THE CASE OF R. J. ESPY .- Richard J. Espy ot Brookville, Jefferson Co., who enlisted, in Pittsburg, as a substitute, recently, and then deserted, after a hearing of all the testimony by Court Martial, was adjudged guilty, and sentenced "to be shot to death by musketry, at such time and place as the commanding General may direct." The proceedings and findings of Court were disapproved by Gen. Brooks and returned. inasmuch as the records failed to show that two-thirds of the Court concurred in the sentence. In accordance with this decision Espy was released from custody, and returned to the regiment to which he was assigned.

The attention of our readers is directed to the fact that, by the act of April 14th, 1863, matter how many dark spots it contains, so the sum appropriated for the support of com- that his prestige for "greenbacks" is exhormon schools for the school year ending on the first Monday of June, 1864, is to be divided among the several districts, in proportion to the number of children attending school therein, and not, as formerly, according to the numher of resident taxables. This is an important alteration, and will materially change the amounts received by the different districts. Now, as we understand the subject, the greater the number of scholars and the more regular their attendance upon the public schools, the greater will be the amount of money received from the State treasury.

A COWARDLY ASSAULT .- We are informed by one of our citizens that, on Saturday evening last while passing along one of the streets in Tyrone, he was assaulted by two ruffians, one of whom struck him on the head with some heavy bludgeon, which caused him to stagger and nearly fall, but he recovered himself and run into a harter shop. This is not the first outrage of the kind that has occurred in Tyrone recently, and we caution those of our citizens who have occasion to travel that way Miss Silver, Mr. Greenback, &c., is the last to be on the alert, and prepare themselves against assaults of this kind. Conspiracy in Canada to Set Free the Rebel Prisoners on Johnson's Island-Vessels to be Seiz-ed and Buffalo to be Destroyed-600 Muskets Found in a Tunnnel on the Island-Prompt Measures Taken to Defeat the Plot.

The country was somewhat startled on Thursday last, November 12th, by the announcement of the discovery of a rebel plot to release the prisoners, confined on Johnson's Island, Lake Erie, by the United States authorities. A rumor of the intended escape of these prisoners had been current in official circles for several days, yet little credence was given to report; but on the evening of the 11th the Secretary of State was informed by the British minister, Lord Lyons, that, from telegraphic information received from the Governor General of Canada, there was reason to believe that there was a plot on foor by persons who have found an Asylum in Canada, to invade the United States and destroy the city of Buffalo-that they proposed to take possession of some of the steamboats on Lake Erie, to surprise Johnson's Island. set free the prisoners of war confined there, and proceed with them to Buffaio.

This information was at once telegraphed to the Mayor of Buffalo, with the request that he should take the proper steps to prevent a surprise. Information was also given to other cities on the lake, which are subject to a similar raid.

The Government authorities took immediate steps to prevent a surprise, or the escape of the prisoners from the Island, by ordering a gunboat to the vicinity, should an attempt be made to liberate them.

The Cleaveland Leader of the 13th says, that upon the request of the officers at Johnson's Island, 850 men of the 12th Ohio cavalry were sent to the Island that morning, and that a Pittsburg battery of six 12 pounder Napoleons and 125 men, commanded by Lieut. Harris, passed through Cleveland for Erie the same day, for the defence of the frontiers against the pirates.

A rumor was current in Buffalo that the Captain of a propeller from Sandusky reports that a tunnel has been discovered extending from the prisoners quarters on Johnson's Island to a woods several hundred feet distant from the quarters; and that 600 muskets, which had undoubtedly been smuggled over from Canada, were found in the tunnel.

The plot to seize the steamer Michigan and two of the New York central propellers, and make a raid on the shipping and the city of Buffalo.

There is not sufficient positive evidence to reveal fully the designs of the conspirators, but enough has b en made public to put the authorities on the alert, and if the conspirators attempt to put their plot into execution they. will meet with a warm reception. The steam-

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of Fractic mentiones in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation in the hope that he from any simple preparation in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three battles of these Bitters at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of re gaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

. Nothing that is not wholesome, genial and re-storative in its nature enters into the composition of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but it is a combination of the extracts of rare balgamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

It is well to be forearmed against disease. and, so far as the human system can be protected by human means against maladies engendered by an unwholesome atmosphere, Impure water and oth-er external causes, Hostetter's Bitters may be relied on as a safeguard.

In districts infested with Fever and Agne, it has been found infallible as a preventive and irresistible as a remedy and thousands who resort to it under apprehension of on attack, escape the scourge; and thousands who neglect to avail themselves of its protective qualities in advance. are cured by a very brief course of this marvelous medicine. Acting as a gentle and painless apperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs. Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous At tacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is most conclusive, and from both sexes.

