for the farmer.

THE HUSBANDMAN. "Hate not husbandry, which God hath ordained." - The Son of Sirach. When the Creator's hand had placed In this terrestial scene,

Man, in His own high image formed, Majestic and serene, Bade He, this ruler of the globe To mountain summit soar? Or for the wealth of gold and gems Its secret mines explore!

Or blow the rocks to atoms? Or boil the floods to steam? Or with harpoon and hook transfix The people of the stream? Or bring with forge and hammer Enormous shapes to light? Or study till the midnight toil Enwrapped the brain in night?

No. 'twas the Arbiter's command, Mid that delightful glade, To "dress and keep the garden," where His Eden home was made; And when no more his alien head In Paradise might rest, To till the earth from whence he came Was still his Sire's behest.

So, look not with an eye of scorn Upon the farmer's state, Ye young and thoughtless sons of ease, With luxury elate, For beings of a purer sphere A different balance hold, And Cincinnatus' plow prefer To Nero's house of Gold.

Earth, whom he clothes with corn and fruit Accounteth him her friend, And yields him fragrance when he makes clover harvest bend: And healthful vigor as he roams Among his thriving herds, Touching that key tone in his heart

She folds him in her arms at last, Like mother sad and kind, And bids the daisy not torget The curtaining turf to bind That wraps his bed in cool embrace, Who, peaceful and unstained, Filled with fidelity the lot That Nature's God ordained.

Which wakes the song of birds.

To KEEP MANURE FROM HEATING. - J. B., of East Canton, wrote to the Farmers' Club to say that his manure heaps burn up to white like ashes. Mr. Ely says this subject was only recently under discussion, and that it was recommended to mix peat or rich soil with the manure. Mr. Whitney advised arranging the manure-heap so that the solids and liquids would mix, since the only sure remedy for heating was keeping to power and speed. His motto is, to do work so the contract of the cont muck near the stables, and to spread it daily in small quantities over the manure as it was drawn out. This process prevented firefanging.

Vetches and cut grass should always be given in the spring to horses that cannot be turned out in the fields. Because they are very cooling and refreshing, and almost medical in their effects; but they must be supplied in moderation, as they are liable to ferment in the stomach if given largely.

For a saddle or coach horse, half a peck of sound oats, and eighteen pounds of hay are sufficient. If the hay is not good, add a quarter of a pound more oats. A horse that works harder may have rather more of each; one that works little should have

There are always more or less obstruc-tions of the liver, a weakness and in itable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a pewerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose squal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they speedily remove the dark colored visid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the screttings of the liver and time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs. The universal popular y of this valuable remedy in regions subject to minamatic influences, is sufficient evidence of its power as a remedy in such cases.

For skin diseases, cruptions, tetter, sail rheum, blotches and singular systules boils.

For skin diseases, cruptions, tester, sait rneum, blotches, spots, pimples, pustules, boils, carbun-cies, ring worms, scald-head sore eyes, crysipelas, itch, scurf, discolorations of the skin, humors and diseases of the skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the sys-tem in a short time by the use of these Biters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pim-ples, cruptions or sores; cleause it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin. Tape and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.
