JEFFERSON COUNTY ENROLLMENT.—The enrollment has been completed in Jefferson county, and foots up as follows: In 1st class 1,624; in 2d class, 813; total, 2,437.

RAIN.—During the past week we had quite copious rains, and vegetation is quick revived. Favorable weather for the balance of the season may give tolerable crops yet, although much injured by the drought.

HAIL.—We have been informed that, on Saturday, June 20th, hail fell in Goshen township, this county, to the depth of six inches, in some places. What amount of damage was done by the hail, we have not yet learned.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—The July number of this excellent book is before us. It is a magnificent number, containing 65 engravings; 18 of which are full page plates, and 100 pages of reading matter. Price $3 a year, in advance.

UNION LEAGUES.—We this week republish the Constitution and By-laws of the Clearfield Union League, having been asked for copies several times during the past week. Should there be leagues formed in different sections of the county, we would request the officers to forward us a copy of their proceedings.

ADJOURNED.—On account of the invasion of the State by the rebels, our courts were suddenly brought to a close on Thursday morning, so as to enable those who had a desire to enter the service for the emergency to embrace the opportunity. Accordingly, on Friday morning a company of upwards of forty started for the seat of war. Their present destination is Pattersonville, Bedford county.

Our attention was called, a few days since, to a new process for drying lumber by Bulkley's Patent, recently introduced into this place by J. L. Cattle agent for north-western Pennsylvania; and from our demonstration, and the opinions of our best mechanics, we learn that the lumber is reduced in weight from 20 to 25 per cent, and in a few days after it is drawn from the kiln, is better adapted for good work than by any other process known. Individual, township, and County rights are within the reach of every business man, and the saving in time, fuel, and the difference in expenses of "old kiln" are so great, that we assure our readers it is a waste of time and money, to dry by any other system. From 50 to 100 will erect a kiln capable of drying 10,000 feet, and the time required to perfectly season green lumber is from 36 hours to one week, according to thickness. We have the certificate of our leading builders and carpenters that it is perfectly reliable and is an invaluable addition to science. The lumber is effectively dried, finishes in superior style, is stronger, and the turpentine is extracted from the knots in pine so that they do not require varnish or gum copal to hide the discoloration inseparable from the old s. stem. The kiln is near the black-smith shop of Col. G. C. Passmore, and is well worth a visit from all interested in having dry lumber.

GEN. MILLROY'S RETREAT.—It would seem that Gen. Millroy, made a bold defence at Winchester, holding the place for three days with 7,000 men against some 20,000 to 25,000 rebels. In his retreat he had to cut his way through the rebel lines some four miles out on the Martinsburg road; the rebels having intercepted him at that point. Millroy, had to abandon all his artillery and siege guns, which fell into the hands of the rebels. The accounts respecting his loss are very conflicting, but no doubt it was heavy.

Orders have been issued to enlist three regiments of colored men in Philadelphia.

AN ENROLLING OFFICER SHOT.

It is with deep regret that we record the fact, that our old friend David J. Cathcart, the enrolling officer of Knox township, in this county, was shot on Friday morning, June 19th, whilst in the discharge of the duties of his appointment. It seems that as he was riding along the road, and having just passed a ticket of pines, some concealed and cowardly wretch shot at him, the ball taking effect in the side of the heel and lodging in the front part of the foot, where it still remains. This shot was quickly followed by another, which struck the horse on the front leg, cutting it severely. The horse, on being shot, jumped and threw Mr. Cathcart off, where he remained lying in the road until several persons came along, who caught the horse and assisted Mr. C. in reaching his home. The wound inflicted on Mr. Cathcart is a severe one, and, we are told, that the old man is in rather a critical condition, and that he may lose his foot, if not his life.

