Arrival of the Hibernia.

The Hungarian war—Further Magyar victories—Defeat of the combined armies.

St. John, N. B., August 15—10 p.m. The Steamer Hibernia arrived at Halifax yesterday afternoon, and in a few minutes afterwards the overland express started with the news, but owing to a very dense fog in the bay of Fundy, the express was detained about twenty hours, thus preventing you from getting the news much earlier.

Hungarian War.

The Hungarians continue successful. They have defeated and outmaneuvered the combined armies, placing the Austrians in peril, and cutting off the Russians from their base of operations.

The three grand divisions of the Hungarian army, under Bem, Dembinski, and Georjey, are in full communication with each other and ready to act in concert—their respective positions, being rendered secure by the nature of the country. The whole population are assisting the Hungarians by buying the food, horses, &c., and giving intelligence of the enemy's movements.

The London News of the 3rd contains Vienna dates to the 28th July. Lord Palmerston's speech fell like a thunder-clap upon the ministers. The news of Georjey's victory over the Russians at Comsed, and his entry into Rotham, came at the same time. There were rumors even of the Austrian generals having instructions to negotiate for a peace.

It is reported that Senora has surrendered to the Magyars. Ban Jellachich was continuing his retreat to the south of Servia. General Bem announced his great victory in three words, which are as follows, viz: "Bem!" "Bem!" "Bem!" In a later dispatch he says: "Our army has now to conquer but two generals more."

Letters from Cracow, of the 23d of June state that a number of Russian troops, who were on the point of leaving that city for Hungary, had received counter orders. Seventy railway wagons had arrived at Cracow filled with wounded Russian soldiers from Hungary. A postscript in a Liverpool paper of the 4th, giving accounts from Hungary through Paris and Vienna, announces another battle at Eslaw, in which the Hungarians were victorious.

It appears that the troops of Dembinski and Paskiewitch came to an engagement which ended in the total defeat of the Russian forces. General Haynau is described as being in a most perilous condition. The Magyar Generals are masters of the whole line from Eszy to Asova, having direct communication with Belgrade and the Turkish provinces.

On the 15th of July, a desperate battle was fought at Waitzen, between the Russians, commanded by Paskiewitch, and the Hungarians, under Georjey, in which the latter were completely victorious. The army of Georjey broke through the lines of the enemy, and marched north, thus effecting a junction with the main army.

A letter from the Secretary of War says that the charges of the Hungarians upon Paskiewitch's divisions were tremendous, and the Russians were completely bored down and compelled to yield before the terrible onslaught of the enraged Magyars, who fought with unexampled courage and daring. Another letter describes the Russian retreat to Donakess, before Dembinski's hussars, as a disorderly flight, and says that the Russians were only saved from annihilation by the timely arrival of Gen. Ramberg.

It was admitted in Vienna on the 4th that the victory of the Hungarians was complete.

There has been a change in the Austrian ministry.

The contract price for a scalp of a warrior is $200, for others $150, & for prisoners $200 each. All captured animals to be retained by the capturers. Chevalie had made a treaty to the effect, and made one expedition.

When last seen by Lea and Slaughter, who have arrived here, they were on their return to Chihuahua from a "hunt." They had taken 9 scalps, 4 prisoners, and 55 animals.

Later dates from Santa Fe, which are up to the 9th of July inclusive, state that the Indians were committing sad depredations.

On the 8th of July two Americans and two Mexicans were killed, 25 miles from Santa Fe. Lieut. Thomas had encountered a band of Comanches near Saugre Christ Place, and killed 17 of them.

Cassius M. Clay and other brave Americans, have elicited the warmest admiration of his countrymen.

Blotting at Montreal—Large Fire.

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.

A man named Mason was shot, ten slugs entering his body, killing him almost instantly. A number of others are said to have been wounded. A Coroner's jury was empanelled this afternoon, and then adjourned over until to-morrow. Several arrests have been made. Another riot is anticipated to-morrow.

Aug. 17.—About midnight Donnegan's extensive hotel took fire, and is now a heap of ruins. The inmates had hardly time to escape, and a number lost all they had. One of the firemen was accidentally killed. It is supposed the fire originated through negligence. Loss £35,000—insured for £14,000, of which £2,000 was in the Ethna Company.

A number of rows took place last night. Lamps were broken, and sham barricades thrown up, though no great mischief was done.

Depredations of the Florida Indians.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 16.

Letters from Micanopy, East Florida, says that much apprehension exists in that section of the country concerning the intentions of the Indians.

The settlers have formed themselves into companies for the protection of their own neighborhoods.

Fears are entertained for the safety of the crops on account of the people deserting the country.

The cold-blooded murders at Indian River have been confirmed.

GROWING FRUIT UNDER GLASS—The Boston Transcript.

The Boston Transcript, in an interesting article on the subject of Horticulture, in a description of the garden, greenhouse, and a varieties of fruit of Mr. Allen, of Salem, whose successful devotion to horticultural pursuits is well known, says:

"Mr. Allen has a fig tree that is a curiosity. It fills the entire back wall of one of his houses, and is trained the same as the peach. The branches stretching right and left from the trunk some thirty or forty feet, and is very vigorous. The variety is the black fig of St. Michael. It is now in fruit with the third crop for the season. Upwards of 3,000 figs, by count have been gathered the present season, and it is still yielding its delicious fruit in abundance. When fully ripe this fig bursts with its own richness. The fruit is fine, and a good variety for forcing. There are several other varieties of figs growing in the houses, but none so prolific as the St. Michael.

TOO MUCH FOR THE GENERAL.—The Mobile Tribune tells the following story of Jimmy Maher, who has been so long the gardener at the Presidential House, at Washington.

General Jackson had heard rumors that Jimmy was accustomed to get drunk and be uncivil to the visitors of the White House; so one bright morning he summoned him into his presence to receive his dismissal.

"Jimmy," said the General, "I hear bad stories about you. It is said that you are constantly drunk and uncivil to the visitors."

"General, be bad, I hear much worse stories about you, but do I believe them? No by the powers; I know they are lies."

The sick man requested a sermon. Mr. D. started with surprise, and desired to know the reason why. The sick invalid answered, "I never heard you preach but three or four times, and then invariably I fell asleep; so I thought that a short discourse might enable me to take a nap—which I much need not having, slept for several nights."
