WILL NOBODY MARRY ME?

Heigh-ho! for a husband!—heigh-ho! There's danger in longer delay!— Shall I never again have a beau? Will nobody marry me, pray? I begin to feel strange, I declare! With beauty my prospects will fade! I'd give myself up to despair, If I thought I should die an old maid!

AUTUMN.

BY MAY EVERTON.

The approach of Autumn, while it is hailed by many with pleasurable emotions, to others, perchance of more reflective minds, it is viewed as

"The melancholy days, the saddest of the year." Though the woodland is decked in beauty, it is a beauty too bright to last, too gorgeous to endure; like the hetic on the cheek of the consumptive, its brightness betokens dissolution, and the lustre of the eye, like that of the leaf, will soon be dim forever.

And nature seems to clothe herself savorily in such gay garments—fearing we should too much lament the departure of her lighter sister, summer. Well grounded are her fears, for every wind which fans the forest glades, is but a wail for the loss of many departed joys. The noon-day heat was oppressive, but it was rendered less so, when came still evening on, and fair Luna commenced her unfeeling and silvery course in the blue empyrean, shedding diamond like brightness on the dew drops which glistened on myriads of living shrubs and flowers, giving perfume and beauty to the sense and sight; while the night wind stirred the young and dancing leaves into sweet music.

Can we but mourn that these joys are past? that these hours come not again?— Can we but view their departure, and the approach of a sadder season, as a cloud over our sunny path? Know we not that every spot of ground on which the fitful gales are now strewing the withered leaves, are graves of all our hopes, and that the vast face of Nature is a charnal house, enshrouding the Past, and causing her marble walls to close up from us relics of ourselves, of all we held dear—joys, hopes, memories, friends, who shared these bright, tho' fleeting hours. They, too, are prostrate as the fallen leaf; the winds are waiting their requiem; these gorgeous vestments are their pall, while the passing storm mingles its tears with ours, which fall over their early grave. And the forest, though adorned like an Eastern queen for a birth night festival, will soon be stripped of her radiant attire, which shall lie low in the dust, the common resting place of the proud & lowly, the breezes of heaven shall wait them on the whirlwind, unmindful of their former glory. They shall be succeeded by a race verdant, and as beautiful as those which preceded them; the birds will warble in the branches again, and build their nests in the boughs; they will afford their shade to the wearied, their fruit to the hungry.— So is man; he passeth away, and is forgotten, and is even as the leaf which perisheth. What, then, is the beauty of the face of Nature, the blandness of the invigorating breezes of Autumn?

We see the husbandman gather in the fruition of his year's hopes; the ground covered with the perfected fruits of Summer; the Swallow seeks a genial climate; all the birds of the air and boasts of the field, are aware of, and prepare for the coming of a sterner season. Does not this portend the end of all things, and as the completion of vegetable and physical being? Should not our spirits, with the swallow, seek a home far away from the cold of Winter, and storms and tempests, and changes incident to this state of being, and soar where there will be a perpetual Summer?

In the little town of L—, on the Susquehanna, is located a barber, whose delicacy of touch, and lightness of hand, is a bout equal to the operations of a hewer of the logs, or the force of a carrier's knife on Spanish kipp. When the river is high, the Yankee raftsmen, who throng the place, flock into his shop by the dozen and score, to enjoy the luxury of a scientific shave, and he generally 'does' the whole party with the same razor, without one intermediate pass upon the stop.— One of his victims a long, lank-visaged specimen of a brother Jonathan, stepped into the adjoining bar room one day, after his countenance had been elaborately 'grubbed,' and drew the palm of his hand down one side of his face, and found it covered with blood, he then served the other cheek the same way with the other hand, with a similar result. He gazed a moment upon the sanguinary spectacle with a woe-fraught expression of helpless resignation; and then followed a bitter malediction, with the exclamation, 'Well, if you call this shaving, it was done very easy, but if you call it shaving, it was the wickedest operation I ever went through!'

FARMER'S CALENDAR; INDIAN CORN.

