PRACTICAL FARMING.

From the Germantown Telegraph.

WARM BARNS.

Now is the time to see to it.

We find in a late number of the Albany Cultivator, an article on this subject; and as the cold season is now approaching, and there may be still ample time left to prepare for it, we hope that the hint thrown out and argued with so much force and sustained by so many facts, will be duly considered by all the readers of the Telegraph, who may not be provided as carefully as they should in the particulars referred to by this correspondent.

WARM BARNS.

Somuch has been said upon the necessity of keeping cattle warm in winter, that it might be supposed that every farmer would have his barn warm and comfortable; but as we call upon the neighboring farmers, we find many of their barns quite open, exposing their cattle to the wind and drifting snow. Many, doubtless, do not know how much more it costs to winter cattle in a cold barn than in a warm one, and that, at best, they cannot be made to thrive so well upon the same quantity of food. The animal body acts as a furnace which must be supplied with fuel, and the greater the exposure to cold, the more fuel there must be to keep up the heat.

Captain Parry, when wintering in frigid regions, found that his men lost their appetite for light food, ate clear butter and grease with a keen relish, and without the slightest inconvenience, and that their health and comfort required these articles of food in proportion as they were exposed to the rigor of the climate. Warmly clad travellers have found to their great surprise, that the men in some of the northern tribes, who wear little clothing, will consume ten pounds of flesh, besides eating as freely of tallow candles as we do of apples. So it appears, that shelter and clothing, to a certain extent, answer the purpose of food. If we apply this principle to the wintering of stock, it is obvious a great saving may be made in hay. The cattle in the barn are so many furnaces that must be kept heated. If the surrounding medium is cold, there must be more fuel, or the cattle's flesh will be consumed to keep up the heat. The farmer, then, who has twenty tons of hay in a cold barn, may save at least one-tenth of it by expending a small sum in making his stables warm; and this saving he may make every year he fills his barn, besides having his cattle in a much better condition in the spring.

Farmers frequently buy hay in backward springs, paying high prices, when if they had expended one-half of the money paid for the hay in fixing up their stables, they would have saved buying any hay, besides have their stables warm for future use. So the objections farmers sometimes make to repairing their barns—that they are poor and in dobt,—is the very reason why they should repair them. If they are paying six per cent, interest on their stock, they can ill afford to lose twice as much more in keeping it. Cold barns will make a farmer poor, as well as his cattle. A merchant or a machanic would grow poor fast enough if he wasted ten per cent, of his stock. No wonder, then, that farmers grow poor who waste often more than ten per cent, of all their hay, by keeping their cattle in cold, open barns. The farmer had better sell a ton or two of hay, (if he cannot do it without,) and get some money to make his barn warm.

We have seen cold stables made quite comfortable by boarding them up on the inside, three or four inches from the outside boards, and filling the intermediate space with straw. The front side of the stable should also be boarded up, leaving a space open to feed the cattle, which may be kept open or closed, according to the temperature of the weather. This is a cheap method for those who cannot build new barns or make thorough repairs upon old ones and it is only necessary to have it accomplished, that the farmer should go about it. It may be done at any season of the year in fair weather or foul. Farmers, in what manner can you more profitably invest a few dollars? You have perhaps, a warm kitchen, and find it much less expensive providing fuel for it than a cold one, besides being much more comfortable for your family. You will find there is much economy in having a warm barn, as having a warm kitchen; and although the comfort of your cattle is not to be compared with that of your family, yet it should not be forgotten. Could the dumb brutes speak they would tell many sad tales of suffering,—yes, and they would argue, too, more feelingly than ever a stump speaker could, in favor of protection.

JOHN TUFTS

Wardsboro', Vt., Nov., 1849.

Signs of a Poor Farmer.

He grasses his mowing land late in the spring. Some of his cows are much past their prime. He neglects to keep the dung and ground from the sills of his building. He sows and plants his land till it is exhausted before he thinks of manureing. He keeps too much stock, and many of them unruly. He has a place for nothig, and nothing in its place. If he wants a chisel or a hammer he cannot find it. He seldom does anything in stormy weather or in an evening. You will often hear of his being in the bar-room talking of hard times. Although he has been on a piece of land twenty years, ask him for grafted apples, and he will tell you he cannot raise them, for he never had any. His indolence and carlessness has many accidents. He loses the use of a hoop. His plough is not ready to get in his seed in time; was not housed; and in the fall at work on a distant piece, hogs break into the corn, and he will repair in the fence. He always feels in a hurry, yet in his busiest day he will stand and talk till he has wearied your patience. He is seldom neat in his person, and generally late to public worship. His children are late to school, and their books torn and dirty. He has no enterprise, and is sure to have no money, or if he must have it make great sacrifices to get it, and he is slack in his payments and altogether on credit; he purchases everything at a dear rate. You will see the smoke out of his chimney long after daylight in winter.—His horse stable is not daily cleansed, nor his horse curried. Boards, shingles, and clapboards are to be seen off his buildings month after month, without being replaced, and his windows are full of rags. He feeds his hogs and horses with whole grain. If the lambs die, or the wool comes off his sheep, he does not think it for want of care or food. He is a great borrower, and seldom returns the thing borrowed.—He is a poor husband, a poor father, a poor neighbor, a poor citizen, and a poor christian.

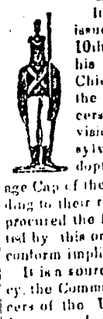
Division Orders No. 2.

Head Quarters 14th Division Uniformed Militia of Pennsylvania.
LEWISTOWN, October 19, 1849.



