GOSSIP WITH OUR FRIENDS.—A gossip has much to talk about, and when he (or she) has no good to say about one, why then he has plenty of bad, and that pleases the reader better than the good—unless the reader happen to be the party maligned, and then, oh dear, the whole thing is altered, you know.

We intend to talk this week of the most delightful new idea on the earth, the very essence of elegance, the quintessence of refinement, in fact the rage. We mean PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS. What a world of memory floods upon the mind, if not the heart, at the mere mention of the word. We wonder whether the maiden when she looks over her album filled with her victims, the mother when she sees her children, the youth when he glances at his stolen portraits of beautiful young ladies, etc., do not bless the man who first thought of photograph albums. On the other hand we opine that many a one has cursed the miserable idealist for the same invention. We are modest, and don't admire either blessing or cursing, but we admit that so far as we know the idea is OURS.

Some twelve years since, we were engaged in New York with a publisher whose leading business was the manufacture of the old fashioned albums that were expected to be filled with "The-rose-is-red, the violet's blue, Sugar's sweet-and-so-are-you"—style of poetry. Our employer failed in business, and the foreman of the bindery, with whom we were quite intimate, bought out the bindery, and with a partner continued the old business. Soon after, we being on business at New York, went to the theatre with these two gentlemen. Before the curtain rose, one of them said to us; "business is dull with us now, can't you think of something new that we can get at?" We felt flattered by the compliment, and promised "to think." By the time the first act was over, we exclaimed, "Photograph albums." "FORTY what!" "Photograph albums," was our reply. "What's that!" We went into a long explanation, with a foresight that now renders us very conceited on the subject. They took hold of the idea as real mechanics can, experimented sometimes successfully, sometimes the contrary. Their books went forth, were taken to France, came back improved, they improved, France improved again on them, and so the struggle went on, until—well, we visited their bindery last week, and lo, the results of four years of hard labor and indomitable enterprise. Eighty hands at work, work that is considered the best in the United States. We spent an afternoon in the bindery, and we hope a description of the manufacture will not be unacceptable to our readers. The white cards on each board are printed with the gilt borders around them, and then punched, after which they are pasted on the inside filling; each board consisting of three parts. These are bound together to the required thickness, and the ends cut by a self acting, vibrating cutting machine, (price $475.) Then the front edge is cut by a curved knife, (price $300.) so that the bevel is a complete curve. One half of the curve is cut at a time, the middle card being the guide for the second cut. The books are now screwed up in presses to be scraped on the edges with a steel knife to make them perfectly smooth, then rubbed with a preparation of red chalk and muriatic acid, burnished with an agate, covered with the white of an egg, in the proportion of one egg to about two-thirds of a pint of water; after which gold leaf is floated on while wet, the edges let dry, and last of all burnished with a blood stone. Fifteen presses are used for this purpose. The jointing is done on a machine made expressly for the purpose, (cost $375.)—the process being somewhat like that of book backing. The head bands and lining are now put on, there being a secret in this which in a great measure makes the difference between a good and a bad book. The edges are all papered up to preserve the gilding from tarnishing. All the ornamental work on the edges is done by hand by first class artists. A carver in wood is kept constantly employed in cutting out designs for pannel work. By a patent process dies are sunk to press pannels out of binder's board, thirty per cent cheaper than by the old way. They can get up a new die in twenty-four hours, after which the pannels can be increased indefinitely. One of the greatest improvements in pannel work consists in the application of a metal cover that fits the leather into the pannels, rubbing it down more perfectly than by hand. A stamping and gilding machine costs about $700. The improvements in pannelling machinery during the last year alone, have cost this establishment not less than $5,000. The clasping, blacking up pannels, boxing, etc., employs a great number of workmen and women. It is pleasant to see labor rewarded as it has been in the case of these enterprising men, who socially and as business men amply deserve all the rewards and emoluments that attend success.

Your gossip was in New York, the huge maelstrom that absorbs one man as completely as the ocean one drop of water. It is impossible to think there, there is too much action. How the average of life can be more than ten years we cannot imagine. O, for a quiet breath; a moment's cessation from this infernal noise and confusion is one's chief thought. Broadway was, if anything, more crammed than ever with soldiers, bands of music, carts, drays, stages, coaches, barrows and baskets. The only change for the better was the diminution and disappearance of ladies' hoops. Prices of everything ruled higher than ever. Ladies' kids from $1.50 to $2.25, good calico 56 cents, French chintzes 60 to 75 cents, good muslins 40 to 50 cents, ladies' boots from $5 to $10, silks, whew! butter 50 cents per lb., eggs 55 cents a piece. The Russ pavement on Broadway must surely be a failure, for we saw six horses fall in one day, and they don't seem to mind it. Crack goes the driver's whip, up jumps the horse and on goes the stage. We saw a horse get his foot fastened in some way in the pavement, and tear off his hoof, a horrid sight. Three dollars and a half a day for board does seem high to a countryman. A friend of mine saw a gentleman knocked down on Broadway by a stage, the wheel passing over his head. A policeman picked up his headless body, and with his hands swept up the poor fellow's brains into his handkerchief, and with a "Poor fellow, he didn't know what hurt him," carried him off with the coolness of one accustomed to such sights.

