CLEARFIELD, PA., MARCH 14, 1866. UNION REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR:

Maj. Gen. JOHN W. GEARY, of Cumb. Co.

Our Candidate for Governor. Major General JOHN W. GEARY, the nominee of the Union Republican party for Governor of Pennsylvania, is one of the veteran soldiers of the late war for the preservation of the Union. Gen. Geary had a sufficiently honorable and glorious record, to satisfy the aspirations of any man, without becoming Governor of this great Commonwealth; and yet this will fittingly crown his life of public usefulness and renown, and fully attest the pride the old Keystone State feels in her gallant and heroic sons. Gen. G. commanded a Pennsylvania regiment in the war with Mexico, through which conflict he served with distinction. He was appointed Governor of Kansas by President Buchanan, after a number of predecessors, all of whom failed most lamentably, and succeeded by his adroit management in calming the troubled elements and establishing law and order where all had been misrule and disorder. He was, indeed, the first Governor of Kansas who seemed to be thoroughly master of the situation, and the ability he displayed in that office made him a man of mark in the country. The breaking out of the rebellion found Gen. Geary in retirement, but his love for the Union and his soldierly instincts raised a regiment of volunteers, mainly in Philadelphia, and these he led in many campaigns with such distinguished ability as to make his name once more conspicuous, so that he rapidly advanced to the command | applause : of a brigade, and finally of the famous White Star division of the West. He commenced operations in the Shenandoah Valley, but was subsequently sent with his regi-

Governor of the city; but when the army marched forward to its brilliant campaign in the Carolinas, Geary was again with it.

With such a record he comes before the people of Pennsylvania, nominated for Governor by the party that fought for the U-been a life-long Democrat, the war separated him from his ancient partisan affiliations, and in 1864 he voted for Lincoln and Johnson; and since then has steadfastly adhered

· The Democratic Nominee. The so-called Democratic State Convention, which assembled at Harrisburg on March 5th, nominated Hon. HEISTER CLY-MER, of Berks, for Governor of Pennsylvania. Mr. Clymer was originally a Whig, but as the political atmosphere of Berks county was adverse to his political aspirations, he forsook his party and took refuge in the Democratic ranks, and since then has generally advocated the most extreme measures of the political organization whose cause he espoused. Nine years ago last fall he was elected to the State Senate, and has since been twice re-elected-his term expiring with the present session. He is a leading man in his party, and all through the war his principles and sympathies were strongly on the side of the rebels. He was persistently and radically against every measure that promised to put down the rebellion and preserve the Union. This assertion is not mere inference. Mr. Clymer has been in public life during the whole course of our recent war, and he has left a record behind him, revealing facts that cannot be effaced or explained away. There is no cheat in his nomination. The events are too fresh in the memory of every intelligent Pennsylvanian; and the Democratic State Convention has certainly evinced a commendable degree of frankness in nominating Mr. Clymer under such circumstances.

Worthy of Remembrance. In 1864 the Democracy tried a rebel platform with a Union soldier as a candidate for President, with the hope of cheating the unwary into their support, but they failed most ignominiously. Now, the same leaders, at Harrisburg, made a Union platform (in its wording) and nominated a notorious sympathiser with the rebels as their candidate for Governor, evidently to cheat both

1. Resolved. That the Convention, representing the Union loving and loyal people of Pennsylva-nia, who never despaired of the Republic, and who poured out millions of treasure and devoted yet more precious blood for the rescue of the country from the felonious attacks of a wicked ment to reinforce the western army before every battle-field, and suffered in every Southern and causeless rebellion-whose sons fought on the great conflict by which Grant relieved prison pen of torture and starvation—whose no-Chattanooga. His first battle in the west they tell under the folds of the national banner—they tell under the folds of the national banner—they tell under the folds of the national banner was that of Lookout Mountain. But after that his record is that of Sherman's army, here renew the pledges of unfaltering devotion to the Federal Union, and repeat their determined purpose that it shall be preserved with which he marched and fought to the close of the war. When Sharman took of the present is to gather the legitimate fruits of close of the war. When Sherman took the war, in order that our Constitution may come Savannah he made Gen. Geary Military out of the rebellion purified our institutions strengthened, and our national like prolonged.

