Our Quota of Troops.—In last week's issue we made an estimate of the probable number of men the various requisitions made for troops would demand from each district in the county. The quota of the county was not ascertained officially; but taking the aggregate number called for, and the population of the county, it required about one in thirty of our population. Since then we have ascertained officially the number of men who have reported for duty in person or by substitute, or who have paid commutation money in the several districts of the county, and we submit a table showing the gross quota—say we estimate it—of each district; the number put in under the draft, and the deficit to be raised by volunteers, or by the draft on the last of January next:

Table with columns: Full Quota, By Draft, Deficit. Lists districts like Antrim, Chambersburg, Guilford, Hamilton, etc., with corresponding numbers.

It will be seen that the late draft has yielded but 318 men all told—including men who went into service in person or by substitute and also those who paid commutation money. In other words, of 1131 men drafted, all but 318 have been discharged on various grounds.

A few may yet be added, as there are some deferred cases, and some few deserters, but the increase will not be material. The ratio of men actually held to service is considerably less than thirty per cent., and at first sight it seems exceedingly small. But it must be considered that of the 600 men lately discharged from the 12th Regiment, a very large proportion of them were in the first contingent and many of them drafted. They were discharged under the clause of the conscription law that exempted all who were in service on the 3d of March last. Another explanation of the small number held to service is in the fact that the ratio of able-bodied men is reduced by the number of men now in service—they all being, of course, sound men, while all the unsound remained at home.

It will be seen that about 1100 men remain to be raised by Franklin county. Of this number probably several hundred of our veteran troops now in the field will re-enlist, thus reducing our quota to about 700; and to raise that number by draft will require about 2000 men to be conscripted. The next draft will doubtless be made under an amended law, by which every man deemed fit for service will be compelled to go in person or by substitute.

Capt. Eyster, our Provost Marshal, has issued hand-bills under the late call inviting men to volunteer and setting forth the bounties given in all cases. Men who volunteer will go into the old regiments, but can select for themselves.

FRENCH ACCOUNT OF A REBEL RAID.—A young gentleman well acquainted in Chambersburg, who has spent the last two years in Europe, and who was in Paris when Stuart made his raid here in 1862, gives the following graphic account of the French report of the raid to one of our correspondents:

I went to my accustomed eating house about 6 P. M., for my dinner, and found the usual crowd of Americans, English and French. There was evidently a great excitement; and the detached remarks, such as "General Stuart—invasion of Pennsylvania—surrender of Chambersburg," etc., excited my anxiety to the highest pitch; for Chambersburg and Pennsylvania, the latter my own State, and the former once my home, are as dear to me as one's home and country should be to every man. The party had collected round a bustling little Frenchman who had possessed himself of the only newspaper the establishment afforded, (French at that) and who in his broken English undertook (out of compliment to the Americans) to make a liberal translation of the same.—By the aid of a copy of the paper and by memory I will give you an account of the ensuing news.

This will give you some little idea of how well we are understood in Europe.

INDICATIONS OF A SEVERE WINTER.—The weather prophets, says a contemporary, predict a severe winter, each one resting upon certain supposed infallible signs. The principal signs manifest this year are the movements of fishes and migratory birds early in the season, and the unusual care of the amphibious animals to provide against cold. It is found that in Minnesota and the north-western States the brook trout are leaving the shallow streams and breaking to the deep pools much earlier than usual, and the muskrats are fortifying their hibernating habitations against the intense cold weather by another thick layer of mud. In the east it is discovered that the wild fowl are streaming southward unusually early this season. The hucks on the corn are also thicker than usual. These are regarded as almost infallible indications of a severe winter.

There have been weather prophets since the days of Jonas, each of whom had a particular sign by which to foretell the seasons. Most of them have been bunglers, only hitting the mark once in a dozen attempts.—These popular signs might have worked well in former times, but "all signs fall now a-days"—except lager beer signs. Yet it is undoubtedly true that an all-wise Providence has gifted his irrational creatures with an instinct which enables them to provide suitably against seasons of unusual intensity, and this instinct may extend even to vegetable kingdom. And, although phenomena indicative of cold weather have frequently been observed of some order of animal or plants, yet not followed by cold weather, it has hardly ever been known that so many concurrent signs of long and bitter cold weather failed or proved deceptive.

