Message of the President,

To the Senate of the United States : In answer to the inquiry of the Senate. contained in their resolution of the 17th. inst., whether in my "judgment, any circumstances connected with, or growing out of, the foreign relations of this country, require at this time an increase of our payal or military force;" and, if so, ' what those circumstances are.' I have to exdemands auch increase.

in my annual message of the 2nd of De comber last, I recommended to the favorable consideration of Congress an increase of our naval force, especially of our steam navy, and the raising of an adequate military force to guard and protect such of our citizens as might think proper to emigrate to Oregon. Since that period I have seen no real cause to recall or modify these re-Commendations. On the contrary reasons exist, which in my judgment, render it proper not only that they should be prompt-Ty carried into effect, but that an addition- al provision should be made for the public defence.

The consideration of such additional provision was brought before the appropriate committees of the two houses of Congress in answer to calls made by them, in reports prepared by my sanction, by the Secretary of War, and the Secretary of the Navy, on the 29th of December and is indulged that when it comes to the British naval commander on that station the 8th of January last; a mode of commu- pinch, Mr. Slidell will consent to remain that he found difficulty in convincing the ed on warrant to Wheeland Howell, bounnication with Congress not unusual, and, under existing circumstances, believed to be most eligible. Subsequent eyents have confirmed me in the opinion that those recommendations were proper as precautionary measures.

It was a wise maxim of the Father of his country, that " to be prepared for war is the most efficient means of preserving longing to the Gull squadron. One Britpeace," and that, " avoiding occasions of expense by cultivating peace;" we should er remember also, that timely disburse ments to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it." Under this suddenly involved in hostilitities for the proved by the Administration, maintenance of our just rights without any sdequate preparation, our responsibility trust it may, the additional charge upon the treasury in making the necessary preparations will not be lost : while in the event of such collision they would be indispensable for the maintenance of our national rights and national honour.

I have seen no reason to change or mod ify the recommendations of my annual message in regard to the Oregon question. The notice to abrogate the treaty of the 6th of August, 1827, is authorized by the treaty itself, and cannot be regarded as a warlike measure ; and I cannot withhold my afrong conviction that it should be promptly given. The other recommendations are in conformity with the existing treaty, and would afford to American citizens in Oregon no more than the same measure of protection which has long since been extended to British subjects in that territory.

The state of our relations with Mexico is still in an unsettled condition. Since of new rulers. This event has procrastinated, and may possibly defeat, the settle-
