ADVANTAGE OF GOOD ROADS. Road-making according to a recent message sent to the Legislature of Massachusetts by Governor Claffin, should be given a prominent place in the course of studies of agricultural colleges. Cheap transportation is one of the principal requirements of the present day, and a practical application of scientific principles to the construction of farm roads will materially reduce the cost of taking produce to market or the railroad station. A good road, besides, costs less to take care of than an indifferent one. Thus, in Massachusetts, a macadamized road, sixty miles long, cost for repairs in 1868 the sum of $6,000, while an ordinary road, eighty-two miles long, cost $14,523. Engineers assert that the force required to draw a load upon a carriage with springs varies as follows upon different kinds of roads: A new road, covered with gravel five inches thick, requires a tractive force of one eighth of the 'o dt be moved; a solid cau e ay of earth in very good condition, one twentysixth the road; a broken stone road, very smooth, one fourth the load; a broken stone road, moist or dusty, one thirtieth the load: a broken stone road, with ruts and mud, one-twentieth the load; a broken stone road, with deep ruts and thick mud, one tenth the load. Comparing the worst and best of the above described causeways it will be seen that 100 pounds of power will draw 800 pounds of load on a new gravel road, and 4500 pounds on a smooth broken stone road.

INFLUENCE OF SUN HEAT ON FRUITS. Never was there a greater mistake made than that of supposing that fruit produced in the shade has the best flavor; it is a false notion, the mere chimera of a half a century ago. The black Hamburg grape is, to some extent, an exception; for its berries will not color if the branches are deprived of too many of their leaves, so as to let the sun in among the bunches too freely; whereas, the Muscat or Alexandria will not attain its rich amber color if so much overcrowded with leaves as to keep the rays of the sun from penetrating freely among the bunches. A pineapple produced in the winter has not the flavor of one ripened in the summer months of the year, when the sun is powerful. Again, under the old method of planting strawberries in beds four feet wide, the fruit is not to be compared either in size or flavor, with that of those planted out in single rows. Now, what is the reason of this? I contend that it is in consequence of the action of the sun upon the fruit. The fruit shaded by leaves will always be more or less insipid and worthless, as compared with that on which the sun has had full play. It is the sun that puts flavor into our fruits .- Journal of Horticulture, WEEDS .- One of the greatest nuisances in farming is the way that weeds are en couraged and protected in the crooks and vicinity of fences, from which place their seeds are scattered over the surrounding lands. The extent to which seed is carried by high winds proves that one negligent farmer may annoy hundreds of farms by the failing to exterminate the foul herbage. Could the evils be concentrated on the farm which nurses the weeds, the consequences would be a proper punishment for 1 is care lessness and criminality-for criminal is any man who nurtures nuisances that thus injure the surrounding farmers. The fellow who keeps a bull-dog that annoys if not bit es the passing travelers, may be reached by the law that is powerless to expose the injury occasioned to his neighbors by the nurseries of foul weeds which are harbored about his premises, especially in the vicinity of his fences.

THE FARMER is never so strong, never of so much service to himself and his fellows as when he speaks for himself. We care not whether it be in a public journal, or at a public meeting, but nothing is so impolitic as to attempt to smother him up under the wing of somebody else. It is this that has made the discussions of our Farmer's Clubs so trustworthy and especially valuable. These proceedings really represent the opinions of the class they are assumed to be; whereas a too common habit to overlay him and his with very great people and some other people, so that he loses all identity and has to answer for he knows not what.

An experienced dairyman says: There is no process of working or washing that will secure a good article of butter, or that will get all the buttermilk out till it has stood a short time, when it must be worked over the second time, after which it will keep a long time. Butter that has not been worked the second time will not keep more than two or three days in warm weather. I do not care how much pains you take with it. the buttermilk that is left in the butter becomes sour, makes your butter raneid.

It is stated that there are already three thousand steam plows at work in England, some of them with stationary engines capable of driving from three to six plows
