NEW-YORK TRIBUNE-NEW VOLUME On the seventh of September, 1861, THE NEW-YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE commenced the LY TRIBLY being some months older and THE e months older and THE SEMI WEEKLY TRIBUNE somewhat younger. For more than twenty years, this journal has la-bored it what its conductors have felt to be the cause of Il imanity. Justice and Freedom, endear-oring to meliorate the condition of the oppressed unfortunate, to honor and encourage useful exert on in whatever sphere, and, to promote by all means the moral, intellectual and material advancement of our country. It has aimed to be right rather than popular, and to espouse and commend to-day the truth that others may not be willing to accept till to-morrow. In pursuing this course, mistakes have doubtless been made and faults committed; but, having in all things incited our readers to think and judge for themselves rather than adopt blindly our own or others' conclusions, we believe we may fairly claim for this journal the credit of baying qualified its readers to detect and expose even its own errors. To develop 'he minds of the young by the most general, thorough and practical Education, and to encourage and stimulate Productive Industry, through free grants of Public Lands to actual set-tlers and cultivators, as also through the protection of immature or peculiarly exposed branches from too powerful foreign competition, are among the aims to which this journal has adhered through good and evil report, and which it steadfastly commends to American patriotism and fastly commends to American patriotism and philanthropy.

As to the Civil War now devastating our country, we hold it to have originated in a Rebellion more wanton, wicked, inexcusable, then was ever before known—a Rebellion in the interest of the few against the many—a Rebellion designed to raise higher the walls of caste and tighten the chains of oppression. Having done all we could without a surrender of vital principle to avoid this War and witnessed the forbearance, meek ness, and long-suffering with which the Federal Government sought to avert its horrors, we hold it our clear duty, with that of every other citizen to stand by the nation and its fairly chosen ru lers, and to second with all our energies their ef-forts to uphold the Union, the Constitution, and the supremacy of the laws. And, though the Rebellion has become, through usurpation, deception, terroism, and spoilation, fearfully strong, we believe the American Republic far stronger, and that the unanimous, earnest efforts of loyal hearts and hands will insure its overthrow. But on all questions affecting the objects, the scope, and duration of this most extraordinary contest, we defer to those whom the American People have clothed with authority, holding unity of purpose and of action indispensable in so grave an emer-

In a crisis like the present, our columns must be largely engrossed with the current history of the War for the Union, and with elucidations of its more striking incidents. We shall not however remit that attention to Literature, to For-eign Affairs, to Agricultural Progress, to Crops. Markets, &c., which has already, we trust, won for THE TRIBUNE an honorable position among its cotemporaries. Our main object is and shall be to produce a comprehensive newspaper, trom to produce a comprehensive newspaper, from which a careful reader may glean a vivid and faithful history of the times, not merely in the domain of Action but in that of Opinion also. As our facilities for acquiring information increase with years, we trust that an improvement in the contents of our journal is perceptible, and that, in the variety and fulness of intelligence afforded we may will hope to make each day, a siting ed, we may still hope to make each day a critic on the last." In this hope, we solicit a continu ance of the generous measure of patronage hith-

LINDSEY'S BLOOD SEARCHER. In renewing of my acquaintance with the many

He also publishes the most extravagant certificate headed "A Blind Man Cured"—"A Bad Sore Leg Cured," &c. I allowed him to proceed in this way for nearly twelve months, knowing that those who had either used or sold my article would have nothing to do with his, but I found there was a number unacquainted with mine who were induced from the above statements to give his a trial. The consequence was disappointment to them and injury to me. as they would at once pronounce Lindsey's Blood Searcher a humbug, without knowing that mine

Pen sylvania Hoapital Pen sylvania Hoapital
(From Oppicial Hospital Enports)
May 19, 1860.—Ellen S., et. 28. single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks, and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Saturday, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, but had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began to swell which was follow-ed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is the most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well marked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now is to call your attention to a remedy which has re-cently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr. Awenarius of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose giving it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as highly, that we are bound to give it a trial SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER May 23, 1860 - I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I preshribed Propylamine, and who was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains, every two hours. (intermitting it at night). The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly of their natural size. Thus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but gentlemen we must wait a little while, before we can give a de-cided opinion as to what is to be the result.

to the worth of new remedies, which are vannted

as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so

THREE DAYS LATER ! ; May 26, 1860 .- This is the case of acute rhenmatism treated with propylamine, the first of these to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice doily.

In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring the fore you a very characteristic case of acute theumatism, and if the result be satisfactory. I think as good jarymen, we shall justly renler our vow ... in facor of propylamine.

He is a seaman, set. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollentense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin at present, dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90 He has now used propylamine twenty-four hours.

This gentlemen is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was ex-posure to cold and wet, and this exposure is folowed by a feeling of columess, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism.

I did not bring this patient before you with the ntention of giving you a lecture on all the points onnected with rheumatism, but to again give a rial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines. even anodynes, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case in a future clinic.

THE RESULT .- A FAVORABLE VERDICT. JUNE 9, 1860 .- The next of our canvalescents is the case of acuterhoumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case. and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have never seen as severe a case of acute rheumatism to soon restored to health as this man has been, and without be ed to health as this man has been, and without be-ing prepared to decide positively as to the value of the remedy we have used. I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the chloride of Propylamine, the patients have gained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish, gentlemen, you would your selves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a cen densed extract, see the Philadelphia Mediculand Surgical Reporter. It is a reportaiter a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary tolgive numerous certificates from astonished doctors and rejoicing patients.
