

For the Farmer.

To Train a Horse to Stand.—The American Stock Journal contains the following directions: Take your horse on the barn floor and throw a strap over his back and fasten it to his right fore foot; lead him along and say 'whoa,' at the same time pull down the strap, which throws him on three feet and makes him stop suddenly. This is the best way to teach whoa, though you can put on the war bridle, and say whoa, and give him a sharp jerk, that will stop him about as soon as the strap to his foot. Then put him in harness, with the foot strap as directed to do under the head of 'training to harness,' and drive him up to the door. The moment he undertakes to move, take his foot and say whoa. Get in your carriage and get out again; rattle the thills; make all the noise getting in and out you can; give him to understand, by snatching his foot each time he moves, that he must stand still until you tell him to go; and after a few times you can put the whole family in the carriage and he won't stir out of his tracks.

How to Tell the Age of Horses.—A short time ago we met a gentleman from Illinois, who gave us a piece of information in regard to ascertaining a horse's age, after he or she had passed the ninth year, which was new to us, and will be, we are sure, to most of our readers. It is this: after the horse is nine years old, a wrinkle comes on the eyelids at the upper corner of the lower lid, and every year thereafter he has one well-defined wrinkle for each year over nine. If, for instance, a horse has three wrinkles, he is twelve; if four, thirteen. Add the number of wrinkles to nine, and you will get it. So says the gentleman; and he is confident it will never fail. As a good many people have horses over nine, it is easily tried. If true, the horse dentist must give up his trade.—Vid and Fireside.

Watering Newly Planted Trees.—Concerning newly planted trees, a writer in the Illinois Prairie Farmer, says: In most cases people commit an error by watering their newly planted trees close to the trunk. Every tree forms a little hill around its trunk to shed the water off, besides the trunk is protected from surplus rain by the leaves of the crown. This is the reason why, in its natural state, we always find the soil round the trunk, particularly under it, very dry. Watering close to the trunk produces the rotting of the small rootlets which extend from the crown of the root and go downward. This disease gradually extends, and often produces the death of the tree. If trees have to be watered, it must be done half way between the trunk and the outer side of the crown. The same principle has to guide manuring.

Remedy for White Hairs.—The white hairs that appear on horses from the use or wear of the saddle or harness are often unsightly. My remedy is a very simple one. Take a piece of fresh butter or lard, large enough to give the spot a thorough greasing; rub the same with the hand until it becomes quite hot, repeating the operation at least three or four times, and the white hairs will soon come out and hairs of natural color take their place. I have tried this on several horses, and never knew it to fail. I think the best time to do it is in the winter, before the new coat starts.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

Cure for Warts.—The best cautery for warts, corns, etc., is said to be dichloroacetic acid. It must be applied on the sharp point of a glass stopper made for the purpose, and great caution ought to be observed not to use too much of it, as it will eat a deep hole into the flesh. One application is frequently sufficient to drive away a wart. The acid smells like vinegar, but is a much more powerful caustic. It can be had of our best druggist, and sometimes comes put up in bottles with directions for use.

Improved Substitute for Washing-Soda.—It has been found that the hypophosphite of soda, which is now manufactured very cheaply, for the use of photographers, is much better than the common washing-soda to wash delicate articles. It attacks neither the skin of the hands nor the objects to be washed, as does the common soda; and at the same time it is an effective bleaching agent, and takes out many spots better than any other substance.

In India when a horse can and will not draw; instead of whipping, spurring or burning him, as is frequently the practice in more civilized countries, they quietly get a rope and tying it to one of the fore feet, or two men take hold of it, and advancing a few paces ahead of the horse, pull their best. No matter how stubborn the animal may be, a few doses of such treatment effects a perfect cure.

Baked Beans.—Soak the beans over night in cold water, and in the morning boil them till they are soft; then skin them out into a culler or iron kettle, and put in the centre a piece of salt pork, (not smoked), a spoonful of molasses, a little lump of soda, and boiling water enough to cover them. Bake five or six hours in a hot oven, adding more water as it dries away, but letting them dry down at last as they are not so good if too wet.

Corn Meal Pudding.—Boil two quarts of sweet, skimmed milk, and add, while boiling, corn meal enough to make a thin batter; then sweeten it, and add a half teacupful of ginger and a little salt, and bake three hours.

ROSADALIS THE GREAT AMERICAN HEALTH RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Dropsy, and all chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the medical Faculty and many thousands of your best citizens.

Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information. Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says: I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alternative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alternative ingredients. Dr. Spinka, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis, and has effected a cure—as a clearer of the Blood I know no better remedy. [Signed] G. McFadden, Murfreesboro, Tenn., says: I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes. Benjamin Reuchel, of Lima, Ohio, writes: I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure. McFadden, Murfreesboro, Tenn., says: I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.
