CLEARFIELD, PA., MARCH 30, 1864.

THE WAR NEWS.

A despatch from Cairo, dated March 26, says we have good news from the Red river expedition, which comes from undoubted anthority. Gen. A. J. Smith landed his forces from transports a few miles below Fort De Russy. The rebel General Dick Taylor promptly marched against him with his whole force, and attacked him in the rear. General Smith, instead of attempting to keep up communication with the river proceeded, by forced marches, towards the fort. When Taylor saw the trick, he started for the same destination, and for a time the race seemed doubtful. But finally the Yankees came in about three hours ahead, capturing the fort and 11 guns, four of them parrots, one eleven inch and several thirty-two pounders; also, 300 prisoners. This gives Gen. Smith a strong foothold in the country, and will enable the Admiral to proceed to Alexandria with his gunboats without opposition.

A dispatch from Chattanooga of the 20th says, the railroad is completed to Ringgold, and a train went down to-day. A number of prominent officers visited the front and found all quiet. Eighty Rebel cavalry made a dash over Taylor Ridge yesterday and carried off three Union citizens. There have been no other Rebel movements.

A letter from Key west to the Philadelphia Inquirer states that the rebel iron clad Tennessee, which got ashore lately, has settled into the sand-bank, and will probably be a total loss, having already bilged and keeled over: so we are even-the Tennessee and Atlanta for the Weehawken and Housatonic. Key West is healthy.

Several refugees from Rockingham county. Virginia, have just arrived at Harrisburgh. Pennsylvania. They left early in February. and after much suffering succeeded in passing the rebel pickets and getting into our lines. For several consecutive nights they camped in the woods without shelter or food

Advices from Vicksburg of March 15th report a large number of fires. Several government storehouses had been set on fire by incendiaries on that day, and the large railroad depot and several adjoining buildings they yield obedience to the law, and demwere burned, consuming large quantities of instrate their willingness to comply with its government property.

The Raleigh Progress announces that Gen. D. H. Hill assume's command at Charleston, and that Beauregard goes to the southwest. Twenty-five Yankee prisoners escaped while under guard, thirty-six miles north of Raleigh, en route for Americus, Georgia.

By order of the Secretary of War the following articles of clothing will hereafter be gratuitously issued to soldiers upon their discharge from small-pox hospitals: One pair of trousers, one blouse, one shirt, one pair drawers, one pair socks and one cap.

Gen. Banks has left New Orleans with a force composed of 13,000 cavalry, with twenty-four light guns in four brigades, under Gen. Lee, and will sweep across the country and thence into Texas.

The last call, although it seems to follow swiftly preceeding one for 500,000 men, derives no particular hardship from that circumstance, inasmuch as by settling up old credits, by allowing for naval quotas, and by other previously neglected methods of adjustment, the additional 200,000 required does not involve the raising of many new recruits. Hence, it finds comparative few arrearages any where, and can be readily met if the people will take the work in or his money, as he may feel it to be his du- seek admission into the Union. The Governor of Georgia has been delivering his views on the way to get peace. The sum of them is, that whenever the recognizing the Confederacy.

Copperheads and the Draft.

The facility with which our people, of all are yet some who denounce the Proclamachronic opposers of the Government and sympathisers with the rebellion, who have endorsed no single act of the Administration, but have constantly, uniformly, and all the time endeavored to throw obstacles in its way, and to promote the success of those who are in arms against their country.

When the "Conscription Bill" was passed, it called forth a perfect shriek of horror from Copperhead editors and orators all over the land. They denounced the 'Draft' in unmeasured terms. They counseled its resistance, and declared that the people would never submit to it. The copperhead organ of this place in an article headed "Passage of the conscription Bill and Annihilation of State Sovereignty"-said that the act was "unconstitutional and revolutionary," and that "the great question just now is will the people submit to this sudden and revolutionary transformation lato a military des potism?" The effect of their counsel was that hundreds of revolvers were sold in this town, and purchased with the avowed in tention of resisting the draft. One of the enrrolling officers of this county was shot in the foot-others were threatened both orally and in writing.

