

FOREIGN NEWS.

Arrival of the Acadia. From the Pennsylvania. Ireland and England Quiet—France in a Firm—Accepted Mediation of England and France in the Austrian Affair. Boston, Sept. 24, 1848. The steamship Acadia arrived at her berth this morning, at half-past five o'clock. The steamship United States left Cove for New York, on the 3d instant, with eighty passengers and a large cargo. She had proceeded on her voyage as far as the Sicily Islands, when an accident happened to her machinery, damaging her condenser. She was consequently forced to put back to Southampton, where a detention of four or five weeks will be necessary to put her in complete order for sailing. The Queen addressed Parliament from the throne on the 5th instant, and has since taken her departure for Scotland. Ireland continued in a state of tranquillity. FRANCE.—Lamartine has published a defence of himself against the charges brought forward. Gen. Cavaignac has been compelled to deny the intention of suppressing the Constitutionnel. The Journal and La Presse have resumed their fierce attacks upon the government. The latter wages war against the Republic in spite of Gen. Cavaignac's declaration that he would not allow the Republic to be impeached. The Bonapartists are moving both in Paris and the departments, with the view of electing Louis Bonaparte to the Presidency of the Republic. The local disturbances in the provinces continue. They arise principally from an extraordinary tax of 45 centimes imposed upon the people by the Provisional government. The Ottoman Government has recognized the French Republic. A letter from Turin, under date of the 2d instant, states that the Austrians having levied a contribution of four hundred thousand florins, (£32,000), on the city of Parma, payable in twenty-four hours, and the sum not being forthcoming at the designated time, the army, according to custom, commenced pillaging the city. The inhabitants, however, encouraged by the patriotic defence of the citizens of the town of Bologna, rang the tocsin, and flying to arms, a fearful battle commenced. Even the women and children took part in the defence of the city, throwing furniture and other missiles from the windows upon the heads of the Austrian troops. The population of the surrounding country were hurrying in to the assistance of the citizens. The result of the struggle has not been ascertained. Advice from Hamburg to the 6th instant, state that the Provisional Government of the Duchies of Schleswig and Holstein had refused to acknowledge the armistice concluded by Prussia in the name of the German confederation. The blockade of the Elb and Jasha had been raised since the 5th, and the Prussian ports on the Baltic have by this time become free. The latest advices from Paris, received by the London papers, announce the important intelligence that the French Government, on the 7th instant, received despatches from M. Arago, the French Minister at Berlin, announcing officially that Austria has accepted the mediation of France and England for the settlement of the Italian question. A serious quarrel had occurred between Generals Changarnier and Cavaignac, growing out of the detection of the National Guards, a small portion of each division only having appeared at the review on Sunday. A sharp correspondence between them had taken place. Ledru Rollin is about starting a new journal in opposition to La Reforme. ITALY.—Four thousand French troops are reported to have arrived at Venice. The accounts from Italy and Rome state that the whole country is in a disturbed and excited state. Tumults had occurred at Geno, Leghorn and Rome, which were suppressed with the greatest difficulty. MORAL INSTRUCTION.—My idea of the true method of moral instruction in a school is to secure, in the first place, a man of virtuous and well reasoned principles, for a teacher. His school should be a model of order; his requisitions all reasonable, and commended, by clear and weighty considerations, to the understanding and conscience of his pupil. A very short and simple prayer, or, if the teacher do not feel authorized to lead in prayer, a portion of scripture, read either by himself or the school, should open the exercise of the day. In the course of the day, some vice, or virtue, some principle of action, should be defined, and treated, in few words, but so as to fix attention and awaken thought in the members of the school. And, above all, should there be in the person of the master himself an example of the precepts he enjoins, and a hearty, earnest interest in the promotion of virtue, a sincere delight in noble character, a real passion for moral excellence, for generous, patriotic, honorable action. I cannot imagine, that such discipline should fail to commend itself to all right minded persons, or to encourage in our children right principles and virtuous habits. See every person's virtues and errors with a view of deriving profit from both—by imitating the one and avoiding the other.
