

FROM EUROPE.
ARRIVAL OF THE GREAT WESTERN BREAD STUFFS ADVANCING.

The Great Western steamship arrived at New York yesterday, about ten o'clock, from Liverpool the 12th September, and her news was immediately telegraphed to this city. The ship experienced tremendous gales, lost her wheel house, quarter boats, ice house, and suffered much other damage, but at no time was in danger. By this arrival we have our files of London papers to the 11th, and Liverpool to the 12th inst.

There is no political news of importance. The markets, for all descriptions of American produce, were advancing. The news from India is of rather unexpected interest. The victories which the British army achieved on the banks of the Sutlej, have not resulted in that amicable arrangement and profitable settlement which was hoped for, and prematurely boasted of. Ghoorlah Singh finds himself beset by pecuniary difficulties. He either cannot, or is unwilling to pay his debts. All such emergencies in India are the first development, and resistance of the British claims the next; consequently the war will have to be renewed in the Punjab and the Province of Lahore, and the territory conditionally assigned to Ghoorlah Singh re-possessed and attached to the British territory. The ravages of the cholera have diminished in Scinde, and it appears they have been exaggerated.

The whole intelligence from India is calculated to produce a feeling of uneasiness, in a political as well as in a commercial sense. Sir Henry Hardinge, it seems now to be universally admitted, notwithstanding his skill and bravery, evinced in the war with the Sikhs, has made a bungling business of it, and in all probability the work will have to be done over again. Mistaken clemency in the case of semi-barbarians is oftentimes positive cruelty. The failure of the potato crop is universal. The reports from every part of the United Kingdom are appalling—wilted letter after letter, from the continent of Europe, details the ravages of which this strange and unaccountable disease has made in France, Belgium, Holland and Prussia. The grain crops in the United Kingdom are not more than an average, either in quantity or quality; we must, therefore, look to other countries for a supply sufficient for the large and increasing consumption that is now going forward. Again the accounts from France, as to the harvest in that country, are most distressing. A very large quantity of wheat will, therefore, be required for its immediate wants. All over the north of Europe, rye, the staple article of consumption, has yielded miserably short.

LONDON.—There is very little Indian corn in the London trade, and the immense extent of the orders from Ireland, renders improbable any importations to England.

THE MEXICANS.
A correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune, writing from Camargo, says: "I have been walking about town this evening, looking at the Mexicans as they were doing up their chores for the night. A little back from the plaza, the streets were filled with herds of goats and sheep. They herd these two useful animals together, and they seem so much attached to each other, that separating the sheep from the goats would be as hard work in Mexico as drawing a correct dividing line between the Indian and Castilian races. These Mexicans are a primitive people in their habits. They plough their fields with crooked sticks drawn by oxen, with sticks for yokes, lashed to their horns. They grind their corn and mix their dough both in one operation, the only instance in which they go ahead of the Americans, and bake and eat it all at one sitting. The idea of sitting down before a dish of whole corn, and carrying away a portion of it in my stomach, on rising, was novel to me, but I have frequently done it here. At sundown the women turn out with their earthen jars, to bring drinking water from the river, and the streets are filled with them. I'm told by some of my bachelor friends, on whose case I can rely, that there is always a right smart sprinkling of pretty feet and ankles displayed on such occasions, but not being a judge of such matters, my attention is always directed to the jars, which are primitive enough, and remind me of the woman mentioned in sacred history—of Rebecca, &c. From sunrise until 10 o'clock in the morning the water's edge is lined with females washing clothes. About 8 o'clock, A. M., the water contains a great many of them of all ages, bathing."

USEFUL PROVERBS.
Accusing is proving, where malice and power sit judges.
A crowd is not company.

Worth begets in base minds envy; in great minds emulation.
Where honor ceases, knowledge decreases.

Worth hath been under-rated ever since wealth was over valued.
When you have no observers be afraid of yourself.
Trust not a horse's heel nor a dog's tooth.

Two cats and a mouse, two wives in one house, two dogs and a bone, never agree in one.
Two things a man should never be angry at—what he can help, and what he cannot help.

Time is a file that wears and makes no noise.
Saying and doing are two things. Say well is good, but do will is better.
Send not for an hatchet to break open an egg with.

