NEW GOODS.—G. W. & H. W. Smith, have within the last week received and opened a large and well selected stock of goods, which they are selling at moderate prices.—Call and see.

MUSICAL.—Prof. Lighton, of Williamsport, gives notice in our advertising columns to-day, that he will be in Clearfield shortly, and will instruct a limited number of pupils in piano music. The public will also be afforded an opportunity to judge of his merits as a performer.

GOODS! GOODS!—Wm. E. Irwin, is just receiving and opening at his "cheap cash store," on Market street, a large assortment of reasonable goods, which he offers to the public at a small advance upon cost. Examine his stock and you will not go away dissatisfied with his prices.

LEWIS LIDDELL.—This gallant officer arrived here last evening, on a short leave of absence. He looks exceedingly well, and is in the enjoyment of good health, notwithstanding his long and arduous duties in the army. He reports the Clearfield boys as still at Elmira, and says they are well and happy.

THIRD SERIES OF 7-30'S.—By reference to our advertising columns the reader will find that the second series of 7-30 Government bonds has been disposed of in less than two months, and the third series is now offered to the public. This is the last opportunity that will be afforded to invest in that highly popular "people's loan."

SEASONABLE GOODS.—Call at Mossop's and examine his assortment of reasonable goods, which he has just opened. He generally keeps the largest stock of goods in the county, and as to low prices he is excelled by none. Give him a call, as he desires the people to judge of the quality of his goods, and ascertain his prices, even if they don't wish to purchase.

GRAY EAGLE.—A gray eagle measuring 8 feet 2 inches from tip to tip of wings, was shot on Monday last near this place, by Harry Scofield, a lad about 14 years of age. This monster bird carried off, early in the spring, several lambs from the sheepfolds of farmers in the neighborhood where he was killed; and but for the lucky shot that ended his predatory career, would likely have been a pest to the farmers in that section all summer.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL FUND.—At the request of many patriotic citizens, Benjamin B. Sherman, of New York, has consented to act as Treasurer of the "Lincoln Memorial Fund," which is designed as a testimonial from the people to the family of our late beloved and martyred President, Abraham Lincoln. The contributions will consist of ONE DOLLAR, each. A list of all the contributors will be presented with the fund, and in due time published. M. A. Frank, of this borough, has been appointed to receive the contributions of all those who desire to unite in this testimonial to the beloved family of Abraham Lincoln.

THE LADY'S FRIEND: Philadelphia: Deacon & Peterson—$2.50 a year.—The literary gem of the June number is "Chrysalis and Butterfly," "A true Story of the Olden Time," "Lost and Saved," a sad but true story of temptation and crime, "My Sister Clara," etc. "Summer Days" is a beautiful steel engraving. The double fashion plate is excellently engraved, and the ladies no doubt will pronounce it as charming as it must be expensive. Price $2.50 a year; 2 copies $4.00. To those desirous of making up clubs, specimen numbers will be sent for 10 cents. Wheeler & Wilson's celebrated Sewing Machines are furnished as Premiums. Address Deacon & Peterson, 219 Walnut street, Philadelphia.

BOY LOST AND FOUND.—On Wednesday, May 17th, a little son of Frederick Guelich of Lawrence township, aged about 4 years, accompanied an older brother to a field on the farm of Gov. Bigler, where several persons were planting corn. About three o'clock in the afternoon the child was missing, and it was thought he had gone home. When the older boy went to the house at dark, he inquired for his little brother and related the circumstance of his leaving the field unseen, when the reality at once flashed across his mother's mind that he was "lost." The alarm was promptly given, and search was at once commenced by a number of persons, carrying lanterns. They soon learned that the child had gone up a timber road, and into the woods, and diligent search was made all night without finding him. Early on Thursday morning some sixty persons collected at the place where the boy was last seen, and formed in line and started on a general hunt. In about fifteen minutes the glad tidings passed along the line, "he is found." The little fellow did not seem to be discomposed, as he calmly remarked "I had no cover last night." The air being very warm, we presume, he suffered but little inconvenience for want of a "cover," although he was without a hat or shoes—he having lost his hat in his perambulations in the forest.