The agony of Billious Colic is immediately assuaged by a single dose of the stimulent, and by occasionally resorting to it, the return of the complaint may be prevented.

As a General Tonic, Hostetter's Bitters produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Becay and Debility and Decrepitude arising from Old Age. it exercises the electric influence. In the conva-lescent stages of all diseases it operates as a de-lightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe Stimulent, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

The immense increase in the sale of Hostetter's Bitters, both at home and abroad, during the past year proves that the world, while it obeys the Scriptural injunction to "try all things." only Holds fast to that which is good." Spurious preparations, like poisonous fungi, are continualy springing up, but their character is soon dis-overed, and they are "flung like worthless weeds tway." "There was a poor laboring boy near Thures, who scarcely kept life together by driving an ass and cart with turf, and the possession of a reserve half-crown would have been to aits an event never to be forgotten. He scraped together, with the assistance of some friends, his passage-money to New York, and sailed on the 17th of March last. The path of fashion leads but to the grave. We are now in the midst of Indian Summer. The past week was beautiful weather. It drove my thoughts back to my beyhood days. They came vividly to my imagination and seemed to pass my vision as though I were a boy again. There was the tall slender maple. with here and there a solitary yellow or ruby leaf, suspended from its delicate branches, as though to mark the spot where once existed these rustling ones that are now a covering for the roots, which once nourished them. There stands the old locust, that I stoned last summer to get its blossoms, now stripped of every vestige of its foliage, save a long slender pod very much like a bean. And there is our neighbor's tall apple tree. The old man on the topmost branch. I watch it for days, hoping the blasts of Boreas may sever its stem and I be the lucky boy to catch it. It makes me sigh to think that I can not be a boy again. Methinks if I was, I would be a wiser man at the age I am now. But boys will be boys; yet one thing is certain, before I had arrived at twenty-one there would be a LEROI.

THE BREAKING OF THE ICE.

There is something more than usually suggestive in the letter of E. W. Gantt, of Arkansas. Mr. Gantt is known to us as a prominent citizen of that State, a member of the rebel Congress, and tormerly a brigadier general in the rebel army. He was a Secessionist in the beginning, and showed his devotion to secession by drawing his sword in its behalf. It was the fortune of war that he should become a prisoner, and in time he was released. On his return to his native State he issued a manifesto calling upon the people to lungs inflicted a very severe and dangerous throw off their allegiance to the Confederacy wound, from which he has been suffering ever and return to the Union. This manifesto is since, and at last terminated in death. Mat. very long. It is evidently writen by a sincere and courageous man, for he does not extenuate nor apologize, nor avoid any of the great good soldier. In his death his comrades in questions that come before him. He has seen the South face to face as a soldier in its armies and a statesman in its Legislature. He is no friend of the North, and his advice is the advice of a man who has no love for us or our institutions, but who sees precisely where sincerely mourned by all his relatives and the danger is, and knows what should be done to avoid it. Of course, any argument or entreaty that Mr. Gantt can make is for his people, and not for us. We accept his address more particularly as an evidence of the real causes of its continuance, and is taken from feeling of the Southern people in reference to the war for the Union and what we have gained in the prosecuton of the war. Mr. Gantt shows us upon what the rebellion was based in the beginning. Mr. Davis, he tells us, had the whole cotton crop and the wealth of the South at bis disposal, and the friendship of many European Powers. In plainer words, this rebellion began in the interest of slavery and aristocracy-for the cotton crop and Southern wealth are simply the effects of slavery, while the friendship of the European Powers was only given to the cause most inimical to treedom. The few men who treamstance has done more in the district he possessed the slaves of the South, controlling its'land and crops, and through these lands and crops the great commerce that was sustained by them, took upon themselves to conspire against the Republic and destroy freedom. They saw in the North intelligent millions, and these millions by the virtue of spelling-

-thousands of friends weeping for friends that would never return, and a public sentiment rising around him with fearful omen. He saw his power passing away like a guilty and appalling dream. The loyal citizen may rejoice in this, and the many similar indications that come from the South. The winter is past, the ice is breaking, and the spring time of peace is at hand.

The letter of Mr. Gantt is very lengthy, but we will endeavor to give several extracts the Federal garrison at Johnson's Island, libfrom it in the course of a week or two.

I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the im-mediate command of Capt. R B. Ayres. Through the expo sure attendant upon my duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy-two days in the This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the Steamer "State of Maine," from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinborn, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds. and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months: for. gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian. from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the cer-tainty of life which has taken place of vague fears -to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours, ISAAC MALONE. We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to health.
