ABOUT THE DRAFT.—We have procured all the reliable information about the draft that is accessible at present, and herewith present it to our readers.

Time of the Draft.—The draft was not made on the 5th inst., because the adjustment of credits and quotas was not completed.

Remembrance of the War.—The people of Franklin county have suffered since the commencement of the war, alike by the spoliation of friends and foe.

Exemptions by Commutation.—Under the law of 1863, the payment of $300 commutation money by a drafted man...

Substitutes.—An enrolled man may put in a substitute at any time before the draft, but the substitute must not be subject to military duty.

Bank of Chambersburg.—The Bank of Chambersburg lost nothing by the rebel burning but the fine bank building, which cost probably twelve or fifteen thousand dollars to replace.

Democratic Convention.—The Democratic County Convention met in the Public School building on the 30th inst., and was organized by cheering John Armstrong, President.

Applications to strike Names off.—Any enrolled man can apply at the office of the Provost Marshal in his convenience to have his name struck off the enrollment for alienage, non-residence, or physical disability.

Non-reporting Conscripts.—The government provides that in every conscript report to be made in having every drafted man report for duty; and it is especially the interest of citizens to do so to guard against supplemental drafts to make up for deserters.

Adjustment of the Enrollment.—The Provost Marshal, in his capacity as Provost Marshal, has been ordered to make up the enrollment for alienage, non-residence, or physical disability.

Rebel Prisoners.—On Sunday last an extra train from Hagerstown arrived in this place with 50 Rebel prisoners captured by Gen. Averill's Command in the Shenandoah Valley.

A RABID DISLOYALTY.—A man named Eli Smith, from Taneytown, Md., was arrested in this place week before last.

MR. JAMES R. GILMORE, Chief of the Military Telegraph Corps in North Carolina, was here on a visit several days and returned to his post last Wednesday.

SOLDIERS KILLED.—We learn from the Washington Record that John Mickle and Emanuel Burkett, of Capt. Kurtz's company, were killed near Martinsburg on Monday last week.

ARCHITECTURE.—We invite attention to the card of Mr. Colbert, Architect and Builder, in our advertising columns.

DR. WM. C. LANE, of Upper Strasburg, has been appointed Surgeon of the Enrolling Board of this District, vice Dr. Samuel G. Lane, appointed Assistant Surgeon-General of cavalry.

BEWARE OF SCANDALERS.—Every volunteer should show a bounty-braker as he would a pestilence. Their trade is to profit by swindling soldiers and the government, and to ruin the country.

ATLANTA FALLEN! Gen. Hood Routed in his Retreat; REBEL GENERAL HARDEE KILLED!

2000 CORPS IN ATLANTA! Treason Surrenders the Cotton States! FORT MORGAN SURRENDERED! 600 Prisoners & 60 Guns Captured!

Mobile Must Soon Fall! GEN. AVERILL ROUTES THE REBELS IN THE VALLEY! Early Retreating to Winchester! Sheridan Pressing the Rebels!

GRANT STILL HOLDS THE WELDON RAILROAD! ALL GOES WELL!

ATLANTA, the last inland rebel stronghold in the Cotton States was given up in a desperate battle on the 1st inst.—the day Gen. McClellan was nominated for the Presidency on a platform declaring the war four years of failure!

Thus has the "monster strategical Sherman," as the rebel editors have called him, marched with a parallel in the history of warfare. He had to pass a network of natural fortifications, strengthened by all that art could add to them, and with a line of hundreds of miles to keep open, he and his brave men have achieved the most crowning achievement of this war.

The following is the official dispatch announcing the capture. WASHINGTON, Sept. 6, 1864. P. M. The following telegram from Maj. Gen. Sherman, dated this day, in Atlanta, and just received, contains the capture of that city.

A battle was fought near that point in which Gen. Sherman's army of 60,000 men defeated the rebel army of 20,000 men. The rebel army was cut in two, with very heavy loss to the enemy, and Gen. Hardee was killed. Our loss is not known.

Fort Morgan surrendered to Gen. Farragut on the 23d inst., with 600 prisoners and 60 guns. The rebel army was cut in two, with very heavy loss to the enemy, and Gen. Hardee was killed. Our loss is not known.

General Sherman has steadily advanced up the Shenandoah Valley, but no general engagement has taken place since the capture of Winchester. The rebel army was cut in two, with very heavy loss to the enemy, and Gen. Hardee was killed. Our loss is not known.