When in Philadelphia, we called upon the Bard of Tower Hall, and got him to write us a specimen of his poetry for our album. He cheerfully complied with our request and with the greatest rapidity penned the following morcean:

"Jack and Gill went up to Phil.,
To buy a suit of clothing—
They made a call at Tower Hall,
And—

Here he hesitated, but poetic phrenzy flashed from his pale blue eye, as he completed the line,

—— "bought the suit of clothing."

We thanked him with tears of gratitude welling through our nostrils, and went on our way rejoicing.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. John Wallace, of Green township, a member of the gallant 77th regiment, returned home with the Franklin companies, on furlough, on Friday last. He was not well—having suffered most of the way home, and was quite feeble when he reached the Station at Scotland. His great anxiety to get home induced him to walk from the warehouse to the carriage and he got into it without any assistance. Soon after he complained of feeling very much prostrated, and leaned his head on the shoulder of his brother, and died in a few minutes. His brother did not apprehend his danger until he noticed a convulsive tremor of his limbs, and before the presence of the arch-destroyer was realized, the young soldier had yielded his spirit to the God who gave it. He had faced death hundreds of times in the field, and gone through some of the most sanguinary battles of the west unharmed; but when about to meet his friends again the inexorable summons came and he died almost within sight of his home. He was a son of Mr. Joseph Wallace, and an intelligent and active young man. He at one time lived in this place in the employ of Chambers, Gehr & Co., Forwarding Merchants. He leaves two brothers in the service.

FREE Schools and Democracy don't seem to work well together down in York county. The unterrified defenders of the constitution are earnestly opposed to negro troops until they are compelled to choose between going themselves and getting "Unbleached Americans" to go in their places, when they with wonderful unanimity, adopt the inspiring lines of Miles O'Riley—

"I'll let Sambo be murdered in place of myself,
On every day of the year."

One of these disciples of a constitutional war wrote the following letter to a citizen of Hagerstown, and it has been given to the public through the Hagerstown Herald:

MURDER.—A young man about 18 years of age was found dead in a lime-kiln, on the place of Mr. Gabby, about three miles south of Chambersburg, on Wednesday morning last. The body was found by some boys, and an examination clearly showed that he had been brutally murdered. His throat was cut, and there were several stabs in the neck. He had been seen in company with a negro, and suspicion attaches to the negro as the murderer. Both the murdered man and the negro were entire strangers in this neighborhood, and the inquest failed to indentify the body of the victim. He was probably a deserter who had received bounty. His remains were interred in the Poor House burial ground. The negro suspected of the murder went through Greencastle the next day, and exhibited a considerable amount of money, and it is said that he showed a knife with a bloody blade, which he explained by saying he had killed a dog. He doubtless went into Virginia. The inquest found that the man had been murdered by the negro.

THE BOUNTY QUESTION.—The Adjutant General has issued instructions to Lieut. Col. Bomford, Acting Assistant Provost Marshal of Pennsylvania, that in cases where the muster-in-rolls of veterans re-enlisting in the field are deficient, in not showing the particular district to which such men desire to be assigned, the Provost Marshal of the State, at Harrisburg, has full authority to prepare duplicate assignment rolls, on demand being made by any body of veteran troops so situated, through their commanding officer. The proper credit will be given through the Adjutant General's office, on such assignment rolls; and no difficulty need be apprehended by veterans, as to giving credit to any ward, borough or township, provided prompt steps be taken by their commanding officer, as above indicated. This will secure credits of veterans to several districts in this county which have not heretofore been counted.

GEN. FRANZ SIGEL passed through Martinsburg on Monday, on his way to assume command of the Department of West Virginia, and was greeted with artillery salutes as became the occasion; whereupon extravagant rumors became rife of a rebel advance and bloody fighting just across the river. Some of our citizens indulged in the sensation during the whole day, and made most exciting and vigorous inquiries of almost everybody who didn't know anything about it. Had Gen. Couch's headquarters been fifty miles off, they would doubtless have telegraphed him to know how many rebels were at the river and how soon they would be here; but as he was within one minutes' walk, and the information would have cost nothing, they didn't take the trouble. Gen. Lee is just about as likely to invade Pennsylvania in force now as he is to make a march to the moon.

