The Raftsman's Journal, Clearfield, Pa., August 24, 1870.

For the Farmer.

What A Kitchen Should Be.

The following is a lady's idea of what a kitchen should be. She says: "To begin with. I would have a kitchen well lighted; some,, yes a great deal of the broad expansive sunlight coming in boldly, as if it had a perfect right to be there. That would, of course, necessitate large windows. And then I would give as much attention to the ventilation of a kitchen as I would to a sleeping-room. I would have a large circular device suspended over the cooking stove with a hole in the centre, and a tube leading to the top of the house, to carry off the savory smells, which the process of cooking generates, and prevent them from permeating the whole house.

"For these smells, however savory and agreeable, are apt to take away something from the keenness of our appetite; or. at least, cause us to anticipate something better than the reality. Then I would have a large sink, with a permanent soapstone or marble washbowl, for washing the dishes, and another for draining. I would also have an adjustable pipe leading from the hot water-tank to either of these basins. Besides this, I would have sundry cupboards and closets arranged on the wall, so as to be tasteful and decorative as well as convenient.

"Then I would have a space devoted to tiny drawers, similar to those in a drugstore, and labeled in this manner: Soda, allspice, nutmegs, cream of tartar, etc., so that at a single glance I could discover just what I wanted, without rumaging to find these things in some out-of-the way corner, placed there by some untidy Bridget. This would save one a world of care now devoted to instructing every new servant, as to all places of things. Cooking is becoming so complicated now-a-days that one needs all the arrangements, and as many utensils, as a chemical laboratory; and the good architect should give the mater familias 'a place for everything.'"

CAUSTIC LIME FOR INSECTS.—There are few insects than can withstand a dose of freshly slacked lime. We always keep a quantity of it on hand ready for sprinkling over plants infested with slugs or bugs of any kind, and it has always proved effectual if applied at the right time. Last year, the white pine worm attacked nearly every pine-tree on our place, but two or three dustings of lime when the trees were wet with dew banished or destroyed this pest, which in a few days, if unchecked, would have stripped every leaf from our tree. The asparagus-beetle appeared upon our beds of this vegetable in countless numbers, but a few doses of lime have made them leave, and the plants look healthy and vigorous at the present time.

We have driven from our garden the rose slug, cabbage flea, and numerous other pests by the use of this same material, and we have never observed that the plants were damaged by its use. A correspondent at the West says he has entirely checked the ravages of the Colorado potato bug by freely using lime upon the plants, and we have no doubt that others might be equally successful by a persistent use of this material. Lime is so cheap that no one can object to its use on that score, and if it fails to kill the insects, it will usually do the land good wherever applied.—Ex.

CABBAGES FOR CATTLE.—An English writer says: The cultivation of the cabbage is greatly extending. It comes into use when other things fail, and is far the best vegetable succulent for milch cows keeping up the yield of milk, and preserving better than any other food some portion of the quality which cheese loses when the cows quit their natural pasturage. Cows fed on cabbages are always quiet and satisfied, while on turnips they often scour and are restless. Cabbages are given whole on the pastures, and later in the season are either pulled or placed in the trough whole. When frosted they are likely to produce hoven, unless kept in a shed to thaw before being used. Fifty-six pounds, given at two meals, are as much as a large cow should have in a day. Frequent cases of abortion are occasioned by an oversupply of green food. Cabbages are excellent for young animals, keeping them in health. A calf of seven months may have twenty pounds a day.

HARROWED VS. DRILLED WHEAT.—Experiments at the Experimental Farm, of Pennsylvania, the present season, have demonstrated the fact that harrowed in wheat produces a better crop than drilled in. In every instance where the experiment was tried the product of the broadcast sowing exceeding the drilled 10 or 15 per cent. Further testimony in favor of harrowing in is furnished by the experience of Adrian Cornell, of Bucks county, one of the most observant and thoroughly practical farmers in the State. Mr. C. long ago discarded the drill and broadcasts all his wheat, oats, &c. He says that whenever his neighbors who use the drill can grow as much wheat per acre as he obtains he will drill also. It is the opinon of both Mr. Harvey and Mr. Cornell that the drill buries the seed too deep.

POULTRY.—Feed your poultry on raw onions chopped fine, mixed with other food twice a week. It is better than a dozen cures for chicken cholera. Fowls exposed to dampness are apt to be troubled with catarrh, which will run into croup if not attended to. Red pepper mixed with soft food, fed several times a week, will remove the cold. Pulverized charcoal, is a preventive of putrid affections, to which fowls are very subject. The vessel should be deep enough to let the hen stand. Pulverized chalk administrated with softer food will cure diarrhœa. This disorder is caused by want of variety in food, or by too much green food. Garlic fed once or twice a week is excellent for colds.—Gardener's Magazine.

THE Liberty (Mo.) Tribune says the fruit crop of Southwest Missouri is very promising. Accounts from Bates, Cass and Vernon counties represent the peach crop as safe. The apples and small fruit never promised better.

ROSADALIS

THE GREAT AMERICAN HEALTH RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of women, and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens.

Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesboro', Tenn., says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.
