The population of Philipsburg, as per the late census, is 1,086.
WINTER is upon us. We had several snow storms in this region, within a week past.
The M. E. Church in this place is now being finished. The freestone in the audience room is very beautiful.
The wild geese have been migrating South, an indication that cold weather has set in on the Northern lakes.
A MAMMOTH new tannery is about to be started at Philipsburg. Why can't a similar "institution" be started here?
The Philipsburg Journal says, a bear was killed about three miles from that place before last. The bear "varmints" seem to be unusually plenty, this year.

Court was in session until a late hour on Saturday, having disposed of a goodly amount of business during the week. It again called at 9 o'clock on Monday morning, and is still in session.
NEW JAIL.—By reference to the advertisement, it will be seen that the Commissioners of Clearfield county will receive sealed proposals for the building of the new jail. Bids will be opened on December 15th.
YOUNG men desiring a practical business training will find Duff's Mercantile college the oldest, the most reliable, and permanent institution of the United States. Circulars can be had by addressing the principals—P. Duff & Sons, Pittsburgh, Pa.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.—We observe that there is a change of Schedule on the railroad. The passenger train now arrives here at 12:40, and leaves at 2:30. Will our friend Dan send us the Branch and Main line schedules?

GOBBLESTIC.—Our gobbler is "noncommittal," and we conclude he hasn't gobbled yet, or else some one else has gobbled him. Well, no matter who gobbled the gobbler, only so that the gobbler was gobbled as a good gobbler ought to be gobbled. That's all.

For good cemetery work, go to Mrs. Liddell's. Some one having informed that she had quit business, the public in general thought that such is not the fact. She is fully prepared to execute all orders in the best style of workmanship, and using only the best materials.

HOGGISH.—The editor of the Bellefonte Republican has been visiting among the pig sties of that ancient Borough for the past two weeks in quest of the biggest hog in the place. He has come to the conclusion that the biggest hogs in town make their nest in the sanctum of the Democrat's Waterhouse.

THANKSGIVING.—We would remind our readers that to-morrow (Thursday) is the day appointed for general thanksgiving throughout the States. It is to be hoped our citizens will observe the day in a becoming manner, by closing their places of business, and as far as possible refrain from following their usual occupations. Divine services will be held in several of the churches.

LOOK OUT!—We understand an attempt was made, on Friday night last, to break into the store of Wm. Reed, on Market street, by forcing open the shutter of one of the windows. Whether the individual was inside the building is not positively known, as nothing has been missed from the store. This incident, however, should be a caution to our business men, to secure well their doors and shutters, lest one of these mornings, they find that they have been robbed of a large amount of goods.

"NIBBLERS."—Some of the Pottsville grocers complain lately of "nibblers" just now. A "nibbler" is a man who enters a grocery store, runs his fingers into every sugar barrel and takes a couple of ounces, then goes to the cheese and cuts off a slice, just to taste, then, as a matter of course, must have a few crackers, and perhaps a quarter dollar's worth, he has eaten up the profits on two dollars' worth of groceries. "Nibblers" visit other groceries besides those of Pottsville.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. John D. Brown, for nine years a missionary in India, will preach in the M. E. Church, in Curwensville, on Sunday morning, Nov. 27th.

Those who are sick, or afflicted with any chronic difficulty, should without delay write for Dr. Hamilton's New Treatise, sent free to any address. R. Leonidas Hamilton, M. D., P. O. Box 4,952, N. Y. City. Sept. 26,—61.

NOTICE.—We have been requested to state that John P. Irvin, Esq., having purchased the property of H. B. Swoope, Esq., in Clearfield, will offer for sale on the premises, on Saturday, December 3d, 1870, a general assortment of Parlor, Household and Kitchen Furniture; a full descriptive list of which will appear in our next issue.

Oh! no!—The following love missive fell into our hands, which we give as a literary curiosity:
Clearfield Town Nov 21, 1870. Mr. —
You may think us bold for writing to you but as we wish to get acquainted with you we thought we would write a few lines, and if you can find out who we are we hope you will answer this gain-wind-day afternoon. You will be surer than we think you are, you find out who. From your true friends guess who, to our friend Mr. —

Would it not be more profitable if the writers of the above would attend to their school studies, instead of writing such nonsense?

Local Correspondence.

