GOSSIP WITH OUR FRIENDS.—It is a sloppy, slushy day, and the frozen rain drips lazily from eave and branch. All nature looks miserable. Even the ducks quack mournfully as they paddle their weary way through the thickening mud. The sky is murky, no clouds to be seen; but one thick, dark curtain covers the heavens, while the earth reflects back the same lugubrious hues, with a sameness that savors of a ludicrous attempt at making faces. We are seated beside a bright coal fire, with a ruddy light reflected upon our clean white paper, and as we scribble, it does us good to hear the plashing pedestrians plod along under our very noses. It is glorious; and under the genial influence of light and heat we are disposed to be peaceful and pleasant. O that some good friend would venture out this wretched night and condescend to spend a sociable evening with us, some friend of our early boyhood, that we might together gossip over some of our school boy reminiscences. Rap, tap, goes some one's knuckles against our door. "Come in," we say, and lo who should enter but the very friend we should have preferred beyond all others. Off with your over-coat, my boy, draw up to the fire. There—now let our talk glide along in an easy murmur, and let us call up old times. "By the by," says my welcome visitor, "your gossip of last week about Ed. reminds me of ———." "None of your Lincolnisms," cried we. "Nonsense, let me go on,—reminds me of the time when he used to sit beside me at Mr. B's school. A more wretched boy than I never existed alongside of that scamp. I got more whippings and fell into more scrapes through him at that time, than in all the rest of my life put together. I remember being ferruled three times on the palm of my hand in one afternoon, thanks to him; and to see that boy grinning at me as I returned each time crestfallen to my seat, was perfectly maddening. His face, when Mr. B. looked at him, was the very picture of solemn studiousness, and the very epitome of roguery at all other times. He used to bore holes through the benches, and had an ingenious apparatus formed of a crooked pin and a string, by which, at any distance along the bench, all he had to do was to pull the string, and up would go the pin into that part of the unfortunate boy's body where the learning was, in our school, supposed to be situated, "renovare dolorem." The poor boy would utter a yell, and shake his fist at the studious Ed., and would of course be called up by Mr. B. to receive a ferruling. I was as fond of making balloons on my slate as was ever Tommy Traddles of drawing skeletons. Once I had made a magnificent one (instead of performing my questions in arithmetic) and as Mr. B. was examining the right side of my slate, Ed. who happened to sit in front of me, saw my balloon, cords, car, aeronaut and all, and most demurely said: "Mr. B. ain't that a nice balloon that ——— has on this side of his slate;" which of course directed Mr. B's attention to it, and procured for me a trimming. I shall never forget the time I asked permission to go down with Ed. an hour before afternoon dismissal, for the purpose of helping him "bring home the cow." "What is the use of two of you going for the cow," says our old teacher. Ed. spoke up and answered for me. "He goes before and I go behind—you see, sir, the cow is so contrary that she runs past the house unless there's some one to stop her." I didn't get out that afternoon. * * * *

A philosophical friend of ours was consulted by a lady as to what was most becoming "to go into that detestable bonnet of hers," and was answered "a contented face." He has not been consulted since.

The money market was very unsettled one day last week, owing to the issue of search warrants for looking through some houses inhabited by "Are we not men and brothers?" It seems that a couple of boys were discovered with their hands in Shryock's money drawer, were pursued and captured in a public building belonging to the Court House, where in fancied security they were sharing their ill-gotten booty. They were immediately taken before Justice Davison, and after a hearing were solemnly marched off to jail, accompanied by the Borough Constable and an admiring crowd of little boys. Some houses were then searched, in which were found several suits of new clothes, about $60 in money, and so forth. Two colored individuals were overheard conversing on the probable punishment of the young offenders. One of them remarked, "Five years is a long time." "Oh," says the other, triumphantly, "Why just look at my Uncle. Look how long he was in jail—that's nothing." Let's have the whipping post back, by all means! This is the same party, doubtless, that has been carrying off gold pens, paper and sundry odds and ends out of the lawyers' offices. What an awful position these four boys are in (for alas, two more were added to the black list.) What chance for mercy, having robbed the men they should now depend upon! Well, well, they'll get justice.

