GOSSIP WITH OUR FRIENDS.—Well, we have been once more to old C——g, and found her still prostrate. We returned to vote, and we did vote. We exercised the privilege (glorious as it is called) of the election franchise of a citizen of the United States, though we can hardly be called "a taxable," for as our friend Dobbs would say: "what in the —— will they tax?" We confess to a slight feeling of indignation to have come 250 miles to vote in a little 8 x 10 shanty, instead of the old Court House with Dr. Franklin on top of the cupola, guiding the lightning; but what was a body to do, you know; and then if they had sworn us, how were we to "uplift our right hand in a low concern like that, particularly if we had been as tall as Saul? It was a pleasure to meet old friends, all of whom may God bless with health, wealth, wisdom and a Union President! We were glad to be in C, and sorry to leave; and now, in the busy city of N. Y., our heart is in the Cumberland Valley, where we hope our body will one day lie.

Thinking of home last night, a poetic fit seized us, and we ground out (a witty man might call it "ground and lofty tumbling") the following translation from the French of MURGER, which we will call (though he did'nt)

THE TRUANT WIFE.

I saw a gay swallow return in the spring,
And bitterly thought of the maid once so kind;
I wistfully gazed at the almanac old,
That marked the bright year when we loved with one mind.

My youth is not dead, nor your memory lost,
My heart flutters yet at the sound of your name,
Your knock at my door would be answered with joy;
Return, faithless Marie, you'll find me the same.

Our dear little chamber, the wine cup we shared,
(The lion's share yours,) the old friends of our love,
Throw off their sad mourning to welcome you back;
Oh come, we expect you, my own truant dove.

You'll don the white robe, you were wont oft to wear,
We'll take the old walks we have trodden before,
Beneath the old trees you'll drink with me then,
And sing to me sweetly your songs as of yore.

One bright sunny morn brought the wanderer home;
Her Carnival ended, she thought she was free
To fly to my heart, but—we missed the old thrill;
Herself sadly changed said the change was in me.

Adored one, adieu, with thy last love so dead;
That almanac old, let it be our youth's pall;
Why rake up the ashes of days it contained
For mem'ries unable those days to recall?

NEW YORK, Oct. 29, 1864.

GRAND MASS MEETING.—Notwithstanding the inclement weather on last Friday, the loyal hearted people of the "Green Spot" turned out en mass to hear the Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Vice President of the United States, discuss the great issues now before the people. The meeting was held in the Engine House at the Depot, and this building, although large and capacious, could not hold the large gathering of people. Hundreds were outside. The meeting was called to order at 2½ o'clock, P. M., and Hon. John Rowe appointed to preside. Mr. Hamlin was at once introduced, amid deafening shouts of applause. He addressed himself for the first time to the people inhabiting this most beautiful, picturesque and fertile valley East of the Alleghenies. He pointed to the black and crumbling walls of a once beautiful town, the work of treason and rebellion, and asked is it possible that here, where the work of the traitor is so potent, there should be found those who sympathize with those whose arms are uplifted to strike down the best government ever vouchsafed to man, and whose acts are against the peace and order of the community? He showed the evils of secession, and what would likely follow were it to succeed. He spoke of the lenitive acts of our Government, and its mistakes in this respect, especially its mistake in not meeting more sternly the outspoken traitors of the North, who are doing more harm to the cause than they could do were they compelled to go beyond the lines, enter the army of the rebels, and, with bayonet fight against the Government they feigned to uphold amongst loyal people. He held up in derisive style the Chicago platform and its candidates. He disclaimed being a party man. In times of peace he was a Republican all over, but during this struggle for the life of the nation, he knew no platform but "Our Country," and was with no organization but that one which favored the success of our national arms, and labored to vindicate the integrity and honor of the people. He despised the man who spoke of compromise. To compromise with traitors was disgraceful. The Democratic party broke the Missouri Compromise and could not be entrusted with another. He favored the speediest road to peace. He had sons in the army and desired to have them home again, but he wanted them to enjoy an honorable peace. He was frequently interrupted by long and loud applause. He spoke for more than two hours, holding his large audience spell bound by his powerful arguments and persuasive oratory. The effect produced by this powerful speech will long be felt. It will tell on the approaching election. He went from this to Gettysburg, and then to New Hampshire. He will be busy until the second Tuesday of November, when through the ballot-box the people of the nation will speak in terms not to be misunderstood, in favor of universal freedom, against treason, and for the re-election of Abraham Lincoln to the Presidency.

