CLEARFIELD, PA., JUNE 17, 1868.

A LITTLE BOY'S DREAM

Last night, when I was in bed— Such fun it seemed to me— I dreamed that I was grandpapa, And grandpapa was me.

I thought I wore a powdered wig, And took without a single sneeze, A double pinch of snuff.

But he was such a tiny boy, And dressed in baby clothes, And I tho't I smacked his face because He wouldn't blow his nose.

And I went walking up the street, And he ran by my side; But goodness, how he cried!

After tea I washed his face, And when his prayers were said I blew the candle out, and left Poor grandpapa in bed.

A medical friend in a certain city has a very lazy horse. A gentleman having borrowed him one day determined to try his speed, and in driving past the doctor's office developed a gait that was surprising to Billy, the office boy, who ran in exclaiming, excitedly:

"Doctor, your horse is some on a race!" "Yes, Billy, but he's more on a funeral!"

"The arrangements of nature are admirable!" exclaimed a young lassie, during the late high wind. "The same wind which disarranges our crinoline, blows dust in the eyes of the wicked young men who would take advantage of our confusion." Philosophical young lady, that!

"Sir, will you please tell me where the noon-day prayer meeting is held," asked a lady of a lawyer in Nassau street, New York, the other day. The lawyer, looking every way for escape, at last stammered out, "Madam, you—you had better try a member of some other profession."

The Rev. Mr. Punshon being requested to address the Methodist Conference at one of their recent sittings, said: "Speech is silver, silence is golden, says the proverb. I do not happen to have any small change about me this morning. Will you accept the gold?"

A lady asked a noted doctor if he did not think the small pox was the ladies were had a tendency to produce congestion of the brain. "O, no," replied he, "ladies who have brains do not wear them."

An exchange paper tells of a hard-drinking man who was bitten by a mad dog. The man survived, but the dog was seized with delirium tremens a few hours after and committed suicide by drowning.

As strength or availability is the only test of evidence of fitness which the Democrats require, we would suggest Dr. Winslow, of Massachusetts, and Mike M'Cool, of Missouri, as a strong ticket.

A photographer in one of the country towns in Massachusetts was recently visited by a young woman, who asked: "How long does it take to get a photograph after you leave your measure?"

An exchange, which has lately exchanged presses, says: "We have sold one of our presses to go to India, where it will continue to print for the benefit of the heathen."

Entering upon an argument with a metaphysician is like getting into an omnibus—you know where you start from, but it is impossible to tell where it will carry you.

A wag remarks that he has seen a couple of sisters who had to be told everything together, for they looked so much alike that they could not be told apart.