It is an error to plant seed from States further south. In a cold season only the seed of a colder climate will ripen well. Often breaking up a surface keeps a soil in health; for when it lies in a hard bound state, enriching showers run off, and the salutious air cannot enter.

Weeds exhaust the strength of the land, and if suffered to grow may be called garden sins.

The hand and the hoe are the instruments for eradicating weeds; yet, if there is room between the rows for the spade, it is well to use it.

Never keep your cattle short; few farmers can afford it. If you starve them they will starve you.

It would not do to hoe a great field for a little crop, or to mow twenty acres for five loads of hay. Enrich the land and it will pay you for it. Better farm twenty acres well than forty acres by halves.

Drive your business before you and it will go easy.

In dry pastures dig for water on the brow of a hill; springs are more frequently near the surface on a height than in a vale.

Rain is cash to a farmer. The foot of the owner is the best manure for land.

Cut bushes that you wish to destroy in the summer, and with a sharp instrument; they will bleed freely and die.

Sow clover deep; it secures it against the drought.

Never plough in bad weather, or when the ground is very wet.

It is better to cut grain just before it is fully or dead ripe. When the straw immediately below the grain is so dry that on twisting it no juice is pressed out, it should be cut, for then there is no further circulation of juices to the ear. Every hour that it stands uncut after this stage is attended with loss.

Accounts should be kept detailing the expenses and product of each field.

When an implement is no longer wanted for the season, lay it carefully aside, but let it first be well cleaned.

Obtain good seed, prepare your ground well, sow early, and pay very little attention to the moon.

Cultivate your own heart right, remember that "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Do not begin farming by building an expensive house, nor erecting a spacious barn till you have something to store in it. Avoid a low and damp site for a dwelling house. Build sufficiently distant from your barn and stock yard to avoid accidents by fire.

Keep notes of all remarkable occurrences of your farm. Recording even your errors will be of benefit.

Good fences make good neighbors.

Experiments are highly commendable, but do not become an habitual experiment.

The depredations of birds are fully compensated by the services they render in picking up worms.—Western Farmer.

A jolly son of the Emerald Isle, with his bundle and stick on his shoulder, "hove to" one evening at a hotel in a well known town on the Juniata, and at once introduced himself to the landlord.

"Long life to you, Mister Turner.— They told me ye's a kind hearted man, and keeps a first rate house, and that ye's a generous man and clever to strangers, and if ye's agreed, I'll be after stayin' with ye's till to-morrow."

"Certainly," said the landlord, and he took charge of his bundle, and gave him the best house afforded. After breakfast our Irishman called for his bundle, and said he believed he'd be after starting.

"But your bill isn't paid yet," said mine host.

"Sure enough, Mister Turner," replied our hero, as if just recollecting himself; "but I haven't no money, and I just thought maybe you wouldn't charge me for the bite of victuals."

"But why didn't you tell me last night that you had no money?"

"Faith, an' I'm sorry to tell ye's this mornin'!"

It is needless to add that he at once went scot free.

WAR! WAR!! Not with Mexico but with the old Tyrant RHEUMATISM.

DR. WM. P. HILLS, feeling much sympathy for those afflicted with Rheumatism, takes this method of inviting them to call at his office and get cured.— This method is almost new, and very simple, but will positively effect a cure on the most scientific principles. Rheumatism has long been a desideratum with physicians, and it is only of late that the true principle of cure has been discovered.

He would state, to all concerned, that he has already performed a number of cures, and can confidently assert that his is the only true method.

DR. OSBORN'S INDIAN VEGETABLE RESTORATIVE PILLS.

Prepared by Dr. George Bennett, of New York, and for sale by the annexed list of agents in Clearfield county.

THE unprecedented success that has attended the use of these pills in the practice of the proprietor for the last six or eight years, has induced him to yield to the importunities of many who have used and been benefited by them, and make arrangements to place them within the reach of the public generally. In doing so he feels called upon to say that the Indian Vegetable Restorative Pills is decidedly superior to any with which he is acquainted. They combine the properties of many of the best vegetable medicines, (used in no other pills) in such a manner as to afford not only immediate and temporary but permanent relief.

