CORRESPONDENCE OF THE JOURNAL.

Letter from Philadelphia, Pa.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 15th, 1864.
DEAR JOURNAL.—We are now in the midst of the season when Cupid shoots his arrows in countless numbers, and dears about wounded seriously, noctually, slightly, and some fatally—none escape without a scratch from this winged messenger's lovely darts. Time honored St. Valentine, is nearly "played out" in these modern times. The time was, not many years ago, that the 14th of February was anxiously and patiently waited for, by the lover, the rival, the enemy and all the names and styles and titles of man and woman kind, from the twelve year old Miss and young America up to the old maid and lachlor of half a century's growth. All took a turn through that kind and generous medium, Uncle Sam's P. O. arrangement, to give vent to their love, arrangement, or scandal, in the form of a Valentine. But since the old Gen put forth the decree that all letters should be prepaid, the joke of sending a Valentine has fallen into a rapid decline.

Has fallen into a rapid decline; especially with those who improved the occasion to make the recipients pay for their own remarks. Our town boys who have donned the "Kersey" of Father Abraham, still keep coming home on furlough, granted them by reason of requisition. The members of Co. E, 45th Reg't P. V., 9th Army Corps, arrived on Tuesday last. They look fine, noble, manly, and all the attributes that belong to the American soldier are clearly depicted on the gallant boys. The 4th Reg't, has seen some hard service. They are just from the fields where they won laurels that will never fade. The many heroic and daring deeds done by the 9th Army Corps, will ever adorn the page of history, and its members be pointed out by future generations as heroes of many a hard fought battle. Welcome, three welcome home, ye brave and gallant sons. God grant that you may find the blessing of health and happiness among your fathers, mothers, wives, children, sisters and brothers, and when you again go forth for another term, to fight the battles of our glorious country, may it be the will of an All-wise and just God, to protect you from the fatalities of war, and that you may safely return to your homes and live to the old age and enjoy the work of your own brave and noble hearts, a restored Union.

And still they come—yet another effusion in the columns of your contemporary, on the good effects of the virus contained in the copperheads, from the fluctuating pen of that sage of snails, Diederick Exhne. True to his large developed lump of instability, Diederick has abandoned the anti-rationalism-emanating-epitaphy production on the natural history of snails, and de-throning Morpheus mounts the throne of that ancient God and wanders his way to the dominions of Luna. Alas! for Diederick! The truth of suspicion is first coming about. His most sanguine friends have thought for some time past, that Mr Cynthia was drawing him softly, but slow and surely into her fascinating embrace. Particularly when that Queen of night was making the tour of her celestial orbit in full equipture. No wonder his balloon became unmanageable, inflated with such miserable, treasonable, rebellious, copperhead gas, as he let off while "going up." And then such ballast; snarky, defiant, away back before the days of the subtle invader of Paradise. Oh! that you had taken that eminent statesman, that only for a "meniege majority" of one hundred thousand would have been Governor of Ohio, with you; and then have had that other "Jurist" that came so nigh only fifteen thousand short being Governor of the Old Keystone, what an interesting delegation to the moon it would have been. But Diederick why did you not stay with Luna? You might have had a few editions of your dream struck off and sent them down to "Tobler" of canine news-papers for gratuitous distribution among the faithful. The same trouble must have existed there, that does on terra firma. I presume you soon learned that there was a "cereal war" going on, and to gain a membership in good standing, you would be required to smelt burnt gunpowder. But you had conscientious scruples, of a strong copper tendency, against hearing arms, so you concluded to come back to your "home land" and send greeting to all copperheads in a good, faith, your "wonderful dream." A true and faithful explanation of the doctrine of Copperheads. Wonderful profic brain!

"Ye Gods, it doth amaze me," A snail of such treasurable temper should So get the start of this venomous nest And bear the virus all alone.

And bear the virus all alone, to unfold the unhidden mysteries of the past, covering a period of seventy-two years, and all told—except the administration of an obscure individual bearing the name of Buchanan, a name now obsolete—in the short space of three and a half columns of a newspaper. I do not wonder that the doings of the administration, above mentioned, were not "considered in" for Diederick's motto seems to be "prolixity is the soul of copperheads, and it would have been but a speck towards recording the stealing by Floyd, to say nothing of the delay of "Old Buck" to fulfil the obligations of the oath "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States." Poor, old "Buck!" his ability, like Diederick's, had got so low that he could not carry out the words of the oath "preserve, protect and defend," (particularly the last) without insulting his friends, Jeff Davis & Co. Diederick, dream again. Resign yourself to your virtuous couch at an early hour and you may be able to take in those four years, that you hoped over. Dream on! Oh, what visions of snails must attend you!

Snow, mud, sunshine, wind, hail, sleet, freeze, sleet, hail, wind, sunshine, mud, snow, freeze, is the register of each twenty-four hours since "Ground Hog" day. But a better time is coming, and lumbermen are confident that it will snow. When? That's the question. LEOLO.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D. Editor of the Encyclopedia of Biblical Knowledge. Although not disposed to favor or recommend patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and mode of preparation, the benefits he believes himself to have received from a simple preparation in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others. He has been thus long and so long, as to be ready to testify in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years under the impression that they were merely an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoenberger, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friends for restoring me to the state of health which I (Philadelphia, June 23, 1851.) J. NEWTON BROWN.

PARTICULAR NOTICE. There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters put up in quart bottles, instead of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed. This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause, as long as they are sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death. For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters we publish the following receipt. Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Domestic Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far exceed in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS! AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS! We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "Hoofland's German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs, and all other ailments of a soldier's life, will be cured by the use of this remarkable and well-sustained medicine. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost. We call particular attention to the following remark: "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a remarkable and well-sustained medicine. PAUL DELPERA, August 23rd 1862. Messrs. Joseph & Edwin—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. I was so unwell in this city, that I was reached for by numbers of my comrades, some of whom were appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am and have been for the last four years, a member of the German Artillery Battery, and under the immediate command of Capt. R. B. Ardrey. Through the exposure attendant upon my duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and for seven or eight days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery, which removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the Steamer "State of Maine," from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been ailing, and have not been able to do any thing, and I feel as if I were scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again. I could not eat, keep a glass of water on my stomach.
