roads, where it can be obtained. Make covered with good, hard turnouts for water, on roads upon descending grades, distributing the road wash upon meadows or pastures, if possible. Bridges and embaakments should be well looked to, and put in order for winter before cold weather sets in.

FARM BUILDINGS,-Animals will soon money. For fur. need shelter, if they do not already, and should be regularly stabled at night, as in winter. In putting the sta sin order, look well to the floors, and to the timbers in contact with manure, or the liquids of the stable; renew those which are in any degree weak. Tighten weather-boards, patch roofs if leaky. , See that all buildings around the barn-yard have good eavestroughs and gutters, so that no more water than necessary enters the barn yard.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES. - The fine brown color so desirable on this favorite break fast dish cannot be obtained if we realy on back wheat flour and water alone to form the batter. In order to secure this color, milk should be used instead of water, and in its absence we should recommend the addition of finely potatoes improves the flavor of the cakes and causes them to rise better.

PIG PENS .- Don't drain a pig pen : keep or from the ground, and keep enough litter always on hand to be worked over by the hogs to absorb the liquid which properly belongs to the yard. A hog yard should not be in a place where water will run off from it.

SASSAFRAS .- Cut the stalk off just below the surface of the ground and apply a small handful of salt to each. Do not attempt to grub them up, as you separate the roots, and hence do not get the salt into the general circulation, which you will do by cutting them just below the surface.

CIDER AND VINEGAR .- Is the most profitable way of disposing of surplus apples. Cider-making is usually deferred until cooler weather, as it is better when the fermentation goes on slowly. Perishable fruit may be ground up and pressed for vinegar at one.

APPLES .- The abundance of the crop in most localities renders it especially necessary to send only selected fruit to market, if satisfactory prices are looked for. Handpick and barrel carefully. Late varieties to be stored should be kept as cool a possible.

MANURE .- Everything that will rot and tained. that is not full of weed seed should be thrown into the hog pen, or made into compost with lime or yard manure. We prefer to subject all such material to be worked sale and Retail, at Lowest Factory Prices. over by the hogs.

MOLES .- An old gardener says that he drove the Moles out of his garden by the use of coal-tar. He dips a corn cob in the tar and places it in the run. He says that the HORSE NAILS-nail rod, horse nails, rasps, moles will not travel that road again.