ANOTHER HERO GONE.—Michael Ley, a member of Co. G, (Capt. L. B. Kurtz,) 17th Pa. Cavalry, was shot on the 1st of October, while bearing dispatches from Winchester to General Sheridan's headquarters. He was with a squad of ten men, under Sergt. Royer, and when beyond Fisher's Hill were attacked by forty guerrillas. During the fight Mr. Ley received a wound in in his left shoulder blade, the ball passing through his lungs. He lingered until the morning of the 20th, when he expired. He was a soldier in the War with Mexico, and received a wound through both thighs at the Battle of Molino del Rey, for which he drew a pension. Being a truly loyal man and brave soldier, he again offered his services and life in defence of his country in the present struggle with treason. His remains were brought home to his family, residing near Shimpstown, and interred in the Presbyterian Cemetery at Mercersburg with military honors by Captain Hebble's company. The deceased was 37 years, 8 months and 4 days old. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss.

SAD AND FATAL AFFAIR.—A sad affair, which resulted in the death of Mr. Jacob Sweitzer, a harmless and quiet citizen of this place, occurred on Wednesday night last. It appears that a squad of soldiers, who were intoxicated, went to Mr. Sweitzer's house and demanded admission, which was refused. They then threatened to burst open the door and burn the house, but left without putting their threats into execution. Mr. Sweitzer, fearing they would return, went to a neighbor's to call assistance, and while standing on the neighbor's steps, one of the soldiers, who was still in the vicinity, came up behind him and struck him on the head with a carbine, killing him almost instantly. Immediately on hearing of this sad occurance, Gen. Couch inaugerated measures to ferret out the guilty parties and several arrests were made, but after an examination were released, no evidence being produced against them. Mr. Sweitzer was an engineer on the Cumberland Valley Railroad, and a zealous and consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

PATRIOTIC AND PROLIFIC.—Under this head the Carlisle (Pa.) Herald gives the following notice of a remarkable family: Last week Hiram R. Reese brought his two sons, George and Jeremiah, to Col. Henderson's office to be mustered into the United States service. These two young men are the last of twelve brothers who have enlisted during the war. Four of these have been killed in the service and eight of them are yet to the army. The most remarkabl feature is yet to come, and we confess our credulity was somewhat staggered when we heard the statement but the respectable character of the father, with the assertions of his neighbors, leaves no room for doubt that Mr. Reese, after having sent twelve sons to serve his country, has thirteen sons at home, all of whom are under military age. This ramarkable family reside in Warren township, Franlin county, of this State. The father is seventy-eight years old, and is enjoying vigorous health; these boys are the children of three mothers.

MASONIC DEDICATION.—Cumberland Valley Lodge, No 315, A. Y. M., dedicated their new Hall in Shippensburg, on the 20th ult. The Rev. D. Washburn, of Philadelphia, delivered the Oration and R. A. Lamberton, Esq., of Harrisburg, performed the dedicatory ceremonies.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Charles Hock, died suddenly at his residence, Snow Hill, near Quincy, on Thursday last. M. H. was an upright and worthy citizen.

A UNION MEETING will be held at Upton tomorrow (Thursday) evening. Several able Speakers will be present to address the meeting.

ADVERTISEMENTS intended for our next issue should be handed in by Monday morning to insure insertion.

THROAT AFFECTIONS.—A Physician writing from Newfantile, New York, speaking of the beneficial effects resulting from the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches," says: "Oblige me by sending a dozen more of your 'Bronchial Troches,' enclosing bill. For alleviating that horrid irritation only felt by those who have suffered from any Bronchial Affections, and for hoarseness and sore throat too, I am free to confess (though I am an M. D.) they answer all you claim for them. I would beg you to feel that I am one of the last men in the profession to puff a nostrum, but feel I am but doing you justice to assert what I have." To avoid disappointment, be sure to obtain the genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches."

NOTICE.—C. H. Cressler has removed his Drug Store from Main Street to Second Street, opposite the Post Office, in his new Room where he is now prepared to supply all who call with every thing in a Druggist's line of business, Fresh, Pure and at reasonable rates.

WAYNESBORO HOTEL FOR SALE.—This is one of the best stands in the county, and the manner it has been conducted for the last ten years by the present proprietor, ranks him among the few who "can keep a Hotel."

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28, 9 P. M.

Dispatches from Gen. Grant, received this evening, inform the Department that an advance in force, for the purpose of a reconnoissance, was made yesterday by Warren and Hancock. The telegrams of Gen. Grant give all the details received:

CITY POINT, Oct. 27, 1864, 8 P. M.

Hon E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

I have just returned from the crossing of the Boydtown plank road with Hatcher's Creek.—Our line now extends from its former left to Armstrong's mill, thence by the south back of Hatcher's Creek to the point above named.

