DOWNFALL OF THE REPUBLIC OF MEXICO.

A special letter from New York conveys the exciting but mournful intelligence of the virtual downfall of the Republic of Mexico, and the apparently complete triumph of the French armies. A better destiny was confidently prayed for and even predicted by the friends of the patriotic cause, especially since the rout and wreck of the pro-slavery rebels in the United States. It was hoped that from this result new pluck and higher heart would be given to BENITO JAURES, the President of the Republic, and his followers. And it was an aspiration no less confident that induced the prediction in some of the gravest quarters that Louis Napoleon would take the hint afforded by our victory over usurpation in these States, and quietly withdraw his columns from a theatre in which, no matter what now may be the event, they can only gather ultimate dis-grace and death. But the hope was as vain as the prediction was flattering. The iron of taction had gone too far into the vitals of Mexico; and what the internal strife left unaccomplished, foreign corruption came in to complete. In twenty-eight years the world has witnessed almost as many revolutions in that beautiful but brutalized and beleagured country. Governed by the Spaniards for two hundred and seventy-three years, a rule temporarily lost, and then recovered only to be lest and won, until the condition of the country, even under the rule of the people themselves, became the theatre of periodical confusion and change-Mexico has at last lasped into the hands of another strong European power. As we recur to the Mexican troubles before NAPO-LEON came in with his stimulated yet plausible pretext, it would almost seem impossible for a people so dislocated to be held together by any power, or to be permanently rescued from precisely such a fate as has be-fallen them. Take the following sketch of nine years of internecine convulsions from 1851 to 1860: Arista succeded Hernena in 1853, when Santa Anna was recalled, and for the fifth time placed at the head of the Government! Attempting to perpetuate his rule, he was compelled to fly in 1855. CARRERA succeeded and ruled for twentyseven days, being driven out in his turn. After some weeks of anarchy, ALVAREZ became President, and held the power about two months, when he resigned in favor of COMONFORT. He held the baten from December, 1855, till January, 1858 when the Conservative party got up a revolution, displaced him, and put in ZULOGA. JUAREZ holds from COMONFORT as his successor, and he still claims to be President. Zulo AGA was beaten by General ROBLE, in 1859, when MIRAMON again appeared, became chief of the Conservatives, and gradually making head against JUAREZ till LOUIS Napoleon appeared upon the scene; and Miramon is acting, like other Mexicans, under his patronage and pay.—Phil' a Press.

Lt.

Hayti-Its Present Political Condition. The Island of Hayti is not so large in era as Pennsylvania, and has but one-third as much population as this State, yet it has two revolutions on hand and one foreign war. Half the Island is Spanish and half negro. The negro half is a so-called republic, the President being for life. The white half is a real republic, and a provisional government has been conducting its political affairs for the last few years, during the invasion by Spain. Spain does not like republies, and she tried to "squeleh" the little Spanish re-public, which had so often defied her power, and established its independence. She took advantage of our rebellion to annex, the Spanish half of the Island, but the experiment did not succeed, for the Dominieans drove her out. The attempt under the Spanish O'Donnell ministry, is to be renewed, after protestations from the Narvarez ministry, lately in power, that Spain was no longer a proselyte to the very common idea of extending political empire by foreign conquest. In the midst of this trouble comes a popular revolution, the chief towns rising against General Pimentel, who has been in command of the Dominican troops, and pronouncing in favor of Cabral, whom they name Protector of the Repblic. Cabral's manifesto announces bliberty, equality, fraternity," that he expects to secure unity submit to its choice. The negro half of the island is in revolution also-it almost always is -fluctuating between republicanism and absolute monarchy. Geffrard, who overthrew Faustin the First, and re-proclaimed the republic, fixed himself in power for life. There have been one or two attempts to overthrow him, and on one occasion his life was attempted by assassination, but his daughter was the victim of the bullet sent at his head. A rebellion is now in progress, and the rebels appear to be specially inimical to the white residents, demanding that they shall have none of their usual privileges, and threatening their lives. This revolution is led by a committee of ten chiefs, who have sent a commissioner to Washington to represent their cause. When our Government recenly acknowledged the independence, and accepted a minister Plenipotentiary to represent the Haytien Government, it probably did not expect so soon to have two claimants to that honor. The representative of the Rebel power, it truly represented in their enmity to the whites, may find some difficulty in establishing their claim to be heard. Hayti, which is so torn by civil dissension and war is a most beautiful and fertile island, but its agriculture is in the most primitive state. Its commerce is valued at $10,000,000. Seventy-five years ago its exports were nearly $28,000,000. Sugar is no longer exported. The export of coffee has been reduced to one-third, and of cotton one-tenth of its former export.

That the Ohio copperheads are a frank and fearless band of rascals, so far as the confession of their faith in treason and traitors is concerned, is fully proven by the following resolutions adopted by the Madison County 'Democratic' convention:

1. Secession is a constitutional right, and is embraced in the the Virginia Kentucky resolutions of 1798.

2. Slavery is right, and ought to be perpetuated for the benefit of the white and black races.

3. The rebellion of the South was consticational and just.