MILL PROPERTY SOLD.—On Thursday week R. Clugston sold at public sale his Mill property, near Waynesboro', for the sum of $14,000. Purchaser, Mr. Abraham Stouffer.

CREDITED.—The three companies of the 77th, which re-enlisted in Tennessee and are now home on furlough, made arrangements with Col. Bomford, Provost Marshal General of the State at Harrisburg, to have their rolls corrected, so that they could be credited to the districts of Franklin county, and receive local bounties. They have accordingly been credited to sub-districts desiring them, and have received, as veterans so well deserve, the bounties paid by townships. It would have been the grossest injustice had such troops as Capt. M'Dowell's Battery and the 77th been compelled to serve without local bounty, while new recruits were receiving it.

WHITE'S NEW STORE.—Mr. A. J. White, Merchant Tailor, has just opened out in his new store on Main Street, next door to his old place of business. It is altogether the finest business room in Chambersburg, and it is finished with a degree of taste and elegance that is not equalled we believe by any other store in town. The whole building is a credit alike to the enterprise of Mr. White and to the town, and it demonstrates that he understands the true secret of success in trade—strict attention to business, and fair dealing with all his customers. He is thoroughly master of his trade, and always keeps on hands a fine assortment of the best goods. We commend him to the favor of the public.

FATAL CASE OF BURNING.—On Monday week, Mrs. Sarver, an aged lady residing in Licking Creek township, Fulton county, was so severely burned as to cause her death on the day following. As near as we can learn, the particulars are as follows: Mrs. Sarver, who was in her 86th year, and fast verging into second childhood, being left alone for a short time by her attendant undertook to fill a stove with chips. In doing so, her apron caught and communicated fire to the remainder of her clothing, burning her in a most horrible manner. She lingered in terrible agony until the day following, when death put an end to her sufferings.

FROM REBELDOM.—We have seen a letter from Mr. Thos. H. M'Dowell, of this place, one of our citizen prisoners in Salisbury, N. C., dated the 12th ult. He says he is quite well, and that all the prisoners are getting along as well as could be expected. He has been informed that the exchange of several of them was stopped because the rebels would not treat with Butler; but he says Butler "is still the man for me and for all others of the prisoners with whom I have had any conversation." The weather in Salisbury is quite warm—much like our May.

MILITARY AFFAIRS.—Col. Wynkoop's 20th; Col. Boyd's 21st, and Col. Higgin's 22d Cavalry regiments are now full—numbering about 1200 men each, and their organizations will be completed this week, and their officers commissioned. All of them are in camp a few miles west of town, excepting some companies of the 22d which are in West Virginia. Maj. Gen. Stahl, chief of cavalry in this Department, arrived here on Monday, and took immediate command. It is expected that the troops will be moved toward Dixie in a few days.

THE GAME LAW.—The game law fixes a penalty of $5 upon any person who kills or destroys certain birds out of season, as follows: Partridges from the first of February to the first of September, quails and rabbits from the first of February to the first of October; woodcocks from the first of February to the fourth of July. It is during the time named that the species are propagated, and to destroy them at that time tends to their total extinction; hence the law for their protection.

IMPORTANT TO RECRUITS.—The public are not generally aware of the fact that the Government pays a bounty of $400 to all persons who enlist for the regular service. The bounty to volunteers is $400 for veterans, and $300 to new recruits, but for the regular army the new recruit will receive $400—thus he will gain $100, and he can secure the local bounty besides.

WE have received from T. B. Peterson & Bros. the Life, Campaigns and Services of Gen. McClellan, with portrait. It is a neatly printed pamphlet of 200 pages, and gives a full history of his campaigns, battles, and his Reports and correspondence with the War Department and President relating thereto. Sent post paid on receipt of 50 cts.

RECRUITING.—Recruiting still continues in our county, but not so rapidly as formerly. Most of the townships still deficient are paying $200 bounty, and by another week we confidently expect that Franklin county will have at least a square account with the recruiting department.

CALL TO A PROFESSORSHIP.—The Greencastle Pilot states that the Rev. T. G. Apple, of that place, has been called by the Board of Visitors of the Mercersburg Theological Seminary to fill the chair of Dr. Schaff, who has obtained from Synod a two year's leave of absence to visit Europe.

SHIPPENSBURG QUOTA.—The quota to be furnished by the Borough of Shippensburg in the last call for men was already filled in the early part of last week. What is more gratifying is the fact, that a large majority of the quota has been filled with new men.

