CLEARFIELD, PA., NOV. 29, 1865.

THE CLOSING SCENE.

BY T. BUCHANAN READ The following is pronounced by the "Westmin ster Review" to be unquestionably the finest American poem ever written : Whithin the sober realms of leafless trees,

The russet year inhaled the dreamy air, Like some tanned reaper in his hour of ease, When all the fields are lying brown and bare.

The gray barns looking from their hazy hills, O'er the dun waters winding in the vales, Sent down the air a greeting to the mills, On the dull thunder of alternate flails.

All sights were mellowed, and all sounds subdued. The hills seemed further and the stream sang

As in a dream the distant woodman hewed His wintry log, with many a muffled blow. The embattled forests, erewhile armed with gold Their banners bright with every martial hue, Now stood like some sad, beaten host of old, Withdraw afar in Time's remotest blue.

On sombre wings the vulture tried his flight; The dove scarce heard his sighing mate's com plaint;

And, like a star slow drowning in the light,
The village church vare seemed to pale and faint

The sentinel cock upon the hill-side crew-Crew thrice-and all was stiller than before; Silent, till some replying warder blew His alien horn, and then was heard no more

Where erst the jay, within the elm's tall crest,
Made garrulous trouble round her unfledged young: *
And where the oriole hung her swaying nest,

By every light wind like a censer swung, Where sang the noisy martins of the eaves, The busy swallows circling ever near— Foreboding, as the rustic mind believes, An early harvest and a plenteous year.

Where every bird that waked the vernal feast, Shook the sweet slumber from its wings at morn; To warn the reaper of the rosy lust; All now was sunless, empty and forlorn.

Alone, from out the stubble, piped the quail; And croaked the crow through all the dreary

Alone, the pheasant, drumming in the vale, .

Made echo in the distant cottage loom.

There was no bud, no bloom upon the bowers; The spiders moved their thin shrouds night by night, The thistle-down, the only ghost of flowers. Sailed slowly by-passed noiseless out of sight.

Amid all this—in this most dreary air.

And where the woodbine shed upon the porch
Its crimson leaves, as if the year stood there, Biring the floor with its inverted torch.

Amid all this, the centre of the scene, The white-halfed matron with monotonous trend Plied the swift wheel, and with her joyless mein Sat like a fate, and watched the flying thread.

She had known sorrow. He had walked with her. Oft supped, and broke with her the ashen crust. And in the dead leaves still she heard the stir, Of his thick mantle trailing in the dust.

While yet her cheek was bright with summer bloom. Her country sommoned and she gave her all And twice war bowed to her in sable plume-Re-gave the sword to rust upon the wall .

Re-gave the sword, but not the hand that drew And struck for liberty the dying blow; Nor him who, to his sire and country true, fell mid the ranks of the invading foe.

Long, but not loud, the drooping wheel went on Like the low murmer of a hive at noon; Long but not loud, the memory of the gone Breathed through her lips a sad and tremulous

At last the thread was snapped-her head was Life dropped the distaff thro' her hands serene And loving neighbors smooth'd her careful shroud; While death and winter closed the autumn seene.

The Protestant Episcopal Church South. The Protestant Episcopal Church of the late "Confederate States" met in counsil at Augusta Georgia, on the 13th inst., Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia. Alabama and Mississippi being represented by clerical and lay delegates. All the Bishops were pres-ent except Bishop Davis, of South Carlina whose absence was caused by sickness. A conference committee of the house of Bishops and house of Dequties was appointed, which presented a lengthy report setting forth the reasons which caused their separation from, in a Legislative capacity, the protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, and the adoption of a constitution and code of canons for their own government; that the church so organized was from that time a duly organized branch of the one Catholic and Apostolic church, and may of right so continue to be, or may, through the action of its several diocese councils form any other synodical association; that the causes which formed this independent branch of the church no longer exist. and that the spirit of charity prevailed in the General Convention of the Episcopal Church at Philadelphia has warmly recom-mended itself to the hearts of the Southern Council. Resolutions were adopted declaring it to be consistent, in the judgment of the Council for any diocese to decide for herself whether she shall longer continue in Union with the Council, recommending that wherever the word "Confederate" occurs in the standards of the Church the word "United" be substituted therefor, and that whenever any diocese withdraws from the confederation, such witdrawal shall be accomplished by giving to the bishop of the dioceses remaining in the Council an official notice, signed by the Bishop and Secretary of the diocese witdrawing.

A resolution was adopted changing the name of the church to the "Protestant Episcopal Church of the Associated Dioceses of the United States." Also, one appointing Richmond, Va., as the place of holding the next General Council in November, 1868. Virginia and South Carolina were unanimous in the expression of their determina-tion to stand by their present organization. There is some doubt about the positions of Georgia and Alabama. The Rev. P. Slaughter, of Virginia, was elected President of the House of Deputies, but declined in a graceful speech, in consequence of indisposition. The Rev. Dr. Pinkney, of South Carolina, was then elected.

THE KIDNEYS.

The kidneys are two in number, situated at the upper part of the loin, surrounded by fat, and consisting of three parts, viz: the anterior, the interior, and the exterior.

The anterior absorbs; the interior consists of tissues or veins, which serve as a deposit for the urine, and convey it to the exterior; the exterior is a conductor also, terminating in a single tute. and called the ureter; the ureters are connected with the bladder.

The bladder is composed of various coverings or tissues, divided into parts, viz: the upper, the lower, the nervous, and the mucous. The upper expels, the lower retains. Many have a desire to urinate without the ability, others urinate without the ability to retain. This fre-quently occurs in children.

To cure these affections we must bring into action the muscles which are engaged in their various functions. If they are neglected Gravel and Dropsy may ensue

The reader must also be made aware that, however slight may be, the attack, it is sure to affect his bodily health and mental powers, as our flesh and blood are supported from these

The Gravel.

The Gravel ensues from neglect or the improper treatment of the kidneys. These organs being weak, the water is not expelled from the bladder, but allowed to remain; it becomes feverish and sediment forms. It is from this deposit that the stone is formed and Gravel

TREATMENT.

Helmbold's highly concentrated Extract of Buchu is decidedly one of the best remedies for diseases of the bladder, kidneys. gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatism, and gou-ty affections. Under this head we have arranged Dysuria, or difficulty and pain in passing water; Scanty secretion, or small and frequent discharges of water; Stranguary, or stopping of water; Hæmaturia, or bloody urine; Gout and Rhematism of the kidneys, without any change in quantity, but increase of color or dark water. It was always highly recommended by the late Dr Physick in these affections.

This medicine increases the power of digestion, and excites the absorbents into healthy exercise, by which the watery or calcareous depositions and all unnatural enlargements, as well as pain and inflamation, are reduced, and is

Риплареврига, Ра., Feb. 25, 1857 H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist:

Dear Sir :- I have been a sufferer, for upwards of twenty years, with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which lime I have used various medicinal preparationS, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted with my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I used all kinds of advertised remedies, and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no remedies unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of BUCHU, CUBERS, and JUNIPER BERRIES, it oc-curred to me and my physician as an excellent combination, and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the druggist. I conculuded to try it. I commen-ced its use about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room. From the first bot-tle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and arter using it three weeks, was a-ble to walk out. I felt much like writing you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement targit only be temporary therefore concluded infer and see if it effect a perfect cure knowing then it would greater value to you ned more satisfactory to m-

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months.

I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system. I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections. M. M'CORMICK.
