School Directors' Duties .- The last number of the Pennsylvania School Journal has the following sensible remarks on the importance of school directors visiting schools: "The duty of visiting the schools is considered one of the most important duties that directors have to discharge in the administration of the system. The law makes the duty imperative, and no person should accept the office of school director unless he is willing to perform it. Where well done, its effect is always to make schools more efficient. It encourages good teachers and exposes bad ones. It stimulates pupils in their studies. It enables directors to ascertain the exact condition of the schools, school houses and school grounds.
