FROM RICHMOND.—On Wednesday last we received a letter from Rev. T. V. Moore, dated Richmond, June 29, 1864, and mailed at Beantown, Md., on the 9th inst. It had doubtless been sent to Maryland by some one of the rebel army of invasion. He writes mainly about our citizen prisoners from this place. He saw Dr. Hamilton and Mr. Culbertson on the 28th, and reports them well, and as comfortable as it is possible to make them. The other prisoners are still at Salisbury. He has supplied our citizen prisoners with about $1,400 in rebel currency, and acknowledges the receipt of a Baltimore draft for $100 we sent him through Gen. Butler some months ago. He sold it for $500, and apologizes for the small sum received for it by saying that "the obstacles in the way of blockade running" depreciated the value of the draft. He gives renewed assurance that he will continue to supply the wants of our citizens as long as it is in his power; wishes another remittance to be sent direct to Gen. Lee through Gen. Butler, and sends his kind regards to "all old friends who care to hear from him."

A GALLANT TYPO.—Lieut. David W. Chambers, of the 3d Pa. Artillery, a graduate of the REPOSITORY office, made a most brilliant reconnaissance across the James river into the rebel lines last week, with a force of 130 men. He crossed the river below Dutch Gap, and found the enemy in barns, mills and farm houses, over 300 strong of the 25th Va. Infantry, commanded by Lieut. G. W. Herrington. After maintaining an unequal contest for some time, Lieut. Chambers ordered a charge upon the buildings occupied by the rebels, and his firing parties being well supported, soon had the buildings in flames. He routed the whole force, and captured and destroyed a rebel torpedo nearly ready to launch into the river. On his return he was at once promoted to a Captaincy for his skill and valor displayed in the movement.

KILLED IN ACTION.—A correspondent writes us from the Army of the Cumberland that Sergt. David B. Miller, of Dry Run, Franklin county, a member of Co. A, 7th Penna. Vols., was instantly killed on the morning of the 6th inst., while charging upon the rebel rifle-pits near Marietta, Ga. He entered the service in September 1861, under the late Capt. M. Keason, and has served with unflinching gallantry until he fell, another sacrifice to murderous treason. When the call was made last fall for veteran recruits, he was one of the first to respond for three years. He was about 22 years of age. A devoted comrade who was with him on the field when he fell, writes—"Be kind enough to give his death a passing notice in the REPOSITORY, as a mark of respect to this gallant young soldier."

THE CASH SYSTEM.—We are glad to see the heavy mercantile firm of Eyster & Brother, announce that hereafter they will do business strictly on the CASH SYSTEM. The sooner the people come to this, the better for merchants and customers, as cash patrons dealing with credit merchants, must always pay their share of the losses sustained by indiscriminate credit. Indeed every cash customer who understands his interest will deal only with cash dealers. Eyster & Brother have their store fully replenished again, and crowded with customers as usual.

MILITARY MOVEMENTS.—Capt. Davidson, of Greencastle, reported a full company for mounted service on Monday last, and Capt. Lambert has his company nearly full. Both are experienced commanders and have excellent men. It is confidently expected that the county will pay a bounty of $50 to each man, as it is impossible for men with families to enter the service at this season, without positive loss. Considering that they offer their services for the common protection of all, it is but just that all should contribute alike to their support. Let the commissioners pay the bounty.

A REMARKABLE MAN.—The Mercersburg Journal says that they have in that place a remarkable man in the person of Mr. James Bennett. He is now in the 91st year of his age and a cooper by trade. He has been a resident of Mercersburg for the past 60 years, and is hale and hearty. Since 12 years of age, he has never with but one exception, missed a harvest; and that some years ago. For the last 22 successive years he has harvested on the same place; and this year, made 10 days as a full hand.

MILITARY APPOINTMENT.—Lieut. Levy, of the 21st Penna. Cavalry, has been appointed headquarters Commissary of Hancock's Corps. His rare abilities as an officer and unflinching bravery and fidelity shown in every position of trust and responsibility he has filled, led to his appointment to the place.

BOROUGH LOAN.—We invite attention to the advertisement of the Council of Chambersburg, for a borough loan, to pay bounty to volunteers. It will be a perfectly safe investment and the interest will be paid punctually.

BOUNTY TO VOLUNTEERS.—The Town Council of Chambersburg met on Monday night, and resolved to pay $100 bounty to volunteers to fill their quota under the new call for troops.

SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS.

—Four hundred barrels of onions were sent from New York on Saturday to be distributed among the soldiers of Grant's army.

—The 19th army corps, now in Baltimore, was despatched from New Orleans by Gen. Canby on the 19th of June. It numbered sixteen thousand men. A few days later eight thousand more men were also sent North.

—A Rebel correspondent of The Atlanta Appeal, writing from Johnson's army, says: "Our boys are in the most excellent spirits. The late Northern news regarding Vallandigham's return and his enthusiastic reception is a subject of much discussion, and looked upon as favorable to our cause."

—The New Orleans Era says arrangements have been effected by Colonel Dwight, Commissioner for the exchange of prisoners, for the release of about 1,000 Union prisoners for a time past confined in Texas, including a large number of officers, some of whom have been in the hands of the enemy about two years.—Among them Col. Burrill and other officers of the 42d Massachusetts, captured at Galveston in January, 1863.

THE ASSAULT ON WASHINGTON.

On Tuesday, the 12th inst., the rebels appeared in front of Washington, on the Tennallytown road, some four miles North-west of the city. The force consisted of Earley's, Rhode's and Gordon's divisions of infantry, and Knansom's cavalry—all commanded by Gen. Breckinridge. Skirmishing had been going on during Monday, but without material results.

ATTACK ON FORT STEVENS. About daylight on Tuesday skirmishing again commenced. The rebels appeared in good force on the left, between Fort Stevens, and Fort De Russay, in Widow Corberry's woods. The guns in the Fort (13 Michigan Artillery) threw a few shells in this direction, which (the rebels) worked around to the right, endeavoring to get in between Fort Stevens and Fort Slootman. Here the 1st Brigade 2d Division of the 9th Army Corps, General Wheaton, were posted in skirmishing line. At first the Federals got the worst of it, but finally the rebels were driven back, out of a field of low undergrowth and bushes, from which they were annoyed our troops. Two prisoners were captured, belonging to the 21st and 12th Georgia regiments. They were dressed in grey jackets and pants, and presented a terribly filthy appearance, as though they had marched many weary miles. Two other prisoners had previously been brought in, one belonging to the 21st Virginia Cavalry and the other to the 46th battalion Virginia Cavalry, of Gorman's Corps. "These prisoners had very little to say, but seemed to take their capture with as much nonchalance as possible.

Up to 11 o'clock the skirmishing was continued, the rebels endeavoring to reach a field of low bushes on the right of the Seventeenth street road. At one time they broke cover, and the Federal troops could be seen rushing across the road as though in pursuit. Soon a vigorous banging took place. Several Federals were seen to fall on the road. Among them was Col. Bullier, of the 98th Pennsylvania, who was shot through the right thigh. The wound is very painful, but not dangerous. All this skirmishing took place within three hundred yards of Fort Stevens.

THE REBELS DRIVEN BACK. The charge upon the enemy in front of Fort Stevens, on Tuesday night, was made by the 3d Brigade 2d Division of the 6th Corps, Col. Biddle commanding. Our line was advanced beyond Blair's house by this driving of the rebels from their position. In this charge we had 300 killed and wounded, and the rebel loss exceeded ours. The battery at Fort Stevens was most admirably worked and did good execution.

WHAT REBEL PRISONERS SAY. Captured rebel soldiers say that they were informed on the march that Washington was only guarded by clerks and militia, and therefore it would be easily taken. They confess they were deceived when they saw the heads of columns of Peninsular veterans of 6th Corps. The preservation of the mansion of Mr. Francis P. Blair, is due to the interference of Gen. Breckinridge, who was no doubt influenced by the friendly relations formerly existing between himself and the eminent owner.

The residence of the Hon. Montgomery Blair, P. M. General, was destroyed with all its contents, which act of vandalism entails considerable loss on the Post master General. F. P. Blair is the father of P. M. Gen. Blair and they live close together.

THE PRESIDENT IN THE FIELD. The President rode to the front in the direction of Tennallytown at about 12 A. M. on Tuesday, accompanied by Assistant Adj. Gen. Hardee and a mounted escort. Yesterday he paid a similar visit of observation and inspection.—His presence among our gallant troops will doubtless do much to animate and encourage them in the discharge of their duties. Secretary Stanton was also with the President in the intrudements, cheering the troops and aiding to defend the capital against the hosts of treason.

