CLEARFIELD, PA. APRIL 22, 1868.

SPARKING SUNDAY NIGHT.

Sitting in a corner, On a Sunday eve, With a taper finger, Resting on your sleeve; Starlight eyes are casting On your face their light, Bless me, ain't it pleasant, Sparking Sunday night, How your heart is thumping 'Gainst your Sunday vest, How wickedly it's working On this day of rest. Hours seem but minutes As they take their flight, Oh, bless me ain't it pleasant Sparking Sunday night. Dad and mam are sleeping On their peaceful bed, Dreaming of the things The folks at meeting said: "Love ye one another," Ministers recite, Bless me, don't we do it, Sparking Sunday night. One arm with gentle pressure Lingers round her waist, You squeeze her little hand, Her pouting lips you taste, She freely slaps your face, But more in love than spite, Oh, thunder, ain't it pleasant, Sparking Sunday night. But hark, the clock is striking, 'Tis two o'clock I snum, As sure as I'm a sinner The time to go has come. You ask in spiteful accents If that old clock is right, And wonder if it ever Sparked on Sunday night. One, two, three, sweet kisses, Four, five, six, you hook, But thinking that you rob her You give back those you took; Then as towards home you hurry, From the fair one's sight, Oh, don't you wish that each day Was only Sunday night.

The story is told of a temperance man, being at a wedding was asked to drink the bride's health in a glass of wine which was offered him. He refused to partake of the intoxicating liquid, and said when he drank her health, it would be in that which resembled her most in purity, and he knew nothing better than water—pure water. He then drank to her health in a glass of God's beverage—sparkling water. The ladies assembled on the occasion immediately stepped forward, and making a respectful curtsey, thanked him for the beautiful compliment he had just paid the fair bride, when it was resolved that all intoxicating drinks be banished from the room.

CHARACTER.—We may judge a man's character by what he loves—what pleases him. If a person manifests delight in low, sordid objects, the vulgar song and debasing language, in the misfortunes of his fellows or cruelty to animals we may at once determine the complexion of his character. On the contrary, if he loves purity, modesty, truth—if virtuous pursuits engage his heart and draw out his affections—we are satisfied that he is an upright man.

The following is recommended as a recipe for making Bologna sausage: Take an ear of skin and stuff it with ground meat; season it with Scotch snuff and perstimon oil; lay it on a hog pen to dry, and then hang it up by the tail in a grocery for three months for the flies to give it the trade mark, then it is ready for use.

A third of the Welsh men and women are people of mark—they cannot write their names. The income of Louis Napoleon is $14,240 per day. Francis Joseph has $10,950 per day. Brigham Young prohibits the use of tea, coffee, whisky and tobacco among his followers.