But the draft was made and another is in progress. The opposition has vanished and now the most active men in hunting up money to procure substitutes, fill the quotas, and comply with the provisions of the "conscription Bill' - are these selt-same copperheads! We hear no more of shooting and of resisting the law which demands 'your money or your life." It is no longer asked "whether the people will submit to it." The question mow is who will subscribe to the bonds to raise money to fill our quota?

Thus the people adapt themselves to every great measure for carrying on the war, until it shall result in the overthrow of treason and rebellion. Though for a time they may be mis-led by the bad counsel of demogouges. tricksters, and traitors-it is not long until provisions. Strong as may be political prejudice, and feeling, where there is no acways, sooner or later, be obedience to, and support of the government. Men and money will be furnished in abundance-our armies will be strengthened and encouragedour enemies will be taught that there is no that may exist among us-and the spring campaign upon which we are entering under such favorable auspices, will crush out forever the last remains of the Southern Con-

An Important Measure.

The bill of Winter Davis in the House of Representatives, is really one of the most important measures before Congress. It establishes, in the first place, a Provisional Governor in each of the revolted States; it next provides for an enrollment by the Marshals of the white male citizens, of those who are willing and unwilling, to take an oath of allegiance to the Constitution; and then, if the loyal persons amount to one tenth of the whole, a convention of the loyal people-to consist of as many members time been passing through Nashville at the | as the last legislature had-is to be called to form a State Government. No person, how-Thirty-two vessels are ready for sea, but ever, who has held office under the usurping authorities, or voluntarily borne arms against the United States, is to be allowed to vote for the delegates to this Convention, and in order to guarantee a republican form of government, the constitution passed by it is to stipulate, that certain leaders of the rebellion shall not be Governors or members of the legislature, that slavery shall cease to exist, and that no debts of the Confederacy are to be paid by the State. Until such constitution is adopted by the State and recognized by the United States, the Provisional Governor is authorized to exercise the usual powers of administration.

ANOTHER STATE. - Western Texas will hand, each one giving himself, his exertions be among the batch of new States that will This provision, however, was designed to benefit and extend slavery, but the result will be quite the reverse, for the new State its boundaries is settled mostly by Germans, many of whom have been mercilessly conscripted into the rebel ranks.

An accident occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad near Perryville Station, a few days South obtains a victory she should proclaim ago, by which Joseph Pruner, brakeman, a willingness to end the war by the North had his leg broken, and was otherwise seriously injured.

We do not profess a great deal of respect for the opinions of James Buchanan, but since there are those who do, his views may be of some interest, particularly as they are at variance with those just expressed by the Democracy of Ohio. To Mr. Jewett, the peace man, who called on him to approve his peace propositions, Mr. Buchanan says; This is the moment for action-for prompt, energetic, united action-and not for discussions of peace propositions. These, we must know, would be rejected by the States that have seceded, unless we should offer to recognize their independence, which is entirely out of the question."-Pittsburg Com.

One of the Vice Presidents of the Mc-CLELLAN meeting recently held at Cooper Institute, New York, was a man named HEN-RY GRINNELL, who is regarded by the Southern rebels as an open and ardent champion of their cause, upon the strength of letters printed in the Richmond papers. Another Vice President, Mr. Lathers, is a South Carolinan by birth, and is said to have declared, when South Carolina seceeded, his readiness to fight under her standard. These are the sort of patriots who are most active in pushing George B. McClellan for Pres-

Another terrible fire has occurred in Ja pan. A letter dated at Kanagawa, Jun. 14th says: Oasaea has just experienced one of the most destructive fires history records. The burnt district is three miles in length by one-third of a mile wide; thirty thousand houses and two hundred and fifty warehouses were consumed, with a loss of life of five hundred to one thousand souls. The fire lasted for three days.

In discussing the Presidential question, our friend of the Warren Mail hits the nail on the head. "Never before have the people had so much, and the politicians so little to do in shaping our national destiny. They fight the battles, keep public sentiment right at home, put down rebellion at the polls. and indicate who shall and who shall not finish up the big job of flogging the rebels.