JOHN CULP, Esq., of Adams county, has been appointed Commissioner of Draft for this district, in place of Mr. M'Ilhenny, resigned. Mr. M. has a good newspaper on hands, and he is sensible in letting official position go to others while he looks after the Star and Banner.

CALL ACCEPTED.—We learn that the Rev. Alfred Buhrman has accepted a unanimous call given him by the Lutheran congregations composing the Waynesboro' Charge, and will become their Pastor after the first of April next.

COL. ELIAS S. TROXEL has raised a battalion of Cavalry to be united with the 22d under the command of Col. Higgins. He goes in as Major, and will do credit to himself, to his command and to the service.

HOTEL PROPERTY SOLD.—The Hotel property in Greencastle, known as the "Hollar House" was sold recently to Daniel Foreman and D. Gilds for the sum of $7,000.

CAPT. JOHN E. WALKER, of Co. A. 77th volunteers, is at his home in Waynesboro', where he has opened a recruiting office. He is a brave and competent officer, as has been shown on various battle-fields, and recruits could join no more creditable organization.

GEN. CRAWFORD.—Gen. S. W. Crawford, the gallant commander of the Pennsylvania Reserves, arrived at home on Saturday, and remained until this morning. He is looking quite well but still suffers from the wound received at Antietam.

PAPER MILL.—We learn that a Company of the more enterprising citizens are agitating the project of putting up an extensive Paper mill in Shippensburg. It will, no doubt, meet with the hearty co-operation of the entire community.

AMONG the Union prisoners who escaped from Libby Prison, and were afterwards recaptured by the rebels, was Lieut. Col. David Miles, of the 79th Pa. Vols.,—brother of Capt. Miles of this place.

GEN. LEE'S ARMY.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer gives the following interesting information respecting the rebel army in Virginia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.

One of Gen. Lee's orderlies, private Taylor, of the Fourth Virginia Cavalry, came into our lines yesterday, and arrived here to-day. He has been in the rebel army about fifteen months, and the last three months has been on duty at Gen. Lee's Headquarters as orderly to General Lee, whose winter quarters are upon the road from Orange Court House to Verdiersville, about two miles from the former place.

Gen. Lee lives in a tent without any floor in it, having refused to have one put in as others were having done. He keeps very much to himself, never drinks or swears, and is very popular with the army, who have implicit reliance in the old man.

Gen. J. B. Stuart has his headquarters about two miles from Lee's headquarters, and on the road to Robinson's river. His camp is on the side of the mountain, in the woods. His force is reduced by casualties, desertion, by loss of horses, and by going home to recruit, until they have scarcely enough men to do camp duty with. Jeb. Stuart is very gay, drinks bad whisky, and gives a great many parties, at which he entertains a great many friends from the army and from the surrounding country.

Mr. Taylor is a young man, and has relatives in Ohio. His chances for knowing the strength and condition of the rebel army were good, and his story is credited at the War Department, and he has been given transportation to Cincinnati. He says there are not now left in the vicinity of Orange Court House, in Lee's entire command, over twenty-five thousand men, if there are that many; that the last month Lee has been giving furloughs liberally to all who would re-enlist, to go home to recruit; that from fifteen to thirty days are given them.

Gen. Lee tells his officers that the Yankees will be filling up their armies in March and he must be ready for them. He says he will have sixty thousand men by that time and he can hold double that number in check. When we made our last move across the Rapidan, while Butler threatened Richmond, they were apprised of our movement when it commenced by citizens coming in, and when our troops crossed the river and surprised their pickets, Gen. Lee was engaged in sending men to Richmond by rail, and told Gen. Ewell that this move on his front was only a feint.

They have but two corps now, under Gens. A. P. Hill and Ewell. The latter is full, but the former has been depleted to aid Longstreet, whose whole corps is still absent. Their horses have suffered severely from the want of forage, many thousands having died, and hundreds of men are without shoes or clothing to keep them warm. Over two hundred men have been shot during the winter for desertion.

They were captured trying to get over to our lines and at home, not being willing to return to the army. He says two things, generally of some account, have ceased to have any value in the Rebel army, they are paper money and life. Private soldiers have long ceased to use money to buy anything. Sutlers are no more, and anything wanted is either obtained as a gift or stolen, generally the latter.

Many refuse to take their pay when offered to them, alleging that it is worthless, it taking nearly three months' pay to buy one dollar in gold. The soldiers' families all over the South have long been objects of charity, and been forced to beg or steal to keep life in their wasted frames, and this is tending, more than anything else, to demoralize their army, and may retard the return of those home on furlough.
