Baftsman's Journal.

CLEARFIELD, PA., JULY 31, 1867.

THE OLD COUPLE.

The old man sits with folded arms, In his easy chair to-day; His happy wife, with crossed palms, Hums snatches from the olden psalms, In a cheertul kind of way.

'Tis sweet to see this aged pair, Who have loved so long and well, Each other's joys so fondly share, And every little grief and care Alike each bosom swell.

'Tis fifty years since they were wed, Just fifty years to-day; They have outlived the early dead, But age has bowed each silvery head-They soon will pass away.

Well may their dim and faded eyes O'erflow with pearly tears, As visions of the past arise, And memory on its mission flies Back to those early years.

Again they tread the village green, Where in infancy they played, O'erjoyed at the familiar scene, Until a shadow comes between, And happy visions fade.

Then comes a gleam of later years, Of friends so tried and true, Who sympathized in all their fears, And wiped away their bitter tears, And made their sorrows few.

"Where are they now," the old man cries "The cherished friends of yore?" Pointing to the arching skies, The good wife; tearfully replies, "They are all gone before."

" And soon our days will ended be, We've nerely reached the shore; We've sailed upon life's stormy sea For nearly four-score years and three, Our journey's almost o'er."

A young gentleman named Harry Turn, recently married his cousin of the same name. When interrogated as to why he did so, he replied that it had always been a maxim of his that "one good turn deserves another," and he had acted accordingly.

Patrick, in writing his autobiography, says: "I ran away from my father at an early period of my life because I discovered that he was only my uncle."

"O no, you belong to the other Jewish sect you are very fair, you see !"

Why is a man ascending Vesuvius like an Irishman trying to kiss a pretty girl? Because he wants to get at the crater's mouth.
