

THE DOLLAR.

Clearfield, Pa., July 19, 1850. The Harvest.—Our farmers are just now engaged in gathering a rich harvest. The present crops of wheat and rye are the best we have ever had in the county.

The New Order of things at Washington. By the death of President Taylor, the Vice-President, MILLARD FILMORE, will be the President of the United States for the balance of the term for which General Taylor was elected.

Win. R. King, U. S. Senator from Alabama, was unanimously elected Vice-President and President of the Senate, in the room of Mr. Fillmore. The members of the Cabinet of the late President all sent in their resignations on Tuesday night.

MON. ALFRED GILMORE. The Blairsville Apalachian of last week, one of the abolition organs of Indiana county, takes exception to our remarks with respect to this gentleman, and asserts that if a candidate for re-election in this district he will be defeated. We must correct the Apalachian. We said nothing about Mr. Gilmore's success, or popularity, except in the ranks of his own party.

A Brief Biography. We reproduce, from a biography published in 1848, the following sketch of the new President of the United States: HON. MILLARD FILMORE, Vice President of the United States, was born in Sumner Hill, Cayuga County, New York, January 7th, 1800.

The Course of President Filmore. Much speculation is afloat as to the course President Filmore will take on the slavery question. The late President, or at least his cabinet, were opposed to the plan of compromise reported by the Committee of Thirteen, of which Mr. Clay was chairman, and used all their influence to defeat it—in which, it is thought, they would have succeeded.

ATTEND TO YOUR TEETH.—Those whose teeth need attending to, are directed to the office of Dr. Jas. Lock, in another column. For the Dollar. MR. EDITOR:—By inserting the following tables you will give much relief to the minds of some of our federal friends in this country, as they have been laboring under fearful apprehensions least the Tariff of '46 should induce us to purchase so many articles from Great Britain as would drain our country of its gold and silver.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Includes 'export to England and her dependencies', 'Imported during same period', 'Showing a balance in favor of U. S.', 'Exports to England in the year 1849', 'Imports during same period', 'Bal. in favor of U. S.', 'FAIR PLAY.'

The President's Death. The President of the United States has just breathed his last. The chamber in which he died is filled with an anxious and sympathizing crowd. How often shall we have to exclaim, in the memorable words of Edmund Burke, "What shadows we are, and what shadows we pursue!"

The Remains of President Taylor.—The remains of the late President Taylor were deposited in State, in the east room, this afternoon, upon a magnificent catafalque of black velvet, trimmed with white satin and silver lace. The body was encased in a leaden coffin, enclosed in one of mahogany, with silver decorations.

Actions Abroad in regard to his Death.—At Concord, N. H., the legislature was in session when the news of the President's death arrived. A resolution, praising his abilities as a soldier, and his integrity as a man, was adopted. A resolution to adjourn was unanimously adopted.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—A Union caucus, of members of Congress of all parties favorable to the Union was held to-day. The South agreed to the line of 34 deg. N. latitude, as the boundary of New Mexico; all below that line to go to Texas.

Distance across the Ocean.—From New York to Liverpool direct, three thousand and eighty-two miles. From Boston to Liverpool, via Halifax, two thousand eight hundred and forty-nine miles. The trials of speed between the English and American steamers, just now, make it important to remember that the last named route is the shortest by two hundred and thirty-five miles.

sunrise to sunset. The officers of the army will also wear the badge of mourning on their left arms and swords, and the colors of the several regiments will be put in mourning for a period of six months. Similar orders have been issued in the Navy.

The monster memorial from the city of New York in favor of the compromise bill before the United States Senate, has 25,000 signatures. NOW, that the season for planting and sowing is advancing, we cannot do better than to advise our citizens the importance of guarding against the necessary exposures to the change in the weather.

MARRIED.—On Thursday, the 11th inst., by Benj. F. Sterling, Mr. SILAS G. STUART to Miss HENRIETTA PASSMORE; both of Penn township. We understand the deceased was east of the mountains with his team, and that on his way home he was attacked with a return of a disease (Hornu) of many years standing.