We are therefore inclined to accept the indications of the weather prophets this time. If they should prove true, the ignorant, confounding effect with cause, will believe the cold weather was caused by the wild ducks and the muskrats and the corn hucks whereas their instinctive preparations were but the effect of the coming cold. If proud man, but not gifted with like unerring instincts, how nicely could he compute the exact amount of coal to lay in for the coming season!

SALARIES OF MINISTERS.—The Presbyterian Synod, at its late meeting in Pittsburg, adopted a resolution recommending the churches under its charge to take immediate action to increase the salaries of their ministers. This is a just movement and should be promptly responded to by all denominations. Every article of food and raiment has advanced in price not less than thirty-three per cent at an average, yet we do not know of a single instance in Chambersburg, or in the county, where the salary of a minister has been increased. They were low enough if it must be confessed when the cost of living was one-third less than now; and they cannot support themselves and their families decently without an increase in some degree commensurate with the increased cost of the articles they necessarily consume.

Individual exceptions exist, but as a rule our ministers are paid most begrudgingly. Men will squander money in a thousand ways, and when called upon to make suitable provision for the minister's family, will shrug their shoulders and dismiss the subject with the remark that preaching is not a money-making trade, and that it should not engage the attention of the clerical profession. It is true that speculation or the hoarding of wealth should not be the aim of ministers of the gospel; but it is equally true that they and their loved ones should be liberally supported so that they can devote their undivided energies to their holy calling.

As the wants of our ministers have increased by the large advance of the cost of the necessities of life, the people have become proportionally able to pay advanced salaries. There is not a congregation in Franklin county that cannot quite as easily pay thirty-three per cent advances on the minister's salary this year as they did the old salary three years ago. Every branch of industry has been prosperous. Labor has been in steady demand at vastly increased rates; our farms have yielded most bountifully for years past and the highest prices have been received for their products, and our mechanics have both increased demand and prices for their articles. Indeed prosperity has been stamped upon every class save those who have still to live upon fixed salaries which have not increased with the increased cost of articles of consumption.

We earnestly invite attention to this subject. There is not a single church in Chambersburg, that pays anything like an adequate salary, and most of our congregations are abundantly able to pay liberally. The golden rule demands it, and Christians of all others should not disregard its teachings.

TESTIMONIAL.—The Ladies of Carlisle, by a subscription, purchased and presented to Gen. W. F. Smith, a beautiful Silver Pitcher, as a testimonial to his heroic defence of Carlisle when bombarded by the rebels in June last. He is now under Gen. Thomas in Tennessee and has already distinguished himself there in opening our interrupted communications. Mrs. Woodward, of Carlisle, sent him the Pitcher, and the following is his reply:

Dear Madam:—I received your kind letter of Sept. 23, which has at last reached me and I return my heartfelt thanks to the Ladies of Carlisle for the beautiful testimonial of their high appreciation of my services on the night of the 15th of July, 1863. I am glad, and give me never a moment's rest, that you have me brave men around me, and to Him and them belong the thanks for the successful defence of your town that night. Will you express my gratitude to the Ladies of Carlisle for the beautiful gift conveyed in your letter, and accept my thanks for the pleasant language in which they were conveyed.

I trust the storms of War may never again visit your beautiful country, or disturb its brave women, but should such be the case no one would be more anxious or devoted to your service than I, were it my good fortune to be near your homes. Very sincerely, your Obedt. Servant, Wm. F. Smith, U. S. Army.

MOVEMENTS OF THE BORDER.—We learn that our Cavalry, under command of Col. Boyd, is quite active on the border looking after the guerrillas. On the 26th ult. Col. Boyd started out from Charlestown with 200 men to look after Imboden's plunderers. He went to Berryville, White Post, Front Royal and back by Middletown, Newton, Winchester and Berryville again to Charlestown. In the trip he captured one four mule team and wagon loaded with cotton, an ambulance and two horses; one rebel Major, one captain, three Lieutenants and eighteen privates, and did not lose a man. We learn that the boys of the 21st behaved gallantly. Col. Boyd, is we believe, now in command of Charlestown, Va., and has considerable force under him. He sends out scouting parties almost daily after the guerrilla parties who infest that neighborhood. He is one of the officers who will never suffer a surprise, and is just the man for a border command.

