LAY REPRESENTATION .- At a meeting of lay delegates of the Methodis Episconal Church, held in New York on Friday, Dr. Abel Stevens said he felt satisfied that ninetenths of the business done in the Charch could be properly done by the laymen. A great increase of strength would be developed by co-operation between the two branches. The power that would thus be brought into active exercise is simply immense. It would give an impulse and force to the influence of the Church greater than any one

A fearful drouth prevails in the interior of Australia. The line of road from Wagga Wagga to Hay is said by a late traveler to he comparable to nothing but the Valley of the Shadow of Death. This is also true of towns and villages. No town will ever prosper and become a place of any note, so long as its citi-2-us parcodize the mochanics and merchants of distant places, to the detriment of home manufacturers and dealers. Purchasing abroad not only impoverishes your own mechanics and business men, but also drains Four town of the money that is needed for teine s purposes at home. A case in point : For several years past, forefgn company's have been engaged in putting up lightning rols in this county. Most of the money paid for these rods is carried away, to the detriment of the business community generally. This should not be; especially when the same lightning rods, or better ones, can Bigler, of Clearfield, would inform the publie that they are agents for the "Star" lightning rods, either galvanized or copper flanged, as well as the Cable and other rods, which they are prepared to put up at prices ence to going abroad for the articles that you desire to purchase.