3. Resolved, That failure in these grave duties would be scarcely less criminal than would have been an acquiesence in secession and in the trea-sonable machinations of the conspirators, and would be an insult to every soldier who took up arms to save the country.

4. Resolved, That filled with admiration at the patriotic devotion and fearless courage with which Andrew Johnson resisted and denounced the efnion from first to last. Though he had forts of the rebels to overthrow the National Government, Pennsylvania rejoiced to express her entire confidence in his character and principles, and appreciation of his noble conduct by bestowing her suffrage upon him for the second position in honor and dignity in the country; his hold and outspoken denanciations of the crime of treason, his firm demands for the punishment of the guilty offenders, and his expressions of thorough sympathy with the friends of the Union, secured for him the warmest attachment of her people who, remembering his great services and sacrifices while traitors and their sympathizers alike denounced his patriotic action, appeal to him to stand firmly by the side and to repose upon the support of the loyal masses, whose votes formed the foundation of his promotion, and who pledged to him that unswerving support in all measures by which treason shall be stigmatized—loy-alty recognized—and the freedom, stability and unity of the nation secured. 5. Resolved, That the work of restoring the late insurrectionary States to their proper relations to the Union, necessarily devolves upon the law making power, and that, until such action shall be taken, no State, lately in insurrection, is entitled to representation in either branch of Congress; that, as preliminary to such action, it is the right of Congress to investigate for itself the condition of the legislation of those States. to inquire respecting their loyalty, and to prescribe the terms of restoration; and that to deny this necessary Constitutional power is to deny and imperil one of the dearest rights belonging to our representative form of government; and that we cordially approve of the action of the Union representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania on this subject.

6. Resolved That no man who has voluntarily engaged in the late rebellion, or has held office under the rebel organization, should be allowed to sit in the Congress of the Union; and that the law-known as the test oath-should not be repealed, but should be enforced against all claimants for seats in Congress. 7. Resolved, That the national faith is sacredly pledged to the payment of the national debt incurred in the war to save the country and to suppress rebellion, and that the people will not suf-fer this faith to be violated or impaired, but all debts incurred to support the rebellion were unlawful, void and of no obligation-shall never be assumed by the United States, nor shall any State be permitted to pay any evidences of so vile and wicked engagements.

S. Resolved, That the public faith is not less solemnly pledged to the protection, in the enjoyment of all their natural rights—of their persons, property and domestic relations-of the colored population who have been emancipated by the fiat of the people, and under the providence of God; and who deserved liberty by their kindness and fidelity to our soldiers in prison, or wounded, or seeking escape from their tormentors, and by their courage in bearing arms for and fighting the battles of the Union. Even as man is more precious than money in every just man is more prectous than money in every just account, so the honor of the nation is more sacredly engaged to these humble but never treach erous friends, than to those who hold its bonds stamped with the broad seal of the United States, that their freedom shall not be mockery nor their just hopes of security, education and elevation in ctual and moral improvement disappointed -and this faith must be kept inviolate. useful and productive industry is the only wise of slavery over free territory, and his faithful our country, assist to pay our taxes, nor are concerned to maintain our Government or confirm our national power or authority which during the recent life struggle, they insidiously and maliciously strove to subvert.

10 Resolved. That the administration of the public affairs of Pennsylvania by Governor An drew G. Curtin, during the years of trial, toil, responsibility and anxiety which have recently passed over us, had been marked by such patriote devotion, unyielding courage, constant watchfulness, unwearied labor and shining ability, as have made his name illustrious in the annals of this Commonwealth, and given him a place in the affections and memory of the people which cannot be lost; his enviable title of "the soldier's friend" is in itself expressive of the highest eu-logiums that could be pronounced on any public officer, and when his term of honorable, useful and most beneficial service shall close, he shall membrance and the plaudits of a grateful people shall cluster around his person, and make his name memorable.

