

MARRIAGE.
If there is a tie on earth deemed sacred and holy in a brighter land, 'tis that which binds man to a kindred spirit to become one in unity and love—and yet it rarely happens that he properly appreciates the kindness and sincerity of the female heart, by setting a right value on a gem so productive of happiness to the possessor. There is nothing in life so pure and devoted as the unquenchable love of woman—more precious than the gems of Golconda, and more devout than the idolatry of Mecca, is the unsealed and gushing tenderness which flows from the fount of the female heart.

It may here with propriety be asked, what so often enhances the sorrow of the female heart, causing many anxious days and sleepless nights? Is it not the inconsistency of man? For whom does she leave the loved father and the dozing mother and the sweet sister who played with her in infancy? To whom does she cling with a fond embrace, when all but her has forsaken him!

It is said that when the mother of Washington was asked how she had formed the character of her son, she replied that she had endeavored early to teach him three things—obedience, diligence, and truth. No better advice can be given by any parent.

Teach your children to obey. Let it be the first lesson. It requires constant care to keep the habit of obedience, and especially to do it in such a way as not to break down the strength of a child's character.

Teach your child to be diligent. The habit of being always employed is a safe guard through life, as well essential to the culture of almost every virtue. Nothing can be more foolish than an idea which some persons have that it is not respectable to set their children to work.

Teach your child to be truthful. Let every thing else be sacrificed rather than that. Without it, what dependence can you place in your child? And be sure to do nothing yourself which may countenance any species of prevarication or falsehood. Yet how many parents do reach their children the first lesson of deception.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR.—Loomis Rathbun, a man 30 years old, son of the somewhat noted Mr. Rathbun who keeps Rathbun's Hotel in New York, is a hard drinker. A few days since he returned from a spree of a week's duration; and, being seized with delirium tremens, his mother, an aged lady, sat up with him to watch him. He leaped suddenly out of bed, ran for a razor, and proceeded to cut his throat. His mother struggled with to prevent him, and cut her fingers severely in trying to wrest the razor from him. She did not, however, succeed; on the contrary, she got her own throat cut. He inflicted a horrible wound on the side of her neck, and would have proceeded further, but that one of the waiters rushed upon him, knocking him on the head, and then dragged him into his room, and tied him down on his bed.

Medical aid was immediately called in, and the wounds of both were dressed. The wound of the old lady is serious, the more so on account of her great age, and the shock given to her nervous system. None of the important vessels are cut, but the integuments are cut through to the windpipe, which could be seen moving every time she breathed. She bled profusely, both externally and internally. Rathbun's wound is not considered dangerous. He has been sent to the Lunatic Asylum.

REPUBLICANISM.—Not many years ago in a handsome mansion not a thousand miles from Cincinnati, a young lady who has "high notions" of what constitutes respectability, expressed astonishment to her mother that a young lady of their acquaintance, of considerable wealth, should receive the attentions of a young carpenter and joiner.

LAWYERS AND MECHANICS.—The New York Mirror, in a late number, says:—The bar is no longer the resort of the ambitious youths of our country. The mechanical departments are beginning to be professed. There are now twenty-six young gentlemen in this city, that have received liberal educations, who are serving their times as shipwrights, carpenters, &c. In a few years the United States will have the most accomplished mechanics in the world. The union of a substantial education with mechanical skill will effect this.

The Believers Confidence.
The earth may shake, the pillars of the world may tremble under us, the countenance of heaven may be appalled, the sun may lose his light, the moon her beauty, and the stars their glory; but concerning the man that trusted in God, he knows in whom he believed; he is not ignorant whose precious blood has been shed for him; he hath a shepherd full of kindness, full of care, and full of power.—Hooker.

PRACTICAL FARMING.
Shaker Butter—Equal to the Best—How Made.
The Farmer's Monthly Visitor, contains the following directions for making sweet butter, furnished by one of the sisters in a Shaker Family at Canterbury, New Hampshire.

Directions.—The pans, or other vessels in which the milk is to be set, should be made perfectly sweet by scalding previous to putting the milk into them. A room in a basement story, where the air will circulate freely, is preferable to a cellar (where the weather will admit of it) for setting milk; forty-eight hours is a sufficient length of time to raise cream for making butter; after the cream is taken off, the milk may stand the same length of time, but cream that rises after the first forty-eight hours will not make butter so palatable as the first that rises, and should be churned separate.

