

POETRY.

From Neal's Saturday Gazette. THE CROSS.

O Holy Cross! where'er I turn— Devoutly turn and see The shame, the agony and scorn, My Lord endured on thee.

General Twiggs.

The following biographical sketch of the life of Brigadier General Twiggs, is taken from Neal's Gazette of the 25th December.

Brigadier General Twiggs, the hero of Cerro Gordo, is the fifth son of Gen. John Twiggs, of revolutionary memory, whose services in that stormy era in behalf of his native State, won him the name of the 'Saviour of Georgia.'

During the war he was retained on the southeastern frontier, where no opportunity was afforded for signal distinction. He fulfilled his duties, however, in so exemplary a manner that, on the declaration of peace, he was not only retained in the service, but brevetted a major.

Many years elapsed, during which the United States being at peace, no opportunity for distinction presented itself to Twiggs. But in the Black Hawk campaign, having in the meantime risen to the rank of lieutenant colonel, he served with great credit.

When Gen. Taylor was ordered to Corpus Christi, Col. Twiggs, at the head of two squadrons of dragoons, was detached to join him. Here a difficulty occurred between him and Worth, which led to the latter's resignation.

Worth claimed to command in Taylor's absence; but to this Twiggs would not consent. Worth, on his part, asserted that Taylor commanded in virtue of his brevet as Brigadier General. Twiggs denied this and asserted that Taylor commanded because he was the oldest colonel.

Col. Twiggs commanded the right wing of the army at Palo Alto. Though a Colonel of cavalry, he is unable to ride on horseback in consequence of physical inability; and accordingly on that day he drove about the field in a little open wagon.

appointed to one of the commissions. At Monterey, Gen. Twiggs had a division on the eastern side of the town, and it was under him that the most terrible fighting, that of the first day, occurred.

This apparently impregnable city surrendered; and now began that famous march to Mexico, which has had no parallel since the days of Cortez! On the 17th day of April the army arrived at the pass of Cerro Gordo, which was held by Santa Anna at the head of twenty thousand men.

At the battle of Contreras, Twiggs was accidentally not present, though the victory was won by the troops of his division, under Gen. Persifer F. Smith.

Gen. Twiggs is about six feet high, and stout in proportion. He has a fine, soldierly look, as his portrait shows. He is a strict disciplinarian, but affable, nevertheless.

RIGHTS.

There is nothing to which men adhere with such tenacity, as what they call rights; and in the sturdy pursuit of right—in thousands of instances, they sacrifice their interests.

THE FEMALE TEMPER.

No trait of character is more valuable in a female than the possession of a sweet temper. Home can never be made happy without it.

When honest industry raises a family to opulence and honor, its very original lowliness sheds lustre on its elevation; but all its glory fades when it has given a wound, and denies a balsam to man as humble and honest as your ancestor.

How sweet a thing is love of home. It is not acquired—it is a feeling that has its origin elsewhere. It is born with us, bro't from another world to carry us on with joy in this.

What a beautiful lesson is taught in these words of Sterne: "So quickly sometimes has the wheel turned round, that many a man has lived to enjoy the benefit of that charity, which his own piety projected and consummated."

There is more true charity in one kind tear that falls in private for the sorrows & sufferings of others, than in a thousand curries proudly ushered into the notice of the world, in all the pomp and parade of public contribution.

He that can please nobody is not so much to be pitied as he that nobody can please.

McAllister's Ointment.

Insensible Perspiration.

THIS OINTMENT HAS POWER to cause all EXTERNAL SORES, SCROFULOUS HUMORS, SKIN DISEASES, POISONOUS WOUNDS, to discharge their purulent matter and heal them.

It is rightly termed All-healing, for there is scarcely a disease, external or internal, that it will not benefit, I have used it for the last fourteen years for all diseases of the chest, consumption, liver, involving the utmost danger and responsibility, and I declare before heaven and man, that not in one single case has it failed to benefit, when the patient was within the reach of mortal means.