11. Resolved, That this Convention congratulate the people of the State on the passage of a law relieving the real estate of the Commonwealth from taxation for State purposes, and ten-der to the members of the General Assembly their thanks for the considerate attention to re lieve the popular burdens, while they confidently refer to it as a proof of the superior capacity of the Union organization for the beneficial cor duct of public affairs, that after a long and exwar, the debt of Pennsylvania is reduced, and the taxes, imposed in a time of peace by their political opponents, are diminished by the judicious management of executive officers and a General Assembly chosen by the Union

12. Resolved, That the loyal people of Pennsylvania, having steadily manifested, through the war with the rebellion, their warm regard for the rights of the gallant defenders of the Union, and never having voted to refuse them the right of suffrage when in the camp and on the field—a right inestimable to them and formidable to traitors and their sympatizers only-we take pleasure in expressing, not now for the first time, their gratitude for their gallantry and devotion, and declaring again a long settled purpose to ap-propriate the means and resources of the Government to the comfort, consolation and support of the disabled survivors, or the widows and or phans of those who fell in the conflict

13. Resolved, That the services, labors, consummate ability and unyielding faith in the destiny of the country manifested by the Hon Edwin M. Stanton as the head of the War Department during the rebellion have been of mestimable value to the country, and entitle him to the warmest commendation of the people

14. Resolved, That Congress should not fail to make an equitable adjustment of bounties and allowances to the brave men who were engaged in the military service of the country; and that we heartily approve of the liberal appropriation now pending in the Legislature of Pennsylvania for the care and education of the orphan children of the soldiers who gave their lives for the salvation of the Republic.

15. Resolved, That in this crisis of public affairs, full of grateful recollections of his marvel ous and memorable services on the field of battle, we turn to the example and unfaltering and uncom-promising loyalty of Lieut General Grant, with a confidence not the less significant and unshaken, because at no period of our great struggle has his proud name been associated with a doubtful patriotism, or used for sinister purposes by the enemies of our common country.

16. Resolved, That any attempt by foreign nations to establish a monarchical government on this Continent, is evidence of a design to destroy the Republic. Regard for our own safety and for the future security of the Republic, demands that no such attempt should be permitted to succeed.

17. Resolved, That the Honorable Edgar Cowan, Senator from Pennsylvania, by his course in the Senate of the United States, has disappointed the hopes and has forfeited the confidence of those to whom he owes his place; and that he is hereby most earnestly requested to resign.
18. Resolved, That the State Central Commit tee be constituted by the appointment of a Chairman by the President of this Convention, in consultation with the Union candidate for Governor, and that the remainder of the Committee shall consist of one member from each county in the State, except that the city of Philadelphia shall have eight members, and the counties of Lances. ter, Borks, Dauphin and Allegheny each two members, to be named by the representative delegates from said counties in this Convention; and hat the Association of Loyal Pennsylvanians resident at Washington shall also be allowed one member, to be appointed by the delegates present.

Hon John Cessna, of Bedford, moved hat they be adopted by acclamation. Mr. J. M. Kirkpatrick, of Allegheny, objected, and desired that the resolutions be read over separately and acted upon.

Mr. M'Clure moved that all the resolutions excepting the one relating to President Johnson, and the last one in regard to the selection of the State Central Committee, be adopted unanimously. This gave rise to a spirited discussion, which was participated in by Messrs. Hall, M'Clure, Kirkpatrick, Cessna and others, and it was finally decided that they be acted on separately.

resolutions were then separately read and unanimously agreed to.

The fourth resolution being read, Mr. Hall moved its adoption, when Mr. Carnahan offered a substitute, which, after some discussion, he withdrew. The original resolution was then adopted by a vote of 109 yeas, to 21 nays.

The remaining resolutions, except the last one, were then unanimously adopted. Mr. M'Clure now offered a substitute for the last resolution, but after some discussion withdrew the same, whereupon the resolution of the Committee was adopted.

On motion of O. J. Dickey, of Lancaster the Convention then proceeded to the election of a candidate for Governor.

On the first ballot General John W. Geary, of Cumberland, had 82 votes; Hon. Winthrop W. Ketchum, of Luzerne, had 29 votes; Hon J. K. Moorhead, of Allegheny, had 19 votes, and General Harry White, of Indiana, had 3 votes.