THE VETERANS PERSUE THE REBELS. Towards six o'clock the veterans from the "Fighting Sixth" began to deploy as skirmishers, and soon the rebels commenced falling back; and they were driven from their position and forced back a mile and a half from the front, in the vicinity of Silver Spring, the residence of Mr. Blair. The rebels could not stand their dashing continuous fire. They knew their day was over, and they gave way, as they have often done before. A few shells were discharged at intervals from Stevens and the adjoining forts; but they were not returned.

LOSSES AT FREDERICKSBURG. In the hospitals at Frederick over four hundred of the rebel wounded are now under care of our surgeons, and the citizens of Frederick and surgeons of our hospitals state that every man who was capable of being removed without serious injury was carried off in ambulances and wagons, thus endeavoring to hide their loss. Before they retired from the city they burned down all the Government buildings except the hospitals. Dr. Johnson, the Medical Director at Frederick, arrived at military headquarters and gives the following as the results of the battle of the Monocacy:

Table with 2 columns: Description of losses and number of men. Includes 'Killed and left on the field', 'Wounded and taken to hospital', 'Prisoners taken', 'Total', 'REBEL LOSS', 'Killed near...', 'Wounded and in hospital at Frederick, now in our possession', 'Total', 'The doctor states that the rebels suffered badly in officers killed and wounded', 'GEN. TYLER NOT CAPTURED', 'Gen. Tyler, the same who commanded our 126th in the nine months service, was separated from his command at the Monocacy and narrowly escaped capture. He got off by secreting himself in the woods, after his command had been broken and part of it captured, and finally escaped to Baltimore.', 'GEN. FRANKLIN ESCAPES. Mnj. Gen. Franklin was captured by the rebels on the Philadelphia train on Monday, and taken to Towson town in a carriage. He thus describes his escape from the horrors of Libby Prison life.

The General was put in the custody of Captain Owens and two guards, who were charged with his safe keeping. Excusing himself as sick and weary he immediately laid down and feigned sleep. Soon after the captain and his guards laid down and he listened anxiously for indications of sleep on their part.

He did not wait long, before he heard the guard nearest to him commence to breathe heavily, momentarily increasing the volume and profundity until it became sufficiently loud to wake any ordinary sleeper.

The Captain and his other guard had also in the meantime commenced to breathe rather heavily, and the General continued with his ears open to feign sleep. He lay in this way for some time until all three gave unmistakable signs of sleep. Fearing that they were playing possum he got up and walked carefully and moved over to the fence, still watching them. He then coughed loudly and made considerable noise, thinking that they wanted an excuse to shoot at him, each man lying with his right hand grasping the muzzle of his rifle.

The indications of profound sleep being so unmistakable on the part of all three of them, he now thought he would test the sincerity of their slumbers by jumping the fence. This he did, and on looking back could see no movement of the dusky forms of his guards, and off he shot across several fields, jumping the fences and keeping straight ahead in the direction he thought would take him toward the city. He ran for about three quarters of an hour, when he entered a thick wood and in his weakly state, being really broken down by fatigue, he sought a place of concealment. He remained concealed for the balance of the night and all the next day, frequently seeing from his hiding place the rebel scouts searching for him, and scouring the bushes of the roads.

Finally about sunset, almost famished for water and food, he thought he would venture out having come to the conclusion that freedom was nearly as bad as being a prisoner. He still kept to the woods, however, and soon saw two men moving towards him, carrying large bundles of hay.

He walked up to them and asked them what they were doing with hay in this wood, when one of them replied: "We have hid our horses in the woods to keep them out of the hands of the d—n rebels and we are going to feed them." This reply was a sufficient indication of their sentiments and he immediately made known to them the circumstances of his presence in the woods and who he was.

They greeted him most kindly and cordially, dropped their hay and conducted him by a secluded route to their farm house, where he was most kindly and hospitably received by the family.

Being in a neighborhood surrounded by rebel sympathizers, and some of the rebel scouts still prowling around apparently for him, his whereabouts was kept a profound secret by his loyal host, who, on Wednesday, set about devising means of getting him to the city. This he accomplished, and at midnight a carriage went out from the city and returned with the General, he feeling, as he expressed himself, more free than he ever had felt in his life.

The name of the gallant and patriotic Maryland farmer is at present withheld for the reason of fear of rebel retribution should any more of the highwaymen of Gilmore's band be still in his neighborhood.