A GALLANT SOLDIER.—On Thursday last a week, 1st Lieut. John S. Hatch, second in command of the Invalid Company recently in this place, received a commission as Captain. It was an agreeable surprise from the fact that he had never solicited it, nor is he aware of any parties interesting themselves for him. Capt. Hatch has displayed qualities truly deserving of credit, and though young in years, has passed through scenes of peril and strife sufficient to shake the firmness of the bravest of veterans. He enlisted as a private in the First Michigan Infantry in July, 1861, at Ann Arbor, and passing through all the grades of a non-commissioned officers, was commissioned 2nd Lieut. in May, 1862. He was with McClellan through the entire Peninsula campaign, and for gallant service at Gaines' Hill, where he had command of the company, he was promoted to 1st Lieutenant. In the memorable fights of Bull Run, August 29th and 30th, 1862, he was an active participant, and when the last terrible effort was made to carry the enemy's batteries by a charge of Infantry, on the evening of the 30th, he was wounded five times—first his left hand was torn to pieces by a musket shot; it was bandaged on the field, and in ten minutes he was again at the head of his command. He then received a musket ball in his right hip, and in two minutes after was struck by a musket ball in the left breast, which passed out through his shoulder blade. He still continued with his command, and it was only when the fragments of a shell, which had burst almost in his face, and tore the flesh from his right arm below the elbow and terribly mangling his already shattered left arm, did he fall to the ground from exhaustion and loss of blood.—He was conveyed to Alexandria and suffered amputation of the left arm near the elbow. In January he rejoined his regiment, but his wounds breaking out afresh he was again sent to the hospital. Obtaining thirty days leave of absence he visited his home in Michigan and while there received a comision as Captain. He again rejoined his command in March and was with it in all the subsequent movements of the army of the Potomac and was among the gallant spirits at Chancelorville and Gettysburg. Such a record of bravery and endurance is seldom presented. While in Washington under medical treatment he was appointed 1st Lieut. in the Invalid Corps, yielding reluctantly to a separation from his old comrades. He came to this place temporarily in command of the Invalid Company and as stated has received a commission as a Captain. He is subject to assigning orders from the Provost Marshal General. Captain Hatch in the record we have made has proved himself one of the bravest of soldiers, but we must add that he has exhibited qualities since sojourning among us, not only indicating the gallant soldier but the true gentleman and the most genial of companions.

NEW RECRUITING STATION.—Capt. R. B. Ward has opened a new recruiting station in the office formerly occupied by Shively Strickler, Esq., on East Market street. Captain Ward is the popular and gallant commander of Company "D," 11th Pennsylvania Cavalry, now near Suffolk, Virginia, and which is considered one of the best Regiments in the service. The Captain's company is composed of young men almost exclusively from this town and neighborhood, and the fine, gentlemanly appearance of a number recently home on furlough bespoke the excellent discipline prevailing among them. To those desiring to enter the Cavalry service no better opportunity could be offered than to enlist with Captain Ward. Veterans who have seen nine months or more service, receive a Bounty of $402 from the United States and $100 from the Borough of Chambersburg All others receive $402, which includes the Borough Bounty.

REV. W. WHITE WILLIAMS, A. M., of New York, will deliver a Lecture in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening, January 7th, on The Holy Land. Mr. Williams has travelled extensively in America, Europe, Asia and Africa, and lived in the city of Jerusalem forty days during March and April, 1861. His Lectures are cordially recommended as pleasing, interesting and instructive by Rev. Drs. Hopkins, Spring and Hutton, Ex-Gov. Pollock, and many other eminent authorities. In the Lecture Mr. W. will exhibit specimens of the oriental costume, a case of flowers from Palestine, Hebrew coin, among them the "widows mite" and a "crown of thorns" from the Holy City. Mr. W. has addressed nearly 8000 persons at one time. Tickets 25 cents; Sabbath School Scholars, 10 cts.