At the request of Mrs. Guelich, (her husband being in the army,) we embrace this opportunity to return her sincere and heartfelt thanks to the generous and sympathizing people, who so kindly and promptly responded to the request to go in search of her lost little son, and aided in restoring him to a fond mother's embrace. "God bless you all," is her earnest prayer in your behalf.

Plain Talk. The Toronto Globe talks up to Mr. Beverly Tucker as follows:—"Our Montreal correspondence, this morning, contains the statement that Beverly Tucker, one of the noted six for whose arrest such tempting rewards are offered, has issued a manifesto 'To the people of Canada,' stoutly denying his complicity in the murder of the late President. His assertion may or may not be correct, just as the information on which President Johnson based his proclamation may or may not be well founded. He is at liberty to assert his innocence to his heart's content, but he might have spared himself the trouble of rushing into gratuitous conjecture about the motives of the Washington Government. His theory that the proclamation has been got up in order to constitute a pretext for trouble with Canada, is a miserable weak invention—to transparent a dodge to serve his purpose. We have no more right to assume that than to believe that Beverly Tucker is guilty of the charge imputed to him. The relations between Canada and United States are of the most satisfactory kind, and we hope they may ever continue to be; and it is a piece of gratuitous impudence in Tucker to attempt to stir up public feeling here by unfounded imputations cast upon the dilemma in which he finds himself."

Northern Courage. A Virginia letter writer says:—"One good effect of the war on the Southern mind is very manifest; the people, and more especially the soldiers, have been thoroughly disabused of the notion that Northern men are lacking in fighting qualities. An incident related to us by a member of the North Virginia cavalry will serve as an illustration. He was scouting with two comrades last spring in the vicinity of Spangleyville. They lay back in the woods while a cavalry column of ours was passing, and seeing two men of the First Michigan Cavalry at short distance in the rear, pointed upon them and demanded their surrender. The Michiganians made no reply, but commenced loading for their pistols, seeing which the rebels fired but missed their aim, and directly afterwards heard pistol balls whizzing in uncomfortable proximity to their heads. After the exchanging of a few more shots, the rebels were seen to return to the woods without their coveted prisoners. Our informant concluded with the remark, that he had never known a man of CUSTER'S Michigan brigade to be captured without a fight, whatever might be the odds against him."

Blackburn. This fiend who tried to introduce pestilence into Northern cities, by means of infected clothing, sailed from Quebec for Europe in the steam-ship Porcupine, on Saturday the 13th inst. The New York Times says of him:—"They may have a shot or two more days ahead of the reports of their complicity in the assassination plot which went out by the city of London and the Saxonia on the 15th. There is a chance that a Telegram from Queenstown might overtake them at Liverpool, unless they leave the Peninsular at Derry, her Irish calling point. It is of course a terrible consequence, especially if Sarrat is one of the fugitives, that the Extradition Treaty should be tested to secure, if possible, their surrender, or failing that, to show the world how the 'Confederate' agencies abroad will identify themselves with the assassins, and how they will come to the rescue of these fugitives when their case appears before the British Courts."

Attempt to Conceal Tobacco. Since the conflagration in Richmond, on the third of April, it has been discovered that hundreds of boxes of fine manufactured tobacco were destroyed in secret and out of the way places. One man had a chimney filled up with boxes at his store on Carey street and lost it all. Another man had several hundred boxes stored away between the joists of his store house floor, and was equally unfortunate. A third had nailed up a board sheathing under his stairway, and had about eighty boxes deposited there, but the fire found it out. The tobacco was hid away to prevent its seizure or impoundment by the Confederate Government; but in escaping one agent of destruction, the owners thrust their choice leaf into the maw of an agent equally relentless. The worst is over now, and the tobacco gone, the losers tell the story of their loss on themselves.

