

...safely deposited in his portmanteau. When he had been informed of all the particulars relating to the murder of the deceased—and that he had left a widow and a large family of children steeped to the very lips in poverty and destitution—compassion arose powerfully in his bosom. Being wealthy, and having no family of his own, he constituted himself the guardian, protector and faithful friend of Pollock's bereaved and destitute family, and made them his heirs at his decease, which happened soon afterwards.

"I regret," said the speaker in conclusion, that I cannot give you the name of this generous and noble-spirited individual; but he, no doubt received his great reward beyond the grave."

After a short pause, I asked the speaker whether Mr. Lambert, the hero of his interesting narrative was still living?"

He replied—"Yes, sir; he is sitting on the chair next to your own!" and I took occasion to observe his appearance with much attention, that he might be deeply impressed on my memory.

GREAT ROBBERY.

Last night another great robbery of the Patent Office was committed. Some time during the night, between the hour of closing the rooms of the National Museum attached to the office, and seven o'clock this morning, when they were re-opened by the person in charge, the case containing several diamond snuff boxes, necklaces and other articles of value, which have been presented to officers of this Government and by them deposited here as the property of the nation, was broken open, and the following articles among others were taken away.

The small vases of attar of roses, and a finely mounted yataghan, presented by the Sultan of Muscat, and some other articles of a like valuable description; the scabbard of the sabre presented to Commodore Biddle by the Viceroy of Peru, mounted and adorned in a very magnificent manner, the gold snuff boxes mounted with diamonds presented by the Emperor of Russia and other foreign dignitaries to diplomatic agents of the United States; a magnificent pearl necklace, and a number of gold and silver medals, some of them valuable as containing likenesses of distinguished men. There may have been other things stolen, more valuable as national mementoes than any of these, but if so I have not heard them enumerated. The thieves probably managed to conceal one of their number, for several of them were undoubtedly confederated, in the room, yesterday afternoon, before it was locked up for the night, and finished their work at leisure between midnight and morning.

After the former robbery of jewels in this office, for greater safety these valuable things were enclosed in a small glass by themselves, which was placed within one of the small compartments, the sides of which consist of ashes and panes of thick glass, and a bell was so attached as to be made to ring near the door, where the attendant usually sits, if the inside case was disturbed. One of the panes of the outside case was found to have been broken, for it does not seem to have been cut, and the intervening pane of the smaller case inside appears to have been taken out. It is probable that the thief had thoroughly informed himself of all that was necessary to be done to insure the success of his enterprise, and that he commenced by removing this bell.

He left the inside of the most valuable snuff box, which I believe contained no diamonds, as well as the blade of Commodore Biddle's sabre. Having made up his pack of valuables, he left the premises by one of the front windows, letting himself down to the ground from a height of thirty-five feet by means of a rope. There are two watchmen whose duty it is to be about the building during the whole night, but they have made no report of the occurrence, though it must be said that if they saw nothing of these proceedings, their offices must be practically sinecures.

Bloody Tragedy in Arkansas.

A dreadful affray took place in Yellville, Marion county, Arkansas, on the 9th ult., in which three men were killed and several wounded. The Batesville Eagle of the 17th furnishes the following account of it:

The town of Yellville, in Marion county, was on last Monday week the scene of one of the most frightful and disgraceful recontres that we have ever known. We would premise, that for many years there has been waged, between the Tutts and their friends on the one part, and the Everetts and their friends on the other, a most deadly feud. The war between the Montagues and the Capulets did not begin to equal it. It seems that a man named Mooney, who belongs to the Everetts, was badly beaten some three or four weeks since; and that the Everetts and Mooney got up some kind of an agreement among themselves, by which they and their adherents formed themselves into a regulating party, and declared that the Kings, Shells, Williams, and Hampton Tutts must leave the county.

