members of company F, my sincere and heartfelt thanks for this beautiful token of their respect and esteem, so unmerited and undeserved by any conduct of mine. The recollections of this day shall ever be treasured in my memory as one of the proudest of myslife, and this beautiful token of the regard of my fellow soldiers, shall indeed, be placed among the heir-looms of my family, to be preserved as long as its bright blade and solid scabbard can endure. I have no words suitably to express the gratitude I feel, but be assured, I shall spare no effort in the future to deserve the esteem of the gallant men whom you represent,- and when the dark cloud of civil war shall have rolled away,-when the thirty-four stars of our glorious Union shall flash out again, clearer and brighter than ever before, on the azure of our national banner,-and when peace, harmony and prosperity shall be re-established throughout the broad domains of our continental home, if my life should be spared thus long, (and it will be but a short period at most,) I will return to my "fireside," where the names, the kindness, the gallantry, and the noble conduct of my fellow soldiers and who, in after times when we shall have passed away, must bear aloft our star-gemmed ig and preserve it as bright and unsuffied as it shall be left to them by those who are now so bravely and nobly rescuing it from the deadly grasp of treason. Accept, sir, for yourself, and for the company, my sincere

(FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL RAPORTS)
MAY 19, 1860.—Ellen S. mt. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks, and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Saturday; while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, but had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began to swell which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is the most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well marked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now is to call your attention to a remedy which has rematism. I mean propylamins. Dr. Awenarius of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose giving it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER! May 23, 1860.—I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I preshribed Propylamine, and who was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains, every two hours, (intermitting it at night). The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly of their natural size. Thus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but gentlemen we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

THREE DAYS LATER !! May 26, 1860 .- This is the case of acute rhenma tism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily.

In this case it has seemed to be followed by very where is their indignant protest against the satisfactory results. The second case to which fiendish atrocity of these rebels at Bull Run your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring a fore you a very characteristic case of acute a matism, and if the result b esatisfactory, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our vera.

in favor of propylamine. He is a seaman, set. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pains, Fanell and Lieut. Dempsey, lately released as but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin at present, dry, though there has been much sweatiug. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90. He has now used propylamine twenty-four hours. This gentlemen is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. . There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is fol-lowed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower oints There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points onnected with rheumatism, but to again give a rial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines. even anodynes, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case in a future clinic. THE RESULT .- A FAVORABLE VERDICT.

JUNE 9, 1860.—The next of our canvalescents is the case of acute rheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have never seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positively as to the value of the remedy we have used. I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the chloride of Propylamine, the patients have gained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish, gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a cendensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is a report after a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to give numerous certificates from astonished dectors and rejoicing patients. A SPEEDY CURE, AN EFFECTUAL CURE, THE SAME RESULT IN EVERY CASE, WHENEVER TRIED, WHEREVER TRIED. WHAT IT HAS DONE,

PURIFY THE BLOOD.—Not a few of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none have been found which could equal in effect Ayer's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla. It cleanses and renovates the blood, in stills the vigor of health into the system and pur ges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the Its extraordinary virtues are not yet widely known, but when they are it will no longer be a question what remedy to employ in the great variety of afflicting diseases that require an alternative remedy. Such a remedy, that could be relied on, has long been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit certificates to show its effects. But the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken. Sufferers from Scrofula, Scrofulous swellings and sores, try it and see the rapidity with which it cures. Skin diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches. Eruptions, &c , are soon cleaned out of the St Anthony's Fire. Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c., should not be borne while they can be speedily cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Syphilis or Veneral Disease is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this Sarsaparil-la, and the patient is left as healthy as if he had never had the disease.

Female Diseases are caused by scrofuly in the blood, and are generally soon ensed by this Ex-tract of Sarsaparilla. Price $1 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $5.

For all the purposes of a family physic, take Ayer's Cathartic Pills, which are everywhere known to be the best purgative that is offered to the American people. Price, 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1. Prepared by Dr J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell,