At every point the enemy was found to be entrenched and his works manned. No attack was made during the day further than to drive the pickets and cavalry inside of the main work. Our casualties have been light, probably less than two hundred killed, wounded and missing. The same is probably true with the enemy. We captured however, seven loaded teams on their way from Stony Creek to the enemy, about a dozen beef cattle a traveling forge, and 75 to 100 prisoners.

On our right Butler extended around well toward the Yorktown road, without finding a point unguarded.

I shall keep our troops out where they are until towards noon to-morrow, in hope of inviting an attack. U. S. GRANT, Lieutenant General.

CITY POINT, Oct. 28, 1864.

Hon E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

The attack on Gen. Hancock proves to be a decided failure. He repulsed the enemy, and remained in his position, holding possession of the field until midnight, when he commenced withdrawing. Orders had been given for the withdrawal of the 2d Corps before the attack was made. We lost no prisoners except the usual stragglers who are always picked up. Our captures for the day on the south side foot up 910.

The rebel Gen. Dearing is reported killed.

Gen. Meade, in his report, says:

"I am induced to believe the success of the operation, which was most decided, was mainly due to the personal exertions of Major General Hancock and the conspicuous gallantry of Brig. Gen. Egan." (Signed)

U. S. GRANT, Lieutenant General.

DEFEAT OF THE REBELS IN WESTERN VIRGINIA.
WHEELING, Oct. 30.

The following despatch was received at a late hour last night:

CUMBERLAND, Oct. 29.

TO GOVERNOR A. BOREMAN:—The garrison at Beverly, composed of detachments of the Eighth Ohio Cavalry, in command of Lieutenant-Colonel Yarell, were attacked this morning at daylight, by Major Hill, of Imboden's command, with three hundred and fifty Rebels. After two hours' hard fighting, the Rebels were repulsed and routed with a loss of one hundred and fifteen prisoners, fifteen killed, and a large number wounded, among the latter Major Hill, who is mortally wounded and a prisoner in our hands.

Our loss was 7 killed and 21 wounded, including Lieutenant Peck killed and Major Howe wounded. The Rebels retreated to the mountains. B. F. KELLEY, Brevet Major-General.

DEFEAT OF GEN. PRICE'S ARMY.
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.

The following is received from reliable sources:—Our forces have been driving Price rapidly since Sunday. At the last accounts he was twenty-five or thirty miles southeast of Fort Scott, his army routed and dispersed. On Tuesday we had several fights with him between Mound City and Fort Scott, in all of which he was badly whipped, losing 1500 prisoners and ten or twelve pieces of artillery. Major-General Marmaduke and Brig adier-General Cabell are among the prisoners, with several Colonels and other officers. He was again attacked yesterday morning a short distance north of Fort Scott and driven pell-mell in a southeasterly direction.

He burned two hundred wagons yesterday, to prevent their being captured. Nothing is stated about the loss on either side, but there seems to be no doubt that Price's army is completely demoralized and scattered. The telegraph is working to Fort Scott, but nothing has been received of to-day's operations, except that our forces are still in vigorous pursuit.

General Steele, with a heavy reinforcement, is at Fort Smith, with the probable view of contesting Price's entrance into Arkansas.

The Rebels were chased all Sunday night, and constant fighting kept up.

—Capt. R. B. Ward, Co. D, 11th Penna. Cav., was recently court martialed at Fortress Monroe, for forging certificates crediting recruits to certain townships, and selling horses belonging to the government. The Court found him guilty and sentenced him to be cashiered; that he forfeit all pay now due or to become due; that he be forever disqualified from holding any office or post of responsibility; and that he refund to the United States the various sums of money received by him for government property.

GEN. WOOL has recently written a letter, in which, after exposing the true character of the authors of the Chicago platform, he thus appeals to his fellow-members of the Democratic party:

"Allow me to ask, is there a Democrat who voted for Senator Douglas for President that will vote for any candidate who accepts a nomination from a convention that sympathizes with the rebels, and which was dictated to by Southern traitors in the formation of its platform? I hope there is not one. Although Douglas was defeated in his election by the Southern Democracy and a few Democrats in the North who co-operated with them, he was one of the first to declare his attachment to the Union and his readiness to sacrifice all he possessed, with life itself, if need be, to protect and defend the republic in its unity and integrity.

"In conclusion, I will simply remark that I belong to no party, whether Democrat, Whig, Republican or any other, that is not for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution, without compromises or lines of demarcation, and which is not in favor of the prosecution of the war until the rebels lay down their arms, and are willing to submit to the laws and Constitution of the U. States. Respectfully yours, JOHN E. WOOL."