Sixty-seven votes being necessary to a choice, Gen. John W. Geary, of Cumberland county, was declared the nominee amid great applause. On montion of Hon. George Connell, of Philadelphia, the nomination was made unanimous. Hon. Thomas E. Cochran, of York, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That this Convention having completed its work by the nomination of Maj. Gen. John W. Geary for the office of Governor, cordially and confidently recommend him to the people of the State for theirs uffrages. His long devotion to the welfare and honor of his native State-his unqualified support of the principle of protection to American industry-his early espou-9 Resolved. feated, from her borders-his pure integrity and high personal character commend him for Chief Magistrate of this Commonwealth to all who honor sound principle, generous feeling and heroic conduct, and cherish grateful emotions toward those who exposed their lives for their country and to maintain the honor of its flag.

Mr. Hall, of Blair county, presented the following dispatch from Gen. Joseph Hooker, endorsing General Geary, which was read amid loud applause:

NEW YORK, March 7, 1866.-To Hon. John W. Forney, Harrisburg, Pa: My acquaintance with General Geary is of long standing. I knew him in California, in Mexico and during the rebellion. It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony to his most excellent character as a military leader and as an honorable man. I know of no officer who has performed his whole duty with more fidelity than General Geary.

JOSEPH HOOKER, Maj. Gen. On motion of Mr. R. P. King, of Philadelphia, a committee of three was appointed to request the candidates for nomination to address the convention, whereupon Messrs, Moorhead, Ketchum and White came forward and enthusiastically endorsed the nomination just made.

Gen. Geary, the nominee, address the Convention as follows:

Mr. President, gentlemen of the Convention and fellow citizens, I meet you under circumstances that fill my heart with the deepest emotion and the profoundest awe, and I know of no language by which I can adequately express to you the feelings which this signal and most emphatic manifestation of your favor and confidence has impressed me. And indeed I think I would be wanting the great characteristics of our nature if I were not deeply affected.

If a stranger had entered this city to-day, he would scarcely have failed to be impressed by the enthusiasm and earnestness with which the deliberations of this Convention have been characterized. The enliving strains of music, the tumultuous cheers of the crowd, the exultant roars of artillery, and the general en husiasm which has everywhere pervaded the people around us, may well be taken as indicative of the general endorsement which the people of the State at large will accord to your action. And among your own assemblage, as well as in the streets of this city, you may readily recognize many of the men who have done battle for the country and her institutions amid the curling smoke of well con-tested fields. Under all these circumstances, you, gentlemen of the Convention, induced, no doubt, by considerations which you considered satisfactory, have chosen me as the standard-bearer of the great Union National Republican party in the coming contest for Governor of Pennsylvania. -[Great applause.] And you have thus selected me from among the many worthy, honorable, patriotic and intelligent gentlemen who were my competitors for the nomination-gentlemen whose patriotism and intelligence no one can doubt. I feel, therefore, that you have imposed upon me a debt of gratitude which long years-aye, a lifetime-devoted to the public service and the interest and honor of Pennsylvania can never cancel. I have to ask, in all humility, that I may be made fully sensible of the great responsibilities which devolve upon me, and that I may be trengthened with sincere, determined purposes to advance all the true principles of humanity and the best interests of the country in every worthy, honorable and patriotic enterprise. Profoundly sensible of, and grateful for so distinguished an evidence of your esteem and confidence, with a firm and unwavering determintation to sustain the great principles of equal justice which underlie our republican institutions, with a hearty endorsement of the principles embodied in the platform, I accept it, not in the belief that in my own person I possessany intrinsic merit, or have rendered any services to my country which entitled me to receive the nomination, but I accept it as a matter due to 350,00 · soldiers of Pennsylvania, who have done battle for their country and have rendered services whose value can never be estimated, and to whom we are indebted for a home and a country. On their account, as one selected by them to accept and receive this matter Accordingly the first, second and third at your hands, and viewing it as a compliment to them, I thank you most heartily, And I assure you, my fellow citizens and gentlemen of the Convention, that as far as I possess the ability, and with the aid of the powerful and eloquent Union men of Pennsylvania, the coming grand political battle shall be fairly and honorably conducted to its legitimate termination, and still grander victory.

I beg to again return you, fellow citizens and gentlemen of the Convention, my unfeigned thanks for the honor you have conferred upon me.