An Incident.

A Richmond correspondent relates the following:—"Among the interesting incidents which are being related in connection with the evacuation of this city, is one of which may be worthy of consideration among the medical faculty. A colored girl whose sight had long been defective, became blind about five months ago, and continued so until the terrible explosion of the magazine in this city, which seemed to shake creation. Recovering herself almost immediately from her fright, she exclaimed, 'Mother, I can see.' I have conversed with the person, and have been assured by her that her sight since that memorable morning has been wonderfully improved, though her eyes bear evidence of being defective."

A Good Hit. Theodore Tilton, of the New York Independent, got in a "palpable hit" at Bennett, the other day, in a speech, when he said: "He believed, with Fred. Douglas, that the time had come when the negro must obtain his full rights. The Herald was in favor of the ballot for the black man. He believed that Mr. Bennett did not get all the praise to which he was justly entitled for his two great services to his country; his refusal to take the French mission and his advocacy of the ballot for the negro. [Loud laughter and applause.] He very much doubts that he was growing old, he feared that he was gray with years, for he had lived to see the Herald speak the truth."

Coming into the Old Channel. The Philadelphia papers notice the arrival in that city of a large invoice of Georgia cotton yarn, the first that has reached there since the war began. It was from the Eagle Mills, and was packed in large boxes, owing to the fact that there is not in Major's single yard of haling cloth nor a room of packing paper with which to put the yarn up in its former sized packages. The consignees are now parceling it out according to custom, and wrapping and labelling it as the trade are accustomed to see it. How beggared and impoverished Georgia has made herself by this war is plainly illustrated by this shipment of what was once its leading staple production, cotton yarn.

BROWNING'S EXCELSIOR COFFEE Whilst trying Coffee of all the various brands, Remember—BROWNING'S EXCELSIOR—at the head it stands. True, it is like others that are "SOLD EVERYWHERE." A little stretch, we all do know, good goods will easily bear. (But a stretch like this—"sold everywhere"—is very apt to tear.) Now, I can safely say, without any hesitation, There's none like "BROWNING'S EXCELSIOR" in this enlightened nation. Skilled chemists have not found a Coffee from any store Possessing the same ingredients as "Browning's Excelsior." Nor is there any one, in or out of the Coffee trade, Who knows any article from which Browning's Excelsior's made. I'm told its made from barley, rye, wheat, beans, and peas. Name a thousand other things—but the RIGHT ONE if you please. But with the coffee-men I will not hold contention For the many, many things they say—too numerous to mention. Whilst they're engaged in running round from store to store, To learn the current wholesale price of "Browning's Excelsior." Some who know my Coffee gives perfect satisfaction. Have formed a plan by which they hope to cause a quick reaction. The cases with which, no doubt 'twill be more—To name their Coffee after mine, (BROWNING'S EXCELSIOR.) Some say their's the only brand that will stand a ready test. Now, try a little of them all—see which you like the best. Three years have past away since first I sold a store; Never have I in your paper advertised before; Nor would I now, or ever consent to publish more, If like some used by "everybody," "sold everywhere," in "every store." A trade like this I do not wish; the orders I trade in are not ill; The factory all Jersey's land would take—leave not a foot to till. My trade is not so very large; still I think I have my share; But, should you must rest assured, 'tis NOT "SOLD EVERYWHERE." Manufactured and for Sale by the writer, GEORGE L. BROWNING, No. 20 Market street Camden, N. J.

This Coffee is not composed of poisonous drugs, it contains nothing deleterious; many persons use this Coffee that cannot use the pure coffee; it takes but one and a half ounces to make a quart of good strong coffee, that being just one-half the quantity it takes of Java Coffee, and always less than half the price. RETAIL DEALERS may purchase it in less quantities than ten gross at my prices at the Wholesale Grocers. EPY Orders by mail from Wholesale Dealers promptly attended to. Mar. 3-3m.