On Monday they all met at Yellville. Hampton Tutts had a stone there, and was prudent enough to keep out of the way. He knew that a row would be raised, and that they would, if possible, kill him. J. Turner, Esq., spoke there that day, and after the speaking, the two parties, armed to the teeth, had some words, and drew up in battle array—but the matter was quieted, and no outbreak took place. Towards evening, and when the people had pretty generally left for home, the fight commenced. A man by the name of Wadkins, of the Everett party, shot down Jack King. At the same time Sim Everett, fired at Sinclair, and missed him. Sinclair returned the shot, mortally wounding Everett. King's brother was shot at by Bartlett Everett, the ball grazing his shoulder; he, in turn, shot Bartlett Everett dead in his tracks. After Sim Everett was shot, he gathered a rock and pursued Sinclair; but finding King, who had been shot in the beginning of the fight, he turned on him, and mashed his skull in a shocking manner, and expired while in the act. King lived until morning—Wadkins was badly beaten. He was taken into custody, but made his escape that night. It is to be hoped that the people of Marion will unite in putting down these deeds of blood. We fear, however, that the matter is not at an end.

Taylor's majority in Pennsylvania will not be less than twelve thousand. We have no room for the figures this week, further than our own county is concerned.

Whig Thunder.

Our Whig friends had a glorious jubilee at Curwensville last night—at least we judge so from the loud and repeated reports of their cannon as its jarring sound came booming down the river. This is all right enough. But we hope that the spirited Democrats of glorious old Pike were carefully taking down notes, so as to be the better able to return the compliment three and four years hence with interest.

Latest Foreign News.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 28—10 A. M.

Ireland.—The Commission Court is now sitting in Dublin, and the County Grand Jury have returned a true bill against Mr. Gavan Duffy for "Treason & Felony," and every effort, whether fair or not, is to be used to convict and punish the great promoter of the Clubs.

A letter which we have received, dated Clonmel, Thursday evening, states that the State prisoners are well and in the enjoyment of good health. They are far from cast down, and feel that, although doomed to expatriation from their native soil, perhaps for life, they have not committed any crime that stains their character as upright, honest and conscientious men.

The speeches of O'Donoghue, McManus and Meagher have created a great sensation.

Our Clonmel correspondent, who watched the youthful and gifted orator, Meagher, as he proceeded from sentence to sentence, entrancing the whole Court, Judges, Bar, Jury & people, gives a glowing description of his finished eloquence.

The rescript against the Irish colleges has been published. John of Tuam has been successful, and the British Government completely frustrated in their endeavors to educate the middle classes. This is but a bad omen of the success of the attempt now in agitation to pension Irish Priesthood.

ENERGY.

One of the most remarkable instances of the success which attends well applied energy and perseverance, is exhibited in the case of Dr. David Jayne, of Philadelphia, with whose advertisements the readers of the Register are familiar. The Doctor, after spending many years of his life in practice and a careful investigation of the origin and character of diseases, applied himself to the preparation of remedies, and the excellence of his compounds is attested by the grateful thanks of thousands, who have proved the benefits of his skill and scientific knowledge. His are not mere quack nostrums, but preparations resulting from long and careful study, and as they serve, in an eminent degree, the good purposes for which they were intended, success has followed the proprietor's enterprise and labors. His establishment is now one of the largest in the United States, and besides furnishing every city, town, and township in the country with his invaluable medicines, he ships, annually, immense quantities to foreign lands.

In the prosecution of his plans for bringing his specific to the notice of the whole public, Doctor Jayne has issued a Family Almanac, containing certificates and testimonials of the highest character. We see it stated in the Commercial Telegraph, that "last year, one million of the Almanacs were published for 1848, and all distributed. This year, the demand for 1849 is so great, that two power presses, driven by steam, are running day and night, with a double set of hands, and unable to meet the demands of the public for the Almanacs. Indeed, Messrs. STAVELY & McCALLA, who do the press-work, have found it necessary, to meet the wants of the publisher, to obtain a third power press! Two millions and a half copies will be required for 1849, consuming from twelve to fifteen thousand reams of paper, and incurring an expense, at the very small rate of two cents each copy, and we cannot see how they can be furnished at so low a price—of fifty thousand dollars! This is wonderful, exhibiting, as it does, one of the most remarkable instances of enterprise on record.