This is a lamentable state of affairs, indeed; and we had no idea that there were men in Clearfield county who could so far forget their manhood as to way-lay a poor, old and crippled man and shoot him, simply because he was making an enrollment under the laws and Government of the United States. But, when a man reflects for a moment, and reviews the teachings of the leaders of a certain political clique, he need not be surprised that such lawless deeds are perpetrated. These leaders have for some time past been proclaiming that the present National Administration was nothing but a "military despotism," and that "any attempt to enforce or fasten such a form of government upon us should be resisted by arms unto death!" and that the Constitution was unconstitutional. Again, we see the advice given, that in case "some mousing Pro. Marshal should come about their premises hunting for a gun" they would "tell him politely to go off, and that if he did not, the gun would!" In view of such advice, and such declarations, is it any wonder that lawless men will violate law and commit crime? It is worthy of note, and all well disposed citizens should remember the fact that, in law, those who advise and encourage wrong-doing, are equally guilty with those who commit the wrong.

In making these remarks, we disclaim all intention of personalities. We have made them for a single purpose,—the preventing of the violation of the laws of our Government; and we hope, that those who have been misled by the sophistry of men who should know better than to trifle with the passions and prejudices of their fellow men, will give this subject due consideration, ere they may be involved in difficulties that they may regret in after life, and which may become a reproach and a stigma to their children for generations yet to come.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNION LEAGUE.

The undersigned citizens of Clearfield County, agree to associate under the name of the Clearfield Union League, and adopt the following fundamental Articles of association, to wit:

1st. The primary object of this Association shall be to discountenance and rebuke, by moral and social influences, all disloyalty to the Federal Government; and to bind together all loyal men, of all trades and professions, in a common union to maintain the power, glory and integrity of the nation.

2d. By becoming members of this Association, we pledge ourselves to an unconditional loyalty to the Government of the United States,—to an unwavering support of its efforts to suppress the rebellion, and to spare no endeavor to maintain unimpaired the national unity, both in principle and territorial boundary.

3d. There shall be an executive committee of five members, who shall have a general supervision of the affairs of this League, and who shall be elected or appointed at such time and manner as may be determined by the League.

4th. The said committee shall prepare such By-Laws as may be necessary to secure a proper and orderly administration of the affairs of the League, which shall be subject to amendments from time to time, as the majority of this association may decide.

BY LAWS

1st. This association shall have a President, two vice Presidents, one recording Secretary, one corresponding Secretary, and a treasurer, to serve for six months from their election, and till their successors are elected. These officers shall severally perform the duties which usually belong to their respective offices.

2nd. The Executive Committee of five shall be composed of the President, the two vice Presidents and two other members appointed by the association. This committee shall have a general supervision of the affairs of the league, and from time to time adopt such measures as in their judgement will best promote the objects of the association.

3d. Members shall be admitted in the following manner: The person shall first be recommended by the Executive Committee, or by a majority of that committee, or by some other committee appointed at a meeting of the League for that purpose. Upon such recommendation the candidate shall be elected at a meeting of the League; after which he shall sign the Constitution, and thereafter be considered a member until by withdrawal, expulsion, or otherwise, his membership shall cease.

RHODE ISLAND TO THE RESCUE.—As soon as the news of the rebel invasion reached Providence, the Governor of Rhode Island issued a call for the Legislature of the State to meet on Thursday, the 18th inst., to consider such measures as the situation may suggest. The Adjutant General of the State also issued an order for "three regiments of Infantry and one of cavalry, to be organized without delay, to respond to the call which has been made." Well and promptly done, little Rhode!

OBITUARY.