RETRAIT OF REBELS. The rebels have got away and the crossed the Potomac in the following order: Monday, at the head of six or seven hundred of his cavalry, crossed into Virginia at Rouse's Ferry. Breckinridge crossed his command at three places—Edwards' Ferry, White's Ford and Point of Rocks.

About 1,500 of the rebel cavalry crossed at Walker's Ford, and some 2,000 of them in the afternoon of the 13th. The rebels had every ford protected with artillery, and they departed in high glee. The head of their retreating column moved towards Ashby's Gap.

On their retreat through the upper portion of Montgomery county, the rebels made a clean sweep of horses and cattle, and many of them went so far as to steal the clothing of women and children and other personal effects, together with the contents of stores.

FROM CORRESPONDENTS WITH FARMERS FROM MONTGOMERY COUNTY, it appears that the fields for several miles were filled with the enemy, and that those who made the demonstration on our immediate front were only the advance of their army. The intention was evidently to invade Washington, but the continuous arrival of troops in formidable numbers satisfied them that their design was not easily to be accomplished. There is no doubt they were previously encouraged to the adventure by many sympathizing friends—those who took pains to point out Union men as especial victims of plunder.—These secession-loving farmers were engaged as agents in the robbery of their patriotic neighbors, who severely suffered by the treachery. It seems settled that the invading force consisted of from 20,000 to 25,000, a large portion of which was cavalry and mounted infantry. Several regiments of infantry were mounted on stolen horses during their march.

THE REBEL TAX ON FREDERICK. Frederick had been taxed $200,000 by the rebels. The amount was raised with comparative willingness by the citizens, who thus saved a much greater destruction of property. The people of the town paint the scene of their visit in vivid colors. The streets of the whole town were on one time crowded with the plunder of stolen cattle, horses, and wagons full of booty.

ESCAPE OF THE REBELS. It is not probable that the rebel force can be interrupted in their retreat, as they have such a large mounted force and have a good start. It is more than probable that they will get off with their plunder.

OBJECT OF THE MOVEMENT. The primary object of the invasion was doubtless to frighten Grant to raise the siege of Richmond, to save Washington; but on that they failed. They had a vague hope of capturing Washington by surprise; but that failed signally and they have but their plunder for their pains, and it will not compensate them for a toilsome march of over 300 miles. It shows the desperate straits to which the rebellion is reduced, and now that Richmond has not been relieved, we hope soon to see it occupied by Gen. Grant and his heroic army.

Rebel News of Sherman. WASHINGTON, July 19. The Atlanta Confederacy says that Atlanta is in imminent danger and peril, and that "if Johnson cannot make a successful battle or hold the enemy in check on the Chattahoochee, he cannot any where else do it." Gen. Sherman has since carried the rebel fortifications on the Chattahoochee, and his capture of Atlanta may be daily looked for.

N. Central Railroad Reported. HARRISBURG, July 19. The Northern Central Railroad has been repaired and regular trains commenced running through to Baltimore this morning.

GEN. SHERMAN ACROSS THE CHATTAHOOCHEE. CHATTAHOOCHEE, July 10. The work goes bravely on. Unofficial advice have reached this city that a large proportion of Sherman's forces have successfully crossed the Chattahoochee, and that at least two thousand of Hardee's corps have been captured by the great flanker. Indeed, rumors are the figures are not less than five thousand; but, as we never get in sensations, we place them at two thousand.

JOHNSON IS STILL "DRAWING" SHERMAN. He will soon have him in Atlanta. Johnson is going on "draw"; but, judging from the looks at P. M. General's office, he is losing a great many "clips."

It is with sincere regret that we learn that Col. Frank Sherman, Chief of Gen. Howard's Staff, is prisoner. Col. Sherman is from Chicago, and is as well and favorably known as any man in the Northwest.

CHATTAHOOCHEE, July 10. The rebels burned the railroad bridge and also the common road bridge across the Chattahoochee river, yesterday morning. Gen. Sherman has crossed the river above and below the bridges, and effected a second landing on the south bank.

The rebels have abandoned their strong fortifications on Chattahoochee Heights, commanding the bridge, being again effectually flanked. It is uncertain in what direction they have gone.

Our communications are in a favorable condition. No rebel cavalry are near the road in force.

SHERMAN IN FRONT OF ATLANTA. The Nashville National Union of July 13th says Sherman has driven the rebel army, and has arrived in front of the fortifications of Atlanta.
