Rev. J. H. M. C. in the Methodist Church, at 10 A. M. and 7 P. M. Sunday.

ARRIVALS.—The best trunks in the market to be had at A. L. Shaw's, Clearfield, Pa.
Days are shortening, and nights becoming cool and pleasant while autumnal insects hold concerts in every bush. Summer is winking like a dream.

ARRIVALS.—We are informed that a contract has been entered for the construction of the Washington and Buffalo Railroad, from a point near Aurora to Olean. This looks very much as though the road will be made through our county, as proposed.

ARRIVALS.—The Academy is one of the best schools of its class in the State. Prof. Harrison is an accomplished scholar, a good disciplinarian, and an efficient teacher and moral instructor. If you wish to give your children a good practical education send them to the Academy.

ARRIVALS.—We think it was demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of all last week, that there exists a necessity for a supply of water, other than that obtained from the wells sunk in the midst of the cess-pools and sinks of filth within our borough limits.

ARRIVALS.—Mrs. Jeffries of the Susquehanna House, Curwensville, last week presented several of the largest and best peaches we have seen for years. They grew on a tree in the yard adjoining the hotel. By the way, Mrs. Jeffries keeps one of the best hotels in the county, a fact worthy the attention of travellers.

ARRIVALS.—"Bosses."—By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that Mr. R. H. Shaw, is "bossing" the Tobacco and Clear Store, two doors east of the Post Office, formerly owned by N. M. Hoover. Harry is a very clever and accommodating man, and will endeavor to please all who may favor him with their custom.

ARRIVALS.—Such was the universal exclamation of our citizens, on Wednesday morning last, as they approached market street. The cause, at first, was a mystery, but it was soon discovered that it arose from some filth that was scattered in the street—the debris of a slaughter house, portions of which fell out of the wagon bed as it was being hauled along the street, and right previous. We have frequently, during the past two months, directed the attention of our borough officers to the existence of a vast amount of filth within the corporate limits, which should be removed. Little or no attention was given to our suggestions, no doubt regarding them as mere matters of talk for talk's sake. But, if such was the supposition, we think, all fully realized the facts, as they exist, on Wednesday morning last; and, we hope, that now the proper steps will be taken to remove the filth, and prevent the recurrence of such an intolerable stench and nuisance as that revealed and indicated upon our citizens last week.

ARRIVALS.—On Wednesday morning last, four young men of this place—Messrs. A. A. Adams, A. W. Leo, Frank Fielding and George Hagerty—started on foot for Bedford, Pa. The first information of the whereabouts of these amateur pedestrians, was in the Altoona Sun of Friday last, which gives a highly interesting description of their physical condition and general appearance upon arriving in that city. The Sun says:

Yesterday afternoon, while busily engaged in our daily duties, our sanctum was invaded by four individuals of most forlorn and dispirited aspect. They were travel-worn and dust-covered, lame and halt, out at the heels and out at the toes, coatless and almost hatless. When they divested themselves of the dust that belabored their countenances, we recognized them as Clearfielders—A. W. Leo, Frank Fielding, A. A. Adams and George Hagerty—two lawyers, a county officer, and a printer. They left Clearfield on Wednesday morning, and were thus far on their way to Bedford Springs. After resting and enjoying themselves at the latter place, and providing themselves with new shoes, etc., they resumed their journey, and expect to reach their destination to-morrow morning. Why they undertook this journey on foot we did not learn, but presume they wished to realize how people worked their way through the world before the age of steam power and railroads. It will no doubt result in benefit to the springs, as their improving health will be attributed to the healing qualities of its waters.

FOR SALE.—A second-hand Cooking Stove, Triumph, No. 9, at the Presbyterian Parsonage, Clearfield, Pa.

REMEMBER! The next term of the Clearfield Academy begins on Monday, September 13, 1870. Scholars should be prepared to enter the school at the opening of the session, otherwise, it will retard their own advancement, and give additional labor to the teachers.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR for September is beautifully illustrated, and numbers among its contributors the names of Kate Sutherland, Ada M. Kennicot, Clio Stanley, and others equally well qualified to please children. "Beech Nut Farm," by Virginia F. Townsend, is continued. This little magazine is really the prettiest publication for children that we know of.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—No preventing Providence, the M. E. Church at Goshen, this county, will be dedicated on Sabbath, the 15th day of September next. Morning service at 10 o'clock, A. M., by Rev. J. S. Murray, Presiding Elder of Altoona District, Central Pa. Conference. Immediately after which the dedicatory services will be conducted by Rev. J. S. Murray, assisted by Rev. W. H. Dill. Preachers and people of sister churches, and all our friends generally, are cordially invited to attend.

INFANTRY.—The Phillipsburg Journal says: A novel sight was presented on our streets on Wednesday afternoon last, being a procession of baby coaches, each filled with its smiling, crowing infant, and drawn by a party of little girls, clad in their holiday attire, to whom all honor of the conception and execution of this idea is due. They paraded the principal streets, creating considerable excitement, and calling forth rounds of applause from the spectators all along the line of their march.

LOST IN THE WOODS.—On Tuesday, August 9, a number of persons from the mines of the Decatur Coal Co. went herringing, in a patch near the Black Bear mills, four or five miles from this place, a half-witted girl forming one of the company. In the course of the afternoon she became separated from the party, and could not be found. As the afternoon was waning search was made, but proved unavailing and they departed, leaving her alone in the forest. She was not discovered until Friday when she made her way to a house near the patch in an almost famished condition.—Phillipsburg Journal.

LOOK SHARP!—Parties in the habit of encroaching on the corn fields and orchards of their neighbors stealing corn and fruit should bear in mind that by so doing they place themselves liable to a free pass to the Penitentiary. The law used to regard such depredations only in the light of trespass, but later acts makes it a criminal offense. Parents would do well to caution their children in regard to this, as some time they might have to suffer shame on their account. And no sensible person could blame the farmers and owners of orchards if they should enforce the law on any one so dead to every sense of honesty as to disturb their crops, the result of their toil and care.

TERRIBLE DEATH.—On Tuesday, July 16th, says the Brookville Republican, a terrible accident happened on the mill of Mr. Andrew Butler, of Pine Creek township, this county, by which that gentleman was instantly killed. It appears that he was engaged on the mill, and about two o'clock in the afternoon, while clearing away sawdust and rubbish from the saw, the saw caught his arm cutting it fearfully, and at the same time, striking his head and severing it almost in two, the other arm being also badly mangled. Mr. Butler was an industrious and good citizen, and the whole community will be appalled to learn of his terrible death. He leaves a wife and five small children.