It is always a sad and melancholy task to chronicle the death and burial of friends. Not less painful is the duty laid upon us at the present time of publishing the obituary of a young gentleman, who fell, in the prime of life and in the full vigor of early manhood, a sacrifice upon the altar of his imperiled country. The hero of our brief and mournful story is MARK GALLAGHER, who left his native place, as mentioned in a robust man and was brought back an emaciated corpse. He was the son of James S. Gallagher, a respectable farmer, and was born in Beccaria township, Clearfield co., Penna., December 9th, 1836, when that section of an unbroken forest than it now does. While yet an infant his parents dedicated him to the Lord in the holy ordinance of baptism, the ceremonies of which were performed by a Presbyterian minister. At the tender age of nine years, before he was old enough to appreciate his great loss, death deprived him of a mother. By this sad and afflictive event the members of a happy family were scattered among friends, and a new order of things ensued. But little Mark clung to his only remaining parent, and for a season the motherless boy was the only companion of the widowed father. When he had reached the age of childhood he embraced religion among the people called Methodists, and soon after connected himself with the Evangelical Lutheran church, of which he remained a worthy member to the end of life. Fidelity to friends, honesty in dealings, diligence in business, truthfulness in words, uprightness of deportment, and piety towards God, characterized his short earthly career. And his death was what from such a life may be expected. But he also possessed the noblest of courage and patriotism, so that he could not remain at home, when his bleeding country demanded his services in the sanguinary battle field. With thousands of his fellow patriots he cheerfully went, even against the wishes of the friends, to assist in sustaining the administration, in defending the Union, in supporting the constitution, and in crushing out an unjustifiable rebellion. He enlisted for the war September 17th, 1862, a short time after a younger brother had taken the same step, and went direct to Camp Curtin, at Harrisburg, in the Company of Captain Hiram H. Hopkins, being Company H, 110th Regiment, P. V. After a few months spent at our State Capital, they were taken to Harper's Ferry, by way of Washington, when Mark became sick, and was thence sent to a camp at Alexandria. Having regained his health he again joined his comrades at Fort Detrick, and participated in the dreadful battle of that place, he being under a heavy fire from the enemy during the long period of twenty four hours. Out of this fiery ordeal he came unhurt, only to fall soon after by the hand of disease. Typhoid fever seized the strong man, and in two weeks laid him low with the dead. He died, March 9, 1862, at 10 o'clock in the evening, in the Division hospital, near Falmouth, Va. His fellow soldiers and his friends were greatly grieved by his death, and he was buried with honors of war, a tribute of respect which he richly deserved. His father being informed of the departure of his beloved son, at once went for his corpse, with which he returned on the 27th, and on the 29th day of the same month he was a second time buried by his friends, at Mt. Pleasant, in the county of his nativity. Thus ended the mortal existence of our young friend, Mark Gallagher, aged 26 years and 3 months. On the 10th of May following a funeral sermon was preached to a large congregation, by the pastor, Rev. A. R. Height.

Mark was a Christian, as an evidence of which we will give a few extracts from his own letters. From camp Curtin, under date of October 2, 1862, he writes thus—"I am placed among wicked men, but I hope that by the grace of God I will be enabled to go on in the narrow path, which leads to life eternal." And from camp Falmouth, under date of January 10, 1863, he again expresses himself in these words—"Although I am far from home, still I put my trust in God; and if I should never get home I hope that we will meet in Heaven to part no more." These extracts, with a knowledge of his former life, satisfy us that he retained his religion to the last, and was prepared for his fate, that of dying far from home, amid the excitements of war. Mark was also a good soldier, as a letter from his father abundantly shows. An extract from this letter will be allowed. "He proved himself to be a true, brave, patriotic, and obedient soldier, one that was always ready and willing to do his duty, let it be ever so arduous and dangerous. Although he fell by disease, he died in defence of his country's rights, just as much as if he had fallen on the bloody field of Fredericksburg, where he boldly met a desperate foe, and when he coolly discharged his duty while hundreds of his fellow soldiers fell bleeding on every side. Mark was both a soldier and a Christian, judging from his daily walk and conversation; and he has found a home in Heaven, where there are no more wars nor rumors of wars, where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." This honorable testimony from his Captain, and the consciousness that our young friend has gone to join the army of redeemed souls in a better world, should comfort our hearts, and stimulate us all to greater fidelity in fighting the good fight of faith.