But it must be remembered that this large sum, which is a fortune of itself, is entirely given away—the whole two millions and a half of Almanacs are gratuitously given to merchants, store keepers, families and individuals, with a view to their general gratuitous distribution throughout the United States.

REAL ESTATE For Rent.

THE subscriber, Guardian for the minor heirs of Samuel Haffner, dec'd, offers for rent the farm lately occupied by said dec'd in Bradford township, Clearfield county, containing 150 acres more or less, with about 70 acres under cultivation. There is on the place a good LOG DWELLING HOUSE, and a good log Barn, with a Spring of excellent water convenient to the house. Also—a good bearing Orchard, in a thrifty and flourishing condition. The above property will be leased for 5 or 6 years, and produce of the farm taken in payment of rent.

For further particulars, enquire of the subscriber, near the farm and 1 mile from Grahamton. ANGUS GILL, Bradford tp., Nov. 13, '48.

Democratic Banner.

CLEARFIELD, Pa. Nov. 15, 1848.

No paper was issued from this office last week. After the long fight, we felt pretty well worn out—and besides this, we felt no way anxious to herald our own defeat.

Taylor's majority in Pennsylvania will not be less than twelve thousand. We have no room for the figures this week, further than our own county is concerned.

Whig Thunder.

Our Whig friends had a glorious jubilee at Curwensville last night—at least we judge so from the loud and repeated reports of their cannon as its jarring sound came booming down the river. This is all right enough. But we hope that the spirited Democrats of glorious old Pike were carefully taking down notes, so as to be the better able to return the compliment three and four years hence with interest.

OUR PAPER.—Now that the excitement of the late political contest has passed off, we shall endeavor to make our paper more acceptable to the general reader.

We purpose making a proposition to the people of Clearfield county, and if successful, we have no doubt but that it would be equally advantageous to both parties.—It is, to furnish them with our paper at a rate not exceeding $1 12½ per copy—provided one thousand subscribers are procured. We shall issue proposals to this effect by the court, and if those citizens who are in favor of the general diffusion of useful knowledge among the people, will but exert themselves a little, that number can be easily raised.

The country will be free from political excitement now for at least two years, so that our paper will be as acceptable to one party as to the other.

THE RESULT.

It is our unpleasant duty this week to announce the election to the Presidency and Vice Presidency of the United States, for the next four years commencing on the 4th of March next, of ZACHARY TAYLOR and MILLARD FILLMORE, the nominees of the Whig National Convention.

This result was entirely unexpected to us, at least so far as Pennsylvania is concerned. Since the October election, we felt perfectly confident that the Democracy of Pennsylvania would be so fully aroused as to increase their vote far beyond the reach of the opposition. They have increased their vote, and perhaps quite as much as we expected. But at the same time we, lately believing that men could be sincere, and gave to Van Buren the vote of the Free Soilers, Abolitionists and Quakers. Here was our mistake. And who, pray, would have thought of any thing else? Who would believe that the Abolitionists would vote for the owner of 300 slaves? Or that our broad-brimmed Friends would vote for a man with his sword at his side and his army at his heels? Yet so it is. They saw their chance of licking the wicked Loco Focos, and flesh and blood could not resist the temptation. They have triumphed, and as good republicans, we will submit "to the powers that be."

What will be the effect of this singular result, time only can reveal. That there will be disappointments, heart burnings & regrets on the part of the heterogeneous factions who have just triumphed, are consequences that must naturally follow the elevation to the Presidency of any man whose principles are not clearly and distinctly marked out and understood.

Of this, however, we will doubtless hear enough hereafter. But we cannot close this brief article without reminding our fellow-citizens that the precedent here set may lead to the most lamentable consequences. We here have an instance of one of our oldest and brightest statesmen, whose long life has been spent in qualifying himself for the great duties pertaining to the office of President of the United States, defeated by a brilliant military chieftain, but a perfect novice in the science of civil government. This may be an example followed until we will enjoy but the remembrance of Republicanism.