As soon as the cream is taken from the milk, it should be put into a tin pail, and set into a kettle of scalding water, taking care to stir the cream often otherwise it will turn oily at the top; it should remain in the kettle until the cream is scalding hot, being particular to place it in a tub of cold water immediately. Stir it often, till it is nearly or quite cold, if it remains long after hot it will be injured much. It will be necessary to change the water once or twice before the cream can be perfectly cold. It may then be kept three or four days without injury. After churning the buttermilk should be partially worked out; then add an ounce and a half of salt to one pound of butter. It may then be covered tight, and stand till the following day; then work it over again, taking great care to work out every particle of buttermilk, which will prevent the butter from growing rancid from age. It may then be formed into cakes, or packed solid in a cask which should be perfectly sweet and well dried.

The inside should be sprinkled, and a little fine salt rubbed thereon. After the cask is filled, dip a cloth in melted butter and spread it snugly over the top—cover it with fine salt, and fasten up the cask sufficiently tight to keep out the air; it should then be set out in a cool place, to remain through the winter.

HINTS TO FARMERS.—Liquid manure is of great advantage to crops in a growing state; but it has double the usual effect if applied in damp and cloudy weather. If you find any of your favorite fruit trees are falling from dryness of the season or heat of the sun, cover the surface of the ground two or three inches deep with straw. Indeed, nothing benefits any delicate tree so much, in this climate, as keeping the roots in a uniform temperature, by this coat of straw, laid on the surface of the ground.

There are few trees such gross feeders as the grape vine. Soap suds and liquid manure applied every week, will give an amount of luxuriance and a weight of fruit on a single vine, that seems almost incredible. I have seen an Isabella grape produce 3,000 fine clusters of well ripened fruit in a single season, by the liberal use of manure and soap suds from the weekly wash.

Preservation of the Tomato.
Mr. R. B. Morsell gives us the following:—
"The Tomato, which has come into universal use, and is deemed a luxury by almost every one, may be preserved for winter use in the following manner. When ripe, let them be prepared by stewing as for the table, and to the liking, put them in small jars (1 quart) with covers. Over the top put a piece of linen or cotton cloth, which will cover, and press the cover on; then pour into the cavity melted mutton tallow, and keep them in a cool and dry place in the cellar until required for use. They need only to be warmed to serve them for the table. I use small jars for the reason, that when exposed to the air they soon ferment."—Albany Cultivator.

HENRY LORAIN.
CLEARFIELD, May 8, 1849.

Halloo, There!
MR. — wasn't you saying something about getting some Sal Soda for your women to wash with? Yes, I'd thought of getting a little to try—and see if it would act so like a charm, as I've heard them say.
Well, I've heard those say that have used it that it saves more than its cost in the wear of clothes while washing, and clothes are washed with less than half the labor.
How do you sell it?
Only twelve and a half cents per pound. Put me up a dozen or more of it if you have any more in your line to-day. Any Candles, Nuts, Figs, Oranges, Lemons or Cocoanuts to take home to the children. I've just received a large lot of them from the city, together with a good assortment of Family Medicines, Oils, Paints, &c. stuffs, and all kinds of coloring materials and Varnishes. Yes, and some of the best Spanish Cigars ever brought to the place.
If you wish any of these things, I'll sell them you a SURPLUS cheaper than you can get them any where else in this county. If any of your neighbors are in want of such things, just tell them to call at the sign of the Gold Mortar.

McAllister's Ointment.
FROM THE "READING EAGLE."—There was never, perhaps, a Medicine brought before the public, that has in so short a time, such a reputation as McAllister's Ointment. It has made its way into almost every household, and has cured many of the most painful Rheumatism, another of the Piles, a third of a troublesome pain in the side, a fourth of a swelling in the limbs, &c. &c. It does not give immediate relief, in every case, it can do no injury, being applied outwardly. As no one is ever cured by the medicine, he will receive the benefit of the medicine, and will receive the Certificate, from a respectable Citizen of Maidenhead township, in this county.
Maidenhead, Bucks, Eng., March 30, 1847.
Messrs. Hitt & Co.—I desire to inform you that I was entirely cured of a severe pain in the back, by the use of McAllister's Ointment, which I purchased from you. I suffered with it for about 20 years, and at last made trial of it. During that time I tried various remedies, which were prescribed for me by physicians and all made trial of this Ointment, with a result favorable beyond expectation. I am now entirely free from the pain, and enjoy a night's peaceful and refreshing sleep, and I am enabled to pursue my usual and other occupations, with almost perfect ease. Your friend,
JOHN HINDENBACH.