DEEDS.—Many persons are doubtless ignorant of the law requiring deeds for land, made within the State, to be recorded within six months, and those made out of the State within twelve months, or they will be declared void against subsequent purchasers or mortgages for value. Ignorance of the law, however, excuseth no man, and owners of property would do well to notice and act promptly upon the suggestion of Recorder Strickler in our advertising columns.

THE ICE HARVEST.—The present "cold snap" has been producing ice in abundance, and the ice houses are being rapidly filled. We notice Mr. John Reasner filling a number of houses with a splendid article, from the ponds on his premises near town. Ice has become an indispensable article for Summer use, and as the demand is constantly increasing the crop harvested the present season will be unusually large.

DESTRUCTION BY FIRE OF A DISTILLERY.—The extensive distillery of Messrs. Brough and Harchelrode on the Conecocheague Creek near town was totally destroyed by fire on Monday last. It was a new concern and almost completed for an extensive business. The fire originated by accident and the loss will be about $7000.

FRIDAY next, the 8th instant, is the 49th anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans. In former years it was appropriately observed by feasting, salutes and milltary displays. For the last few years, however, our national troubles have been so absorbing that the days commemorative of our early achievements pass by almost unnoticed.

SALE OF PROPERTY.—The Messrs. Fahnestock, sold at private sale, their brick property corner of Main St. and Cheapside Alley last week, to Mr. Christian Burkhart for the sum of $7300.

RELIGIOUS.—Episcopal service will be held in the Masonic Hall, on next Sunday morning at 10½ o'clock.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 2, 1864.

The ship "Onward" has arrived here with Kanagawa dates of the 1st of December, and Shanghai dates to November 22d. Kanagawa was still guarded by men from the fleets.—The French are fortifying the heights and daily expecting the arrival of two regiments of Infantry from Kong Kong. There was a general belief that a peaceful solution will be found for the troubles between the foreign governments and the Tycoon, although the civil war between the latter and Darnias is already progressing. The Tycoon's Minister had waited on the American Minister, offering to pay the indemnity demanded for the attack on the Steamer Pembroke, in June last, during her passage through Island Sea. The proposition was accepted, but Minister Pruyn will refer the terms of settlement for the subsequent attack on the Steamer Wyoming, to the Home Government, under the increased prospect of unbroken peace.

From the Shenandoah Valley—The Rebels Driven from Winchester.

HARPER'S FERRY, January 4, 1864.—Col. W. H. Boyd, commanding 21st Pa. Cavalry, has returned with his command from a scouting expedition in the direction of Strasburg. He encountered a body of rebels at Winchester, yesterday, and after a brisk skirmish, succeeded in driving them from the town. The expedition was successful, and the manner in which it was conducted has brought forth words of praise and high commendation from Brig. Gen. Sullivan, commanding at this post. It will be remembered that the 21st Regiment is composed of six months' troops, whose term of enlistment will shortly expire. Many of the men are re-enlisting for the war, and it is hoped that all means may be taken to fill up the regiment to its original standard. The rebel General Early is reported at Middletown, with about five thousand men.

Philadelphia Markets.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5, 1864.

MORTON'S Gold Pens are now sold at the same prices as before the commencement of the war: this is entirely owing to the Manufacturer's improvements in machinery, his present large Retail Business and Cash-in-Advance System; for, until he commenced advertising, his business was done on Credit and strictly with the Trade.

The Morton Gold Pens are the only ones sold at old prices, as the makers of all other gold pens charge the Premium on the Gold, Government Tax, &c.; but Morton has in no case changed his prices, Wholesale or Retail.