That Gen. TAYLOR is a good friend to his country we never doubted, nor ever expressed a doubt—but the fact, without a shadow of precedent, of taking a man immediately from the camp—entirely unused to civil affairs—was what we confidently trusted, would induce a sufficient number of men, independent of party trammels, to vote for the experienced statesman and patriot, Gen. LEWIS CASS, to secure his certain election. We are disappointed. For a brief season, the administration of the National Government will be committed to strange hands. And having every confidence in the patriotism & firmness of Gen. TAYLOR, we will hope with confidence that he may be enabled to see aright, and conduct the affairs of the government to the honor and glory of himself and his country.

Our Glorious Little County.

Amidst the general gloom of a political defeat, the mind naturally goes on an exploring expedition in search of consolation. To the Democrat of Clearfield county, this consolation is found in the vote of our own county. Our majority in October was 481. This was looked upon as extraordinary, and was not claimed as a fair test of the strength of parties. But still, as compared with that very large majority, we have given Cass & Butler 407—or a bout 70 votes above that of '44, and 150 over that of '47. We have gained on our vote of October in nearly every township. Brady is the only exception. There we lose about 50. This added to the extraordinary vote in Penn township, where the Friends are said to have done such valiant services for their hero President, makes our entire loss. The Democrats of Penn deserve great credit for the manner in which they increased their vote against such odds. In October they polled 36 votes and gave a Democratic majority of 13; in November they polled 39 votes and were beat 7 votes.

But the Democrats of the Borough, Lawrence, Bradford, Morris, Goshen, Ferguson, Woodward, Karthaus, &c., where they so handsomely increased their vote and majorities, deserve especial praise.—It is only by such united and determined efforts that Democracy can successfully compete with the combinations of Federalism.

The General Result.

As far as ascertained, the following shows the result of the late Presidential election in the several States named:

For Cass.	For Taylor.
Maine,	9 Massachusetts,	12
New Hampshire,	6 Rhode Island,	4
Ohio,	23 Connecticut,	6
Michigan,	5 Vermont,	6
Indiana,	12 New York,	36
Illinois,	9 Pennsylvania,	26
Missouri,	7 New Jersey,	7
South Carolina,	9 Maryland,	8
Alabama,	9 Delaware,	3
Virginia,	17 Kentucky,	12
	Tennessee,	13
	North Carolina,	11
		144

The States to hear from are Iowa, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Arkansas, and Texas, which are supposed to have elected Cass and Butler electors—and Georgia, Louisiana and Florida, which are supposed to have elected Taylor electors; and as Taylor now lacks but two votes of a majority, he is elected beyond doubt.

Horrible Mystery.—On Monday, Oct. 23, a barrel was taken from the Mississippi river, at New Orleans, supposed to contain wine or liquor of some description, and on being opened, a frightful sight presented itself to the eyes of the spectators—the bodies of two white persons, covered with time, with no traces of the features remaining. It was conjectured that they were male and female, or perhaps two females; but the long hair on the skull of one of the exhumed victims, served as the only remaining clue to the discovery of the sex.—N. O. Mercury.

Small Pox generally begins with languor and weariness, chilliness and vomiting, soreness of the throat, great thirst, and many other unpleasant complaints.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills will be found the very best medicine in the world for the cure of Small Pox, because they cleanse the body from those poisonous humors which are the cause of small pox and other eruptive complaints. From three to six of said Indian Vegetable Pills, taken every night on going to bed, will in a short time make a perfect cure of the above dangerous complaint, and the blood and other fluids will be restored to a state of purity.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills also aid and improve digestion, and therefore give health and vigor to the whole frame.

Beware of Counterfeits and Imitations! Remember that the original and only genuine Indian Vegetable Pills have the signature of Wm. Wright written with a pen on the top label of each box.

MARRIED.—On the 20 inst. by the Rev. P. P. Lane GEORGE W. ELDER, Esq., of Bell township, to Miss EMILY H., daughter of B. Bonnell, Esq., of Brady township.