Shallow waters make most noise.
Some are wise and some are otherwise. Sorrow and an evil life make soon an old wife.

That which will not make a pot, may make a pot-lid.

That is but an empty purse that is full of other folks' money.
When sorrow is asleep wake it not.
Trust not the praise of a friend, nor the contempt of an enemy.
The pleasures of the great are the tears of the poor.

A liar is a bravo towards God, and a coward towards men.
A promise against law or duty is void in its own nature.
Advice to the Ladies.—Always dress as neatly and plain as possible—let Flora be your jeweler and the rosebud the only gem about you. This covering yourself with gewgaws, like fat cattle, only indicates that you are intended like them for market.

NEW PROSPECTUS, 1846.

The Saturday Evening Post ; Formerly the U. States Saturday Post.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.

The publishers of the Saturday Evening Post offer a new prospectus to their friends and the public. In this day of newspaper enterprise they are determined to maintain their old reputation, & keep ahead of all competitors. For a quarter of a century the Post has been the most durably popular of the weekly newspapers; and if capital, enterprise, and a host of writers, can effect their aim, the publishers are resolved that the Post shall still lead the field.

A Prospectus MAGAZINE. Owing to the large size of the paper we are enabled, to publish weekly, as much matter as is contained in any one number of the monthly magazines; so that, for less money, the subscriber yearly obtains four times as much reading—besides this, numerous illustrations, engraved by competent artists, will hereafter, grace our columns, rendering the Post, in all respects equal, and in many respects superior to the best magazines.

ORIGINAL TALES. Every week one or more original tales of the first American writers, grace the columns of this paper. We cherish the common practice of copying stories from foreign magazines, except in rare instances—pictures of American life, and the romance of American history, told by competent American writers, are what the readers of this paper require. Our aim, however, shall not be confined as well as a pleasant comparison. It will have a thorough NEWS DEPARTMENT, which shall contain the latest intelligence, comprising a Washington Letter, News from New York, General News, Foreign News, Monthly Letters from England, &c. Together with reports of important Congressional debates. Also reports of such of the public Lectures, for which Philadelphia is famous, as may interest our readers, as well as all that is interesting in the world.

AGRICULTURAL. As many farmers do not take an Agricultural Paper, it shall hereafter be a part of our plan to give full and late intelligence on Agricultural matters—viz. New discoveries, new manures, complete, full and accurate reports of the markets will be found in every number.

LADIES DEPARTMENT. The great size of our sheet enables, not only to be a Family Paper, but to devote some space especially, each week, to the Ladies Department, in which all matters interesting to the sex will be noticed, including the Fashion, new Receipts, &c.

JUVENILE DEPARTMENT. A department, under this head, will be devoted to enigmas, Charades, riddles, puzzles, arithmetical questions, and other like matters, interesting to adults as well as to the young.

LETTERS FROM EUROPE. A series of letters from J. Bayard Taylor, the premier poet, now on a peddling tour through Europe, are being published in the Post. These letters have attracted great attention, and are said to be the best since the celebrated letters of Floods.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE. We recognize only one party, and that is OUR COUNTRY, OUR WHOLE COUNTRY. We know no sectional interests in our patriotism, no party views in our politics, no sectarianism in our religion.

EARLIEST AND BEST. As it is important to have the latest news, our columns will always be found the freshest in this respect of any contemporary. In literature, also, we shall possess great facilities for giving novelties.

HUMOROUS ARTICLES. A good laugh is better than a pound of medicine; and the Post will give original humorous sketches, a weekly mélange of fun, choice scraps of humor, witticisms, &c. Our dish will always be a merry one, let the world swing as it may. In a word, we shall still remain THE FRIENDLY FRIEND; a paper indispensable to country readers, in consequence of its Original Tales and Sketches; Original Verse and Essays; History and Statistics; Biographical and Literary Notices; Science and Revolutions; Anecdotes; Moral Tales and Tracts of Life; Original Comments on Notables. Those who have not subscribed for this paper will find that the terms are as cheap as the matter is interesting.

TERMS. 1 Copy, $2 1/8 Cents, 30 Cents, 3 Copies, 1 1/2 Cents, 12 Copies, 10 Cents. The money must always be sent in advance, free of postage.
