

For the Farmer.

ELDERBERRY WINE.—To make this wine the berries should be gathered when perfectly dry, and separated from the stems; wash fine, add two gallons boiling water to one of pumace, and let it stand until it begins to ferment. After pressing out the juice, add three pounds of sugar to each gallon; fill them full, and keep them full, as it tends to fermentation; then cork up air tight, or bottle off. It will fit for use in four or six months, but will improve with age. If the quantity to be made is small, it may be pressed in a coarse strainer, or a piece of coarse cotton or flannel, or what is better, a strong sack with holes thickly bored through it, and put under a hand cider mill or cheese press.

Dr. Anderson says he has found by practical analysis, in one instance, that the last cup of milk drawn from the cow's udder contained sixteen times as much cream as the first one. The separation of cream from milk takes place, in part, in the udder of the cow, particularly if the cow is suffered to stand at rest for some time previous to milking. If there are people who doubt that there is a difference in richness of milk first drawn from cows and that of the last drawn, their doubts will be speedily removed by milking half a dozen cows and setting the first half drawn from each cow separate from the latter.

Let the bats alone. They are useful, very useful in destroying insects that do great injury. Moles do more good than harm by eating worms, slugs, cockchafers, and other pests of the farm. Even the skunk, if he would keep away from the house, has a good work to do, and does it well.

It is reported that a bee raiser in Windham, Me., during two months and a half of 1867, obtained 448 pounds of honey from two swarms of bees. The youngest swarm made 35 pounds in three weeks during September, which is considered a bountiful yield for the season.

Every one who has used them knows that cut nails are brittle, and easily broken, some brands more than others; but when heated to a red heat and then cooled slowly, become soft, and will generally clinch as well as wrought nails.

All lands on which clover or the grasses are grown, must have lime in them naturally, or that mineral must be artificially supplied, it matters not whether it is supplied in the form of stone lime, oyster lime or marl.

When composts are made to be used on sandy soils, clays should be mixed through them; for it will not only contain the ammonia of the compost heap, but will improve the sandy soil when applied to it.

The only animal (if it is an animal) which will eat the Colorado potato-bug and not get sick, is the striped snake.

7TH ANNUAL EXHIBITION

OF THE CLEARFIELD COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Will be held on the Fair Grounds, in the Borough of Clearfield, Pa., on Friday, the 13th, 14th, 15th & 16th days of October, 1868.

RULES AND REGULATIONS. Family Tickets, $1.00; Single Admission Tickets, 25c; Children under 10 years old, when accompanied by their parents or guardians, free.

Checks will be given at the door to persons desiring to pass out during exhibitions, but will not be valid for admission to any other exhibition—each half day counting an exhibition.

Every person wishing to be enrolled as a member of the Society, must do so before the first day of the fair, and on the payment of one dollar to the Treasurer shall receive a certificate of membership, containing the name of the applicant and endorsed by the Secretary.

Every person becoming a member as above stated, on the expiration of his certificate, receive a ticket which will admit him free during the fair. Any person complying with the above regulations, and shall remain a member of the Society, and shall annually receive from the Secretary a free family ticket, which will be valid for the fair, and all animals and articles, except horses for pasture, and for the trotting prize, may be shown on the premises as early as Wednesday, the 1st of Oct. P. M., and all persons entering animals and articles for exhibition must procure cards from the Secretary with the name of the exhibitor, and the name of the animal, previous to placing said animals on the ground. Hay and straw will be furnished gratis for all animals entering for premiums, and grain will be furnished as a horse for the trot or drive to purchase.

No horse shall be entered or allowed a premium unless he is free from disease. Horses will be received until Wednesday noon, but must be exhibited previously. All persons who intend to exhibit horses, cattle, sheep, or swine, or who intend to offer stock or any other article for sale should notify the Secretary of such intention on or before the 1st of October, and have with him a list and full description of the same.

The number and class, and the number in the class, with the name of the article will appear on the card attached; but the name of the exhibitor will not appear.

Premiums and diplomas will be paid on and after the first Monday after the fair, and all money premiums unclaimed will be considered as the property of the Society, and the officers of the Society and members of the Committee of Arrangements must wear a badge designating their office, and will be held responsible for the safe keeping of the property, and will be liable for the loss of the same.

The trotting course is level, well graded, and one and a half mile in circuit. Simple arrangements will be made for the convenience of visitors.

INSTRUCTIONS TO JUDGES—No animal to receive an award in more than one class.

Judges are expressly required not to award premiums to defective animals. No premiums are to be awarded to bulls, cows, or heifers, which shall appear to have been fattened, only in the case of cattle, the object of the Society being to breed superior animals of this description for breeding.

For CATTLE—The judges on fat cattle will give particular attention to the condition of the animal, and will take measures to give the superficies of each, and publish the result with their reports. It will be the duty of the judges to see that the animals are well fed, and that the quality of the feed is good, and that the manner and cost of feeding, as required by the regulations of the premium list.

It is the duty of the exhibitor, and he may send several animals in one class, premiums will be awarded in accordance to the merits of the animal.

The exhibitor is to be responsible for the safety of his property, and for any loss or damage that may occur, the Society desires exhibitors to give personal attention to the condition of their animals at the close of the fair to attend to their removal, as the Society cannot take further care of them.

It is the duty of the exhibitor to see that the animals are well fed, and that the quality of the feed is good, and that the manner and cost of feeding, as required by the regulations of the premium list.