DEATH has gathered a fruitful harvest from us the past season. Never before have so many of our leading and most useful citizens fallen beneath the stroke of the insidious destroyer in a single summer. During the last week two of our most respected and upright residents of Chambersburg have been added to the list of those who once were, but now are not. Wm. Heyser, Esq., President of the Bank of Chambersburg, died on Friday last, and on Monday Hon. J. J. Kennedy, formerly one of the Associate Judges of the county, breathed his last. They were both eminent as useful citizens and Christians, and they will be widely lamented.

THE GERMAN REFORMED SYNOD closed its session at Carlisle a few days ago. Previous to the adjournment Rev. Dr. B. C. Wolf, resigned his Professorship in the Theological Seminary at Mercersburg. Synod filled the vacancy by the appointment of Rev. Henry Harbaugh, D. D., of Lebanon, as Professor. A committee was appointed to purchase the interest of M. Kieffer & Co., in the printing establishment at Chambersburg, so that it may become the property of the Synod. Dr. Schiff was, at his request, permitted to withdraw from his Professorship in the Theological Seminary for a period of two years. He resigns visiting Europe.

REBELS DESERTING.—Rebel deserters and prisoners are brought here almost daily on the Hagerstown train and sent East. There were about twenty arrived on Saturday morning last, and nineteen on Sunday, and altogether about sixty have come in during the past week. Most of them are voluntary prisoners who deserted from their pickets and entered our lines. They evidently have no zest for the rigors of the coming winter in rebelated rebellion. One squad that came in early last week said that over 100 had deserted with them. They were from Imboden's cavalry.

HORSE THIEVES CAPTURED.—On Saturday night week, says the Fulton Republican, two valuable horses were stolen in Berkeley county, Va. The thieves were tracked to this county, and on Monday evening last a party on the lookout, discovered two men riding animals of the description advertised by the owners. They immediately made pursuit, and after a short but exciting chase captured the runaways, who were brought to this place about 10 o'clock on Monday night and committed to prison.

MILITARY CLAIMS.—It will be seen by an advertisement in to-day's paper that Messrs A. O. Hiestler, Jacob Weidle and Jas. Worsall, Appraisers appointed by the Court of Dauphin county, to examine claims for military damages, will meet in this place on the 17th inst.—Tuesday next. We presume that the Board will remain in session from day to day until their duties are fully discharged.

DIVIDENDS.—The Bank of Chambersburg declared a dividend of five per cent on the 1st inst., and the Chambersburg Turnpike has declared a dividend of one per cent—both payable on demand.

PROVIDENT.—Lieut. Samuel M. M'Dowell, son of Mr. John M. M'Dowell, of this place, has been commissioned Captain of the Pennsylvania Battery formerly commanded by the lamented Capt. Stevens. Capt. M'Dowell has gallantly earned his promotion by his heroism on the field. His guns lost at Chick-a-nauga, after all the horses had been killed, and Capt. Stevens and others killed in a hand-to-hand struggle, have been replaced; and he will win fresh laurels for himself and his brave command.

DR. SEISS, the Surgeon for this district, has been at home ill for several weeks, and Dr. Sausserotte, has acted in his place, and discharged the duties ably and satisfactorily.

The advertisement of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, Philadelphia, S. S. Shryer, Agent, commends itself to the attention of every one. This company is safe beyond any contingency. The fact that they have already paid losses in this town and that too promptly, proves their good faith. The character of the officers and directors, and the management of the Company is an ample guarantee for the future.

We call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Weston & Bro., 900 Arch street, Philadelphia, and need only say that several years of business and the fact that they make us so that no one will be likely to deal with them and be disappointed. They are fair men, understand their business, and are fully posted in all that relates to their business.
