The Currant.

Compared with its value and the number of uses to which it is applied, the curtant is a neglected fruit. "The first correct record we have of the current as a fruit under cultivation, was A. D. 1600; but once introduced it increased rapidly in favor, and growing so readily from cuttings or shoots, it was found in the garden of every stranger."

Every owner of a lot plants a few currant bushes, and as a rule every owner of a lot neglects their cultivation. Usually they are given a position as close to the side of a fence as possible, and if they grow and produce fruit in abundance, all very well; if they do not fruit abundantly, the owner remarks that currants don't seem to do in my

No other fruit growing plant in the whole list, fruits so well or endures so many years under complete neglect as the current; and we believe no other fruit has in itself valuable qualities for so many uses as the current. It thrives in any soil, shade or sunshine, and if planted in varied exposures may be had in eating over two months. As a dessert fruit it is cooling and grateful to the stomach, ornamental and attractive on the table, valuable for its medicinal qualities-being used to allay thirst in febrile complaints, to lessen an increased secretion of bile, to correct a putrid and scorbutic state of the fluids, to strengthen the stomach and excite appetite. It is used for tarts and pies when green and can be kept fresh for years in bottles. Ripe, it is not only used as deserts but is made into jellies and wines, and can be distilled into brandy.

As a crop for market, planted four by four feet, the currant yields from one hun dred and fifty to two hundred bushels to the acre; and if sold in market, usually brings about two dollars a bushel. Made into wine and the product sold at two dollars a gallon, it has returned over $600 to the acre. - Ohio Farmer.

Plaster and Salt for Clever.

A correspondent of the Germantown Telegraph says he has full faith in plaster and salt as an application to clover, either for hay, seed, or pasture; and gives the result of his experiments as follows:

This last year I tried an experiment on a FUL!

The Photograph Marriage Certificate is truly a thing of rare beauty. It consists of a beautiful thing of rare beauty. It consists of a beautiful engraving, with a place on the left to insert the photograph of the Husband, and a place on the right to insert the photograph of the Wife; accompanied with passages of Scripture adopted to each to the lar per acre; to the second I applied in the same manner, two bushels of common ground salt, at the cost of $2,50 per acre; to the third land I applied, in the same manner, a mixture of salt and plaster, (one bushel of each) at a cost of $1,75 per acre, and so on all over the field. Throughout the whole spring any novice would have picked out every third land as the best; next the first one to which the plaster was applied. Having long been an advocate of plaster for clo ver, I was very careful to note every circumstance, however trifling, which could in any way effect the experiment, and am now very thankful for this case, as it enables me to communicate several important results which otherwise I could not have accounted for. The times of sowing the substances, on the whole field, extended over two and a half weeks; a short time elapsed between each patch of three lands. The result is that I find the same amount of plaster does best when the clover is two or three inches high, and when it is sown on the leaves when they are wet with dew. The salt did best when a warm rain fell just after it was sown. The action of the mixture is plain; we apply in one stimulant the four ingredients most needed by clover, viz: sulphuric acid, lime, chlorine and soda.

FRUIT TREES .- The following respecting fruit trees will be found interesting

1. When fruit trees occupy the ground nothing else should excet very short grass. 2. Fruit ulness and growth of tree cannot be expected the same year.

3. There is no plum that the circulio will not take though any kind may sometimes escape for one year in one place.

4. Peach borers will not do much damage when stiff clay is heaped up around the tree a foot high.

5. Pear blight still puzzles the greatest men. The best remedy known is to plant two for every one that dies.

6. If you don't know how to prune, don't hire a man from the other side of the sea who knows less than you.

7. Don't cut off a big lower limb unless you are a renter, and don't care what becomes of the tree when your time is out.

8. A tree with limbs coming out near the ground is worth two trees trimmed up five feet, and worth ten trees trimmed up ten feet, and so on till they are not worth anything.

9. Trim down, not up.

10. Shorten in, not lengthen up. 11. If you had your arm cut off, you would feel it to your heart-a tree will not feel, but rot to the heart. 12. When anybody tells you of a gardner that understands all about horticulture and agriculture, and that he can be hired, don't believe a word of it, for there are no such to be hired. Such a man can make more than you can afford to give him, and if he has sense enough to understand the busi-
