their extremities? I commend the subject through you to the people of the State, as worthy the immediate attention and active exertions of the charitable and liberal.

I should be glad if the Legislature would make a general revision of our Revenue Laws, with a view to their increased productiveness. It ought to be observed that for a period of more than twenty years, no material change has been made in the Revenue Laws of this Commonwealth.

Very large sums are due to the Commonwealth for unpatented lands. Forbearance, clemency, and liberality have been vainly tried in the numerous attempts to procure the payment of at least a part of this debt.

Early in June, Maj. Gen. Couch arrived at Harrisburg and assumed command of the Department, which he has since exercised with the soldierlike promptness, energy and discretion which were to be expected from his known character.

The rebels having actually entered the State in some force, and the approach of their whole army being imminent, the President made a requisition for militia from this and some of the neighboring States.

Some of the militia called in 1862, and in 1863, were killed and others disabled. In all these cases, where there are no laws for the relief of these men or their families, I recommend the enactment of a law for that purpose.

The campaign on our soil was closed by the victory of Gettysburg, gained by the veteran Army of the Potomac, under the command of Major General Meade, the officers and men of which displayed all their accustomed valor and endurance in the conflict and in the forced and rapid marches which immediately preceded it.

Under Divine Providence, to them and to the military genius and unsurpassed energy of General Meade, and the promptness and the self-sacrificing gallantry of General Reynolds, we are indebted for success on that bloody field.

We are proud to claim Generals Meade and Reynolds as sons of our own Pennsylvania. The first lives to enjoy the most precious of all rewards, the grateful appreciation of his countrymen.

The 12th section of the act of 15th May, 1861, prohibits any volunteers from leaving the State without the authority of the Governor, and I now recommend the passage of a law imposing penalties by fine and imprisonment on all individuals who shall endeavor to procure or aid and assist in procuring any person in this State to enlist in the volunteer service of any other State.

I feel it to be my duty to call your attention to the pernicious practice of leaving many bills to be hurried through at the close of the session. During the last ten days of the last session, 890 bills were presented for my signature, many of them of the most important character.

It is in consequence of this habit not only are bills passed without an opportunity to either House for a proper consideration of their provisions, but the Executive is compelled either to sign them without examination, or to hold them over perhaps to the public inconvenience.

It may often happen that a bill not approved by reason of a single objectionable clause, might have been otherwise passed, omitting the objectionable provision. In connection with the subject of Legislation, I must refer to another matter.

The reports of the Surveyor General, Adjutant General, Quartermaster General, Commissary General, Surgeon General, Agent at Washington, Chief of Transportation and Telegraph Department and Superintendent of Common Schools, in regard to their several departments.

Under these calls, 5,166 of the men of Pennsylvania were assembled in the Department of Gen. Brooks, and 31,422 in that of General Couch. To give the details or even a summary of the operations which ensued, would be impracticable within the limits of a message.

It is unnecessary to do so, as I have recommended the adoption of measures for preserving the history of our several regiments and other organizations, and in that history the events to which I have referred will be recorded.

Under Divine Providence, to them and to the military genius and unsurpassed energy of General Meade, and the promptness and the self-sacrificing gallantry of General Reynolds, we are indebted for success on that bloody field.

verment in its measures to that end. To the full extent of my official and individual ability it shall be so supported, and I rely heartily on your co-operation. I am ready for all proper measures to strengthen its arm to encourage its upholders—to stimulate by public liberality, to themselves and their families, the men who give to it their personal services—in every mode to invigorate its action.

We are fighting the great battle of God-of-truth-of-right-of-liberty. The Almighty has no attribute that can favor our savage and degenerate enemies. No people can submit to territorial dismemberment without becoming contemptible in its own eyes and in those of the world.

We have, during the past year, made mighty strides toward such a solution and to all human appearance we approach its completion. But whatever reverses may happen—whatever blood and treasure may still be required—whatever sacrifices may be necessary—there will remain the inexorable determination of our people to fight out this thing to the end—to preserve and perpetuate this Union.
