FRIEND Row :- As one of the few Bucktails left, who hailed from Clearfield county, I send you a sketch of the weeks fight before Richmond which has proved so disastrous to the enemies of the Union. As I shall confine myself to what I personally witnessed, I cannot commence earlier than about noon on the 26th of June. Our regiment, with the 5th Reserve Infantry, was on picket near the Virginia Central railroad, where it crosses the Chickahominy, when our cavalry pickets were Take the whole "movement" together, it Mr. Philip Slimd, driven past from Hanover Court House, reporting the enemy as pressing our right flank. Leaving their knapsacks and haversacks, the Bucktails deployed three companies as skirmishers, leaving the remaining three with the 5th as a Reserve. This was considered a sufficient force to check the advance of a squadron of cavalry and regiment of Infantry which ... Treason will go down." A County Convention of the friends and was then the reported force of the enemy. Company K Capt. E. A. Irvin, Co. D Capt. Jewitt and Co. B Capt. Wistar, were sent to reconnoitre; but found, instead of the numbers reported, that they had to contend with of August, at 1 o'clock, P. M., to transact at least a division, who had advanced so as to completely surround them and cut them off from any communication with our camps, except by fording a swamp which was considered impassable. I was on the alert, and early in the engagement informed Orderly Sergeant Patton Bard that the enemy were coming in force, and he left to notity Capt. Irvin. This was the last I saw of him or the company, ers, that the Cuptain with 34 others were in Richmond. Accompaning Major Stone who was in command, and whose mare had already been struck by a ball, we hastened to notify the other companies; when the enemy appeared in force on every side of us, and amid a shower of ball we sought as a last resort to cross the Company invite sealed proposals for building | swamp-in which we succeeded, though with the loss of our horses (who were both wounded) and part of our clothing. After two miles travel on foot and all fours we reached the camp.

The 5th, with the remnant of our boys, were soon in the rifle pits supporting 8 pieces of rifled cannon which had been hurriedly placed behind the breast works. Scarcely were we in position when the fields in front were covered with the enemy, who opened fire upon us with 12 pieces of artillery, and then began one of the most terrific fights ever witnessed by those in our camp-some of whom had been in the Mexican, some in the Danish, and others in the Crimean campaigns. The natural advantages of position were equal, but our rifle pits, only completed the evening before, served as a shuller to our men. It is useless to attempt a description of the fight-as well try to paint the day of judgment. The enemy fought like Goliah, confident in their num-Captain E. A. Acres were covered with their dead. For a mile, along the road across the The Howard Association of Philadelphia swamp to Shady Grove church, one could walk on their corpses without touching the ground. were again aided by our gun boats, and for six hours the battle raged,-and, at the expiration of that time, the enemy were licked fair and square. Their loss in six hours must have been much more than 1000 men per honr. I saw them make breast works of their dead, and acres were covered with the grey coats.

Our gun boats are a-great institution, hat the "monitor" is the cap-sheaf of all. She looks like a dog raft, with a round plank shanty big enough for her crew to cook or sleep in. beats anything I ever read about. Our loss was immense, but nothing compared to that they are advertised. A. C. MOOBE, P. M. of the enemy. We are now completely surrounded by gun boats on three sides, and our front does not present a very inviting aspect to seeash. I do not think the war is over. It will take sometime to crush rebellion, but

The Pennsylvania Reserves have lost heavily. Our General, McCALL, was wounded and captured after vindicating his own reputation and sustaining that of the State. Gen. John F. Reynolds commanding our Brigade was wounded and taken prisoner while in quest of reinforcements for our regiment. His aid, Adj't Gen. Kingsburry, was also seriously wounded, and is dead or captured. Our brave Mojor was on his third horse on Friday afterroon, and if the Bucktails deserve any portion of the praise which has been lavished on them. it is owing in a great measure to his good sense-his military accomplishments and unquestionable courage. Do not suppose that the Bucktails did all the fighting, or that the Pennsylvania Reserves were the only heroes. Friends and foes all fought as much, I hope, as they will ever be called upon to do during their lives.

I give you hurriedly my recollections in part of the 8 days before Richmond, which 1 tieated for settlement. will forget sooner than the brave fellows, menand officers with whom, I have so long been associated. Though not with the regiment now, I am still proud of the "domestic plame" and the brave fellows who so nobly have carried it through "the battle and the breeze." Every officer did his duty. There are but few left. My warmest and nearest friends are. dead or captive, but still there are men whose cheerful, brave and gentlemanly conduct, will always be remembered. In camp, at the mess, in blyouac, or on the march, as well as in the field of death, they were still the same noble, big-hearted friends.

I should not forget to mention that Captain C. Mall, our Division Quartermaster who had charge of the train, by his coolness and presence of mind saved much that would have otherwise been lost, and day and night changed front of the most unwichtly portion of the army with skill and promptitude. Peace to the ashes of all the brave who feil-honor to the wounded and disabled-and due praise to those who so nobly have achieved a victory worth more than the mere possession of any city. The past ten days have proved that our leader is competent, our men brave, and that what we undertake will be accomplished. God comfort those who mourn in Clearfield. THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH TO THE ARMY .-President Lincoln has not the habit of being prolix in his public addresses. Short, sharp and decisive is evidently his motto. Witness his speech in Jers-y City, on his return from West Point: 41 do not come to make or unmake generals." That was all the public wanted to know just then, and they got the information in a few words. During his recent visit to the Army of the Potomac he made another speech; this time to the serried masses of armed men who had just come out of seven days' terrific combat. Dismounting from his horse and mounting upon a rail fence-a most appropriate platform for Mr. Lincolnhe addressed the army in these words:

morning. For several days before the fight commenced. Gen. McClellan had been shipping stores from White House to this point on the James River, and on Saturday the order of falling back was again resumed. Seven thousand wagons had to follow one road in single file, and not one of these, loaded with stores, was abandoned, lost or destroyed. A portion of the poutoon train was abandoned, after being rendered useless to the enemy-and the ordinary casnalities of such a caravan would more than justice, and fiberty, over the whole country cover all the loss. The stores, ammunition, and among all ranks and conditions of its &c, destroyed, would not amount in dollars | peo and cents to the wholesale cost of the raw material for a breakfast for the army in front of Richmond. To say that such an unwieldy train reached its destination in safety, when the enemy wanted and needed the supplies, is sufficient to prove that the "front was changconquered; for though apparently checked ed in the face of the enemy" and that the "movement" was not a rout nor retreat, but a well planned and well executed "strategic movement," the result of which will satisfy every friend of "the Union, the Constitution | with a few appropriate remarks.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the son of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bad Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alternative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities cursting through the skin i., pimples, eruptions, or sores; eleanse it when you find it is obstructed is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt. people enjoy better health and live longer for clernsing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well ; but with the pubulum of life disordered,