In accordance with General Orders, issued by the Adjutant General, dated 10th October, 1849, and approved by his Excellency, the Commander-in Chief, the 11th day of October, 1849, the General and Staff Officers and officers of the Line, of the Fourteenth Division of the Uniformed Militia of Pennsylvania, are hereby instructed to adopt the undress Frock Coat and Forage Cap of the Army of the United States, according to their respective rank. Officers who have procured the full dress Uniform will not be effected by this order, but all others are required to conform implicitly thereto

It is a source of gratification that His Excellency, the Commander in chief, has relieved the officers of the Uniformed Militia of Pennsylvania from a useless and burdensome expense, and adopted a Uniform convenient and becoming, and in strict accordance with the simplicity of our republican institutions.

R. C. HALE,
Major General 14th Div. U. M. of Penn.

M'Allister's Ointment.

FROM THE "READING EAGLE."—There was never, perhaps, a Medicine brought before the public, that has in so short time won such a reputation as M'ALLISTER'S ALL-HEALING OR WORLD SALVE. Almost every person that has made trial of it, speaks warmly in its praise. One has been cured of it, on the most painful Rheumatism; another of the Piles, a third of a trouble some pain in the side, a fourth of a swelling in the limbs, &c., &c. It does not give immediate relief, in every case, it can do no injury, being applied outwardly. As more evidence of the wonderful healing power possessed by this salve, we subjoin the following Certificate, from a respectable citizen of Maidencreek township, in this county:

MAIDENCREEK, Berks co., March 30, 1847

Messrs. Ruhr & Co.—I desire to inform you that I was entirely cured of a severe pain in the back, by the use of M'Allister's All-Healing Salve, which I purchased from you. I suffered with it for about 20 years, and at night was unable to sleep. During that time I tried various remedies, which were prescribed for me by physicians and other persons, without receiving any relief, and at last made trial of this Salve, with a result favorable beyond expectation. I am now entirely free from the pain, sleep at night a peaceful and sweet sleep. I have also used the Salve since for headache and other complaints, with similar happy results. Your friend,

JOHN HOLDENBACH

Among the Best are Directions for using M'Allister's Ointment, for Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Erysipelas, Tetter, Chilblains, Scald Head Sore Eyes, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Nervous Affections, Pains, Disease of the Spine, Head Ache, Asthma, Dentures, Tar Acke, Burns Corns, all Diseases of the Skin, Sore Lips, Pimples, &c., Stiffness of the joints, Swelling of the Limbs, Sores, Rheumatism, Piles, Cold Feet, Croup, Swelled or Broken Breast Tooth Ache, Ague in the Face &c. &c.

☞ The Ointment is good for any part of the body or limbs when inflamed In some cases it should be applied often

This splendid volume comprises within itself a complete Library of Useful and Entertaining Knowledge, condensed in form, familiar in style, copious in information, embracing an extensive range of subjects. The engravings (over 200 in number) are strictly illustrative, being representations of actual Scenery Costumes, Manners, Monuments &c. &c.

☞ On examination the above work will be pronounced by every intelligent person under whose observation it may come as one of the most available presents for a father to present to his family, as regards both the quality and number of its embellishments and the pure character of its contents. In preparing every article for its pages the greatest caution has been used to admit nothing but of an improving and instructive character.

To men of enterprise and tact this work alone offers an opportunity for profitable employment seldom to be met with. There is not a town in the Union where a right, honest and well-disposed person can fail selling from 50 to 200 volumes, according to the population

All persons wishing ample opportunity for examining or procure subscribers with, can receive 1 or more, substantially bound in paper covers*—the postage not exceeding 30 cents on each volume to forwarded—on the receipt of ONE DOLLAR In this way, no matter where a person resides, if only within the reach of a Post Office he can obtain a copy of the FAMILY ANNUAL.

PROSPECTUS OF THE REPUBLIC.

The undersigned will, on the 13th day of June, 1849, begin the publication in the City of Washington, of a daily Whig Administration paper, to be called "THE REPUBLIC," the editorial supervision of which will be committed to the exclusive care of Alexander C. Bullitt and John O. Sargent.

The Republic will give to the principles upon which the administration of General Taylor came into power, a cordial, zealous and constant support. It will be a faithful record of the times; it will discuss public measures in an impartial and independent spirit, it will be a vehicle of the latest and most authentic information; it will be, in a word, a political newspaper, devoted to the liberalizing and progressive doctrines which prevailed in the late Presidential canvass; to the interests of labor, as developed in the wants of agriculture, commerce and manufactures, and to the cause of literature, science, and general intelligence.

The Republic will acknowledge no allegiance except to the country. It will aim to merit the confidence and support of the American people. It will be the organ of no person, or party, or fraction of a party, in that compulsory sense which would hinder it from speaking boldly and candidly to the people about whatever it concerns them to know.

The Republic will be printed upon a double royal sheet, in a new, large, clear, readable type.

Besides the Daily paper, there will be published a Tri-weekly and Weekly Republic, made up of the most interesting & important matter of the Daily issue.

Terms:

For the Daily Republic,	$10 00
For the Tri-Weekly,	6 00
For the Weekly,	2 00

To Postmasters.—Any Postmaster who will transmit us $10 shall have six copies of the Weekly Republic sent to such persons as he may direct, and $15 will entitle the Postmaster to three copies of the Tri-Weekly paper.

No paper will be sent unless the order is accompanied by the money.

All communications upon business must be addressed to GIDEON & CO.,
