

For the Farmer.

Preparations for Spring Work. The present is the farmer's time to arrange his plans for the coming year...

Trade and business in the cities have been depressed the past season, as well as the prices of produce in the country.

Is the working stock of the farm sufficient? has there been false economy in the use of manures?

All these questions should be asked and answered; recollecting that the most improvident of all kinds of farming is the raising of half crops...

Let the farmer now consider and digest the tried capacities of his soil and its adaptation to particular crops.

"Time and chance happeneth unto all," and with patient industry and perseverance, every man in his proper calling...

"Let us then be up and doing, With a heart for any fate— Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to labor and to wait."

Get Leather Bits. One of the most cruel things done to dumb beasts is putting frozen iron bits into a horse's mouth.

Thinking and human people avoid this by first warming the bits: but this is much trouble, and sometimes impossible...

LAZY FARMERS.—Laziness prevents a man from getting off his horse to put up the first rail that gets thrown off the fence...

Laziness prevents a man from driving one nail when it would have answered, and by and by a carpenter must be hired to make extensive repairs.

Laziness permits a gate to get off the hinges and lie in the mud, or be propped up—or a barn to go to rack and thus to damage a vast amount of the product in store.

A way is given to prevent horses pulling at the halter. Put a small rope under the horse's tail, bring the ends forward, crossing them on the back...