The valuable tonics which enter into their composition by their action upon the secretory organs hold in check the purgative principle and induce a gentle and natural operation without inconvenience or pain, and while they restore a natural and healthy action of the stomach, liver and bowels, they increase, instead of diminish, the strength of the patient.

They have been used as a family medicine for years by many of the first respectability—and although they are not recommended to "heal all the ills that flesh is heir to," yet it has been very rare that they have not been necessary for those using them to employ any other medicine, and their occasional use will almost invariably prove an effectual preventive to disease. They are exactly adapted to the use of families, travellers and seamen; they cleanse the blood, causing a free circulation—open obstructions and promote the secretion of healthy bile, and consequently are an excellent medicine for Nausea, Indigestion, Nervous Disorders, Dejection, Liver Complaint, pains in the Head, Side, and Breast, Costiveness, Loss of Appetite, Urinary obstructions, Ague and Fever, Bilious and Intermittent fevers, Dysentery, Rheumatism, Scrofula, and are eminently useful in all female complaints, and in one word, all diseases arising from unhealthy secretions and impurity of the blood. Numerous testimonials of their efficacy in particular cases, might be added, but the proprietor prefers presenting a few certificates of their general character, from persons of unquestionable candor and veracity, who would not in any degree lend their influence to promote any thing that is not of decided utility, and rely on their intrinsic merits to gain them a reputation, feeling a most perfect confidence that none will abandon their use who give them a fair trial.

The following letter from the Rev. George Bowers, with other certificates in the hands of the agents, will serve to show the efficacy of these pills:

ERK HORN, Wa. worth Co., Wisconsin.

DR. OSBORN.—With pleasure I inform you of the great benefits which I have derived from your pills. I have been in a decline for some time, which has greatly alarmed me, more especially as my complaint was a consumptive one, and also I have been very bilious, and have labored severely with pains in my head, and my eyes have been so affected as to turn of a yellow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexion. My wife had suffered also from great weakness and severe pains, and as your Pills have so wonderfully relieved us, we have sounded the name of them all over our neighborhood; they will certainly be ever regarded in this place, and will ever my extraordinary cure is known, as the most valuable preparation for purifying the blood and regulating the system. I should not have known the worth of your Pills had it not been for the Rev. Wm. F. Dawitt, of Cuddeville, Sullivan co., N. Y., who with great kindness sent me a box to try them, and to that box of Pills I owe my health, and as the agent here is out of your pills, I wish you would send me a package of boxes as soon as possible.— With yours truly, G. E. BOWERS.

DR. E. & W. F. IRWIN, Clearfield, John Irwin, Curwensville, James McMurtry, Birdsboro town-ship; G. W. & Annand, Luthersburg, and Levi Lutz, Frenchville, are Agents for the proprietor for the sale of the above medicine in Clearfield county. Nov. 25, '46—ly.

A NATURAL REMEDY,

Suited to the Human Constitution, and equal to the cure of every curable disease, will be found in

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills,

OF THE NORTH AMERICAN COLLEGE OF HEALTH.

These extraordinary Pills are composed of plants which grow spontaneously on our own soil, and are, therefore better adapted to our constitutions than Medicines concocted from foreign drugs, because every well they may be compounded; and, by WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS are founded upon the principle that the human body is in truth

SUBJECT TO BUT ONE DISEASE, namely, corrupt humors, and that said Medicine cures this disease on NATURAL PRINCIPLES.

By cleansing and purifying the body, it will be necessary that, if the constitution be not entirely exhausted, a perseverance in their use, according to directions, is absolutely certain to drive disease of every name from the body.

When we wish to restore a swamp or morass to fertility, we drain it of the superabundant water. In like manner, if we wish to restore the body to health, we must cleanse it of impurity.

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS will be found one of the best, if not the very best medicine in the world for carrying out this because they expel from the body all morbid and corrupt humor, the cause of the disease, in an easy and Natural Manner; and while they every day GIVE EASE AND PLEASURE, disease of every name is rapidly driven from the body.
