No Copperhead Triumph in 1863.—Democratic Deserting the Party.—The City Nominations.—Gen. Butler to Convince Pennsylvania.—Postal Affairs.—Judge Caldwell Declines the Draft Constitutional Union Meetings.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12, 1863.

In a former letter to the Repository, I called attention to the fact that no state, in which elections had been held during 1863, had gone Democratic.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10, 1863.

In the fall of 1862, under the impression that they were honestly in favor of the Government, the Republicans made no vigorous opposition against them, and besides carrying Pennsylvania, they elected Seymour Governor of New York, by a majority in the State less than he received in the Five Points of New York city.

Both parties have made their legislative nominations in all the city districts. The next delegation will, in all probability, stand 12 Union and 6 Democratic.

On the 25th ult., in Mercersburg, Mrs. THOMAS REYNOLDS, aged 79 years.

CUMBERLAND GAP, Sept. 9, 1863. Major-General HALLECK, Commander-in-Chief:

I have telegraphed you our movements up to the occupation of Knoxville by our forces. Since then a cavalry force has been sent up the railroad to within a few miles of Bristol, capturing some three locomotives and twenty odd cars.

Another force, composed of two regiments of infantry and two regiments of cavalry, I brought to this place in person, to re-enforce Gen. Schaeffer, who was here with two regiments of cavalry, Col. DeCourcy being on the Kentucky side with a brigade, which I started in that direction before leaving Kentucky.

The Rebel garrison here, consisting of over 2,000 men and 14 pieces of artillery, made an unconditional surrender at 3 p. m. to-day, without a fight.

A. E. BURNSIDE, Major-Gen. CAMP NEAR TRENTON, Sept. 9.

To Major-Gen. H. W. HALLECK, Commander-in-Chief.

Chattanooga is ours without a struggle, and East Tennessee is free. Our move on the enemy's flank and rear progresses, while the tail of his retreating column will not escape un molested.

Our troops from this side entered Chattanooga about noon. Those north of the river there are crossing.

CINCINNATI, Thursday, Sept. 10. A dispatch to The Gazette, dated Knoxville, 6th, says:

The great campaign of the war is over. We are in full possession of East Tennessee—a great, bloodless victory.

Such was the rapidity of our movements that the Rebels, taken unawares, fled before us without destroying property.

Three steamboats, three locomotives, and a large number of cars were captured there. The whole march of our army was a perfect ovation, and our entry into Knoxville event long to be remembered.

Thousands of people of every age, size, color, and condition lined the way. Their shouts and tears intermingled with martial music, and joy reigned supreme.

Gen. Burnside's address to the soldiers and people assured them of protection, and that, while justice should be dealt, revenge was no part of the policy of the Government.

Gen. Carter also spoke in touching terms of their sufferings, and praised their determination and courage. Col. Sanders was called out amid shouts of welcome.

Col. Gilbert has been appointed Military Governor, and Gen. Carter Provost-Marshal General of East Tennessee.

A second dispatch says our right wing is within easy reach of Gen. Rosecrans's left. The Rebels regarded our expedition as a raid until the last moment.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Times' correspondent with the Army of the Potomac writes, under date of the 10th instant: "It is believed one corps of Lee's army, commanded by Longstreet, is moving to Richmond there to be transferred—two divisions to the North and one to Charleston."

On the 31st ult., General Blunt camped within two miles of the Rebel Generals Cooper and Cabel, who had a force of four thousand Rebels west of the fort, and on the next morning he marched to attack them, but they had fled.

Our loss was eight wounded, and Captain Lane of the 24th Kansas Regiment killed.

LATEST NEWS!

From the Army of the Potomac.—A Reconnoissance in Force.—Henry H. Hensley, Esq., at Culpepper.—General Pleasanton Captures Guns and Prisoners.

We learn that Mr. Crouse, correspondent of the New York Times with the army of General Meade, has transmitted the intelligence that the corps of Ewell and Hill, recently encamped between the Rapidan and Culpepper, and thirteen miles from the Rapidan, at least, if not still nearer Richmond.

It is evident from this that the two corps are being used to reinforce Beauregard and Bragg, as has been suspected for some time past.

Last night we learned from a gentleman who arrived from Culpepper, that cannonading had been heard several hours, and later news reached us here. Pleasanton reached a position during yesterday about four miles beyond Culpepper, after heavy skirmishing with the enemy.

The 2d army corps are at Culpepper, having captured a number of cannon and prisoners.

Lewistown gives Cony a majority of 550. Auburn gives Cony 75 majority.

Intelligence from west of the Kennebec shows strong Republican gains.

Scarboro gives Cony 1,078, and Bradbury 798.

Saco gives Cony 678, and Bradbury 380 Union gain of 314.
