

For the Farmer.

Management of Balty Horses.

The first and best way is never to have a balty horse. If horses are handled properly they will never balk. After a horse has been "fooled," as horsemen very properly say, when a good horse balks, it will require a vast amount of cautious management to correct the bad habit. Horses are taught to balk by stupid and cruel drivers, who have really less good sense than the animals they drive. Many strong and excellent horses are managed so improperly that they soon become almost incorrigible baltors; whereas, if a driver of ordinary intelligence had held the reins, the animals would have been as true as steel. If a horse is properly managed he will draw with all his might, trot or run as his driver may indicate until he drops in his harness from utter exhaustion.

After a horse has really contracted the habit of balking, the vice can be corrected only by kindness and gentle treatment. The more he is whipped, kicked, clubbed, and handled roughly, the more obstinate he will be. Hence, throw away whips and clubs, and let the gentle treatment bear fruit. Then beware of over loading. A person can coax out of a horse a service that whips and kicks never can secure. Always provide some means to enable a team to start a heavy load easily. Avoid stopping—if possible—where it will be difficult to start. It is better to let a team stop for a moment, ten times, when hauling a load up a slope, than to allow it to stop in a place where it would be difficult to start. The writer once was accustomed to carry pieces of plank to the field for the wheels of the wagon to rest upon, while it was to be loaded with potatoes, or corn, so that the team would move off readily with a heavy load, that they could never start if the wheels had been allowed to sink into the ground while the load was increasing in weight. When a horse balks on account of exhaustion, allow the animal to rest until he has recovered strength to draw his load. Above all beware of too heavy loads, of impatience, or roughness, and of over driving.

PEACHES should be picked before too ripe, sliced towards the centre, so that when dry the slices will not be thicker than the blade of a table knife. Be very particular and dry them a light color. Dark peaches are always dull sale at half price or less than bright ones. Peaches, if not peeled, should be cut in halves.

REMEMBER, that neither peach nor cherry seeds, apple cores or peels, sugar, syrup or water, will sell for dried fruit. By carelessly or intentionally leaving or putting them in, you will in the price have to pay for sorting, where it can be done, and lose the amount paid for freight on the portion of no value.

PEARS and quinces should be sliced the same as peaches, and be free from cores and seeds.

Special attention paid to ordering goods for parties who desire a first class Medicine made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the "Great Remedy for the lungs, pains in the chest, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to its healthy condition. Persons who take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by other means or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair. For Loft-mortality and Chronic Inflammation and Croup, Consumption, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, those Bitters have been used with great success. Such diseases are caused by vitiated blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the digestive organs. Dyspepsia or indigestion headache, pain in the shoulders, cough, tightness of the chest, distress, sour eructations of the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, inflammation of the lungs, pain in the region of the Kidneys and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system. Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Alabama, Savannah, Roanoke, James and many others with their tributaries, during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkable so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extreme derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, and a morbid, irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, which speedily remove the dark colored, viscid matter which the bowels are loaded at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs. The universal popularity of this valuable remedy in regions subject to miasmatic influences, is sufficient evidence of its efficacy as a remedy in such cases. For skin diseases, eruptions, tetter, salt rheum, blotches, spots, pimples, furuncles, carbuncles, ring worms, scald-head, sore eyes, erysipelas, itch, scurf, discolurations of the skin, humors and all eruptions of the skin, Bitters remove the cause, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One may infer, that it is so efficacious, that it is a remedial in such cases. Cleanse the Vitiated Blood wherever you find its impurities, "bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it fouls, and your feelings will tell you when it is so. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow. Pin, Taps and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish. J. WALKER, Proprietor, R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 52 and 54 Commerce Street, New York. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS and DEALERS. December 7, 1870-ly.
