

For the Farmer.

Green Crops for Cows and Horses.

The farmer whose pastures are so luxuriant that his cattle and horses find abundant feed from May to November, in the open fields, may possibly dispense with green crops for fodder, but not so with the majority. During the hot days of summer the grass dries up, and their beasts suffer for nutritious food, unless they have provided a supply of sowed corn, oats, millet or lucerne, which can be cut daily and fed to them in the stables. Milch cows which are fed abundantly with this food will most invariably not their owners one-third more money during the season than they would if forced to depend on pasture alone; and horses, too, when similarly fed, will grow fat and sleek in a surprisingly short space of time. Last summer we took a large horse that had been running idly in pasture, and losing flesh daily—stabled and fed him with green sweet corn, and in two or three weeks he became "as fat as butter," and might have been sold for $100 more than he would have brought when taken from the pasture. We have generally sown sugar corn in drills for a soiling crop; it makes excellent feed, and although it yields less in quantity, it is more nutritious than common white or yellow corn fodder. The southern white corn, however, is greatly prized as a green crop by many farmers, and is used almost exclusively in many parts of the State for that purpose. Many of our readers report very favorably in regard to millet; a few have tried lucerne, and like it; others use oats and Canada peas mixed, for soiling cattle. All grow well on proper soil, and we again remind our readers that it is wise to sow at least one of these crops for summer fodder.—Maine Farmer.

TO PREPARE GRAPES FOR WINTER.—Notice the stem of the grape and you will find that it is dried and withered near the branch; cut in dry weather as near the branch as possible; remove all imperfect fruit, and pack them in boxes; with layers of the nicest wadding between them, not suffering the fruit to touch; paper should be placed between the grapes and the wadding, as the cotton often sticks to the grapes and is troublesome to pick off. Keep the grapes in a cool place to preserve the fruit from the unpleasant flavor of the cotton. Should the season be backward and the stem still green, cut the grape as near the branch as possible, and dip the end of the stem into melted sealing wax immediately. Grapes preserve beautifully by pursuing this course, most of the winter.

TO SWEETEN NEW WOODEN WARE.—A new churn, tub, keg, bucket, or other wooden vessel will generally communicate a disagreeable taste to anything that is put into it. To prevent this inconvenience, first scald the vessel with boiling water, letting the water remain in it until cold, then dissolve some pearl-ash of soda in lukewarm water, adding lime to it, and wash the vessel with this solution. Afterwards scald it well with plain hot water, and rinse it with cold water before you use it. The reason for this is the ready combination of resinous matters with alkalines to form compounds soluble in water. The resinous substance of wood, while new, causes a disagreeable taste and odor in substances kept in wooden vessels.

SAUSAGE.—Housekeepers will do well to preserve the following recipe for sausages; To every twelve pounds of meat take three tablespoonfuls of salt, not much heaped, three tablespoonfuls of black pepper, eight tablespoonfuls of sage, and a teaspoonful of red pepper. Good sausage is splendid with buckwheat cakes in winter, and I got this recipe from a friend whose sausage is always good as long as it lasts.—Exchange.

QUINCE AND APPLE JELLY.—Cut small and core an equal weight of tart apples and quinces. Put the quinces in a preserving kettle, with water to cover them, and boil till soft; add the apples, still keeping water to cover them, and boil till the whole is nearly a pulp. Put the whole into a jelly-bag, and strain without pressing. To each quart of juice add two pounds of lump sugar. Boil together one hour.

A horse that is in the harness every day needs an abundance of food and the right kind. Oats make more muscle than corn and should always form part of the food of a hard working horse. Corn gives plumpness and imparts warmth. The colder the weather the more corn; the harder the work the more oats.

At the farmer's cost Is an early frost, Exercise reason— Harvest in season. I have seen a young man sell a good farm, turn merchant and die in an insane asylum. Cobs make no food for kine to eat, But they are good for smoking meat. It is no place to get poles, Where moles or mice have dug their holes. Industry is never unfruitful.

THE GREAT ZINGARI BITTERS.

A Safe Blood Purifier. A Splendid Tonic. A Pleasant Beverage. A Certain Cure and PREVENTIVE OF DISEASES. The ZINGARI BITTERS are compounded from a prescription of the celebrated Egyptian physician Dr. Cassius, who, after years of trial and experiment, discovered the Zingari Bitters, the most remarkable vegetable production, the earth, perhaps, has ever yielded—certainly the most effective in the cure of disease.