BURNSIDE, November 17, 1870.
Mr. Editor: You might have wondered, "mister," at my long silence, but I think I can give a "correct" account of myself. Let me introduce to you, Mr. Editor, my brother Bill, the pride of our family, five feet ten and a half in his stockings, weighs 190 pounds. I tell you Bill's a roarer, he put twelve men to flight in Richmond, just after the evacuation. But Bill had the advantage during that "fittin'." He was on the lead all the time. Bill met with a serious accident last month. He was lying in bed just before breakfast, yawning, when happening to stretch his jaws too far apart, they became locked. Bill rushed in terror to the kitchen where "mam" was getting breakfast. He couldn't speak a word, but his countenance spoke volumes, it was like an open book to "mam." She saw in a moment what was wrong, and cried out, "Run to the wood pile, Bill, take the axe and strike with all your might on a log that will unlock 'em." Bill ran out, seized the axe and, raising it over his head, brought it down with tremendous force on the log. The experiment was successful, and his upper jaw of molars came down in a "jiffy." But, alas! at the last moment his tongue had strayed out to see what was wrong, and the happy meeting of his jaws will nigh cut it in two. Bill looked sadly toward "mam," who stood in the door, and said he, (in an entirely different dialect from that formerly used by him), "Mam, that's what I call gittin' out of the dyin' pan into the fire." We went for a doctor, who dressed his wounds. But Bill still talks a little thick, and we were much amused the evening of the disaster, while sitting at the supper-table. Bill said, "Mam, plass them darn clakes." For a long time Bill and I had contemplated emigrating to the west. So last Friday, after bidding a final adieu to all our friends, we started for Indiana to take the cars for Iowa. "Bill" took us to town, and "mam" had baked us a pillow case full of doughnuts, and packed up with them a half a boiled fitch to provision us on the journey. "For," said she, "boys you must be savin'." We arrived at Indiana that evening, and the next morning got aboard the train. He was there to see us off, and as the train moved away, I heard him remark to some bystanders, "Geolmen, there's a pair of boys you won't never see in this country again, they are bound for the far, far west." The train rolled quietly to Blairsville Intersection, where we disembarked and entered the Atlantic Express, at least I think it was, as I noticed lots of folks aboard from 'tother side of the Atlantic, smoking short pipes and wearing skull caps. I asked the conductor who they fellows was, and he smiled, and said "they were a batch of operatives from the Tower of Babel," and I guess he was right. For I couldn't understand a confounded word they said. Well, we whirled into the big Union Depot at Pittsburgh, and left our train to change for one going out the P. E. W. & O. R. R. We marched through the depot, Bill ahead with the doughnuts, and I behind with our carpet bag. "Say, mister, what yer got in that bag?" said a new boy, "Glo'ghouts," replied Bill, innocently. "Give us one, won't yer?" "Cler-rainly," replied Bill, thickly. An untiring pillow case he gave the boy two large doughnuts, then shouldered it and started on and had not gone a rod before that ungrateful little cuss, drew his knife and slit the pillow case from top to bottom, out rolled the fat cakes, and twenty newboys and bootblacks gobbled them up quicker than you could snap your finger. Bill was totally disheartened and swore he would return home forthwith. I tried to persuade him, but no use. So we took the back track and the next night brought up at home again. We tried to slip quietly to bed but the old lady heard "snuffin," and thinking it was the cat, she cried "Hiss." "Oh! man, taint the cat, its me and Ben. Where did you put them darn clakes?" said Bill, sadly. We eat some, retired, and next morning mounted Snowshoe and rode to Burnside.

The Methodist Episcopal are building a new church, expecting to dedicate it some time this winter.
A grand union protracted meeting commenced in the Union church on Saturday evening next.
The vanguard of winter, in the shape of blustering snow storms, has made its appearance in our little valley. Autumn lingered long, but I fear now the brown checked maiden has bid a final adieu to 1870.

STUMPS! STUMPS!!
The undersigned has purchased the right of Clearfield county for the removal of Stump Extractor, patented June 7th, 1870. This is decidedly the most convenient, most durable, and best machine of the day. Wet weather will not affect it, the working part being all of iron. The machine is easily set up, and will work any place that can be plowed. We will sell machines at a small profit on cost, and will try to make it to the advantage of farmers to buy them. We solicit orders from those wanting machines.