It is now rather late for congratulations—nevertheless our respects are hereby tendered to the above couple for their attention to "the law made and provided."

On the 9th inst., in Bradford township, by Rev. P. McEnally, Mr. SAMUEL CLARK PATCHEN to Miss HESTER GRAHAM, all of this county.

PLEASE READ AND CONSIDER.

But little comment is necessary upon a plain, unvarnished certificate like the following. Coming as it does from one of the most respectable and worthy citizens of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., it must carry conviction with it, more especially, when we consider the time that has elapsed without a return of the unpleasant symptoms—many of the certificates of the day being obtained after a few days' trial, when a momentary (perhaps imaginary) relief has been obtained, without any permanent benefit. (This certificate we obtain from a respectable member of the Society of Friends.)

VALUABLE TESTIMONY.

Poughkeepsie, March 15, 1847.

"This may certify that in the Spring of 1844, (three years since,) my health was very feeble. I was afflicted with pain in my left side, with other unpleasant symptoms, and suffered much from general debility. At that time I purchased of Moses Dams two bottles of THOMSON'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF TAR AND WOOD NUTS, from which I experienced great benefit, my health being now very good, and I cheerfully recommend the article to all persons who may be suffering from general debility, with symptoms of a decline."

Prepared and sold by AGNEW & DICKSON, N. E. corner of FIFTH and SPRUCE streets, Philadelphia.

Sold by A. M. HILL, Clearfield, Pa., and by Druggists generally. Price 50¢ or $1.00 per bottle.

ALMANACS! ALMANACS! ALMANACS!—DOCT. D. JAYNE

would respectfully inform the public that he publishes annually for gratuitous distribution, by himself and all his Agents, an Almanac, called

Jayne's Medical Almanac,

AND GUIDE TO HEALTH.

The calculations for this Almanac are made with great care and accuracy and for five different Latitudes and Longitudes, so as to make them equally useful as a Calendar in every part of the United States and British North America. They are printed on good paper and with handsome new type, and are neatly bound, and besides being the nearest and most accurate Calendar printed in the United States, they contain a large amount of valuable information, suited to the wants of all, and of this kind too, which cannot be found in books.

HIS CATALOGUE OF DISEASES, with remarks and directions for their removal is truly invaluable, and makes a them welcome visitors in every household they enter. Every family should possess at least one of these Almanacs. His Almanac for 1849 are now ready for distribution, of which he designs to publish at least TWO MILLIONS, and in order that every family in the United States and British America may be furnished with a copy, he hereby invites MERCHANTS and STOREKEEPERS to forward their orders to him as early as possible, and they shall be supplied gratuitously with as many copies as they may deem necessary to supply their various customers. They are also invited at the same time, to send a copy of their "BUSINESS CARD," which will be printed and placed on the cover of the Almanacs sent them, also without charge.

They are also requested to give all necessary directions how the Almanacs should be forwarded to them. By law they cannot be sent by mail unless the postage is first paid on them here.

Orders (post paid) directed to DR. D. JAYNE, Philadelphia, will meet with prompt attention.

Families can obtain these Almanacs gratis of LEONARD & MOORE, Clearfield, Pa. Agents for the sale of Dr. Jayne's Celebrated Family Medicines. Nov. 14—3t.

ORPHED-BIRTHS.

A valuable Scientific Work, upon the subject of Gestation and Child Birth, by R. G. GEISSNER, M. D., late of Paris, just published in N. York by the Author.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

THIS WORK contains recently discovered information upon a subject of the highest importance to Married Persons, or those contemplating Marriage.

It will be found of special value to those whose means, health or other circumstances, do not permit them to increase the number of their family, without great inconvenience, suffering, or perhaps risk of life. A method of avoiding these troubles and dangers, at will (recently discovered by a celebrated French Physician), is fully communicated in this work so that any person may avail himself of it at once, without cost. The means of prevention here set forth are therefore within the reach of all. The process is new, safe, infallible, convenient, simple, and cannot injure the health of the most delicate.
