GOSSIP WITH OUR FRIENDS,-The past week has been most forlorn, the weather horrible, the reaction from the Holidays intolerable, and the taking of stocks and collecting of bills abominable. Every one is busy but not making money, and consequently in a bad humor. It is hard to get a civil answer, and the only comfort one has is to make himself, in retaliation, as disagreeable as he possibly can. In the last particular I have succeeded admirably, and should letters patent ever be issued to any one, your humble servant should receive his papers and a public dinner. Just imagine the kind of walking we must have here; first snow, then sleet, after that ice, then rain, de capo-mud, artificial lakes, small streams, and occasional ditches; almost enough to stop an army. Money could be made by an enterprising Yankee, if he would buy up some old army pontoons and introduce them here. It is trying to one's temper to start out in the morning with his clothes nicely brushed, and while standing at a curb. waiting for a chance to cross, to have a stage whirl by throwing up about a quart of liquid mud over hat, face, vest, coat, pants and boots. Neither does it add to the sufferers amiability to have the driver in the distance call back, "take care, sir;" and if you are so unlucky as to fall, no one pities you in the least. The stage drivers and car conductors remind me of McCausland's men. I would not wonder if some of them are deserters from his army. The other night a conductor offered me some tobacco. I looked at him in astonishment, and said enquiringly, "Is it possible that you are a conductor and yet a gentleman?" He looked at me with a comico-puzzled expression, saving-"I've just commenced." "Heaven help you then." I returned, "you will soon be as bad as the rest." I took his name and number. and bade him good-bye with a melancholy heart, for I knew he was ou the down hill road. An omnibus driver, last week, tried to make me pay my fare twice, and had it not been for two ladies (elderly) in the stage I would have had my head punched, my eyes bunged, and my liver torn out and eaten raw, for all this was threatened ring voce. The news from Savannab of the merchants there sending on money to pay their old debts, and expressing a desire to open new accounts, has made quite an excitement in Gotham. Friend Jeff had better have a horse ready saddled and bridled Yesterday noon I went to my accustomed dining place, where some two hundred congregate at the same moment, and seeing likely looking black boy, about twelve years old, crying, I asked the proprietor of the house what was the matter with him. He answered that the boy was a freed slave from Beaufort, that he had been sent to-him, and that he intended to send him out on a farm. I walked up to the poor little fellow, for, like me, he was away from home, and watched the big tears roll down his sooty face An involuntary tear welled up from my heart and fell upon my hand. To my surprise my tear and his looked alike. I left him richer by five bright. new pennies, and felt myself worth in fee simple more by five dollars. Ah, the otter, hopeless loneliness of a poor negro child, on his first arrival in the mazes of New York! . I must tell you of a New York trick played on a poor Chambersburg man who writes for the REPOSITORY He had a first-rate Fairchild's gold pen, but on picking it up one day to write, he found that it was not good. Thinking that some defect under the warranted ailed it, he took it post-haste to Mr. F., who examined the pen. "Come. come, Mr. ____," says Mr. F., "none of your tricks on old hands." "Sir!" exclaimed the complainant with genuine surprise on his bonest face. "Why, don't you know," says Mr. F., "that this ain't our make?"-and sure enough, some enterprising New Yorker had exchanged pens an our friend's desk. Oh! but this is a wicked world! Wouldn't you like to see that fellow penned up for life? It is mean to steal, but to steal a man's capital is too bad. There is an abundance of floating ice on our rivers, and it is almost terrific to feel the progress of a ferry boat through the ice-fields. The huge paddle wheels crunch their irresistable way along, like ome of the agres we once believed in. Occasio ally a traveler not accustomed to the sound will take a seat resting against the boxes in which the wheels revolve, and when the boat starts and the ice begins to crash within some two inches o his back, he gives a jump that would make his fortune on the stage. For the past few days I have made it my special amusement to watch for the jump; and when the jumper happens to be a nervous old lady, then I feel re-paid for my watching. I have had another trip over the Camden and Amboy Railroad, and am thankful to report my precious self safe. It is true the door of my car wouldn't shut when open, and when open had to be closed by the combined force saf at least two passengers, and once shut with difficulty, would occasionally burst open of itself, at one time requiring somebody's umbrella to keep it closed, and again breaking out as it were in a new and unexpected place; but bless you, that was nothing, it rather amused us, and then the label over head, "C. & A. R. R. Co.," was the subject of many a good joke. As usual one of the seats was broken down, but it answered very well for some light baggage. I bought a ten cent sandwich, consisting of two wafer-like pieces of bread, between which was placed a piece of hog's shoulder so thin as to be transparent, all neatly anveloped in a piece of whitey-brown paper. Couldn't get a drink of water, and was obliged to buy an orange, which proved to be frozen. O Jersey, Jersey! By the bye, I tried to say something funny at my Yankee Presbyterian boarding house a day or two ago at the tea-table, and lo the result. The conversation turned on the prolific subject of bad boys, and one of the gentlemen remarked that the worst boys he ever saw were at Marblehead, where the fathers were en gaged in whaling. I with great modesty suggested that in our part of the country we generally thought whaling good for boys. They all looked at your poor gossip in astonishment, one lady commiseratingly saying—" Mr. ——— didn't say that the boys went whaling, but the fathers." Since then I have preserved a sullen but dignified NEW YORK. January 14, 1865.

LIEUT, S. J. DICK .- We noticed in our last issue the death of Lieut. Samuel J. Dick. formerly of Mercersburg, in this county. He was cruelly murdered in Nashville by some person unknown, evidently for the purpose of robbing him, as a valuable ring and his pocket-book were both gone when he was found. At the time of his death be was Commissary of Musters on Gen. M'Cook's staff, and had previously served on the staffs of several other Generals. He was a Lieutenaut in the regular army-in the 18th Infantry, and was unsurpassed as a bureau officer as well as most gallant in the field. The following letter from a brother officer was addressed to his sister in Columbus, giving all the particulars known of his this terrible affliction—those who have suffered can always feel the most.

"Your brother was always a favorite of mine, and during our stay in Kashville, where we have been detained for the last four weeks, I have seen much of him. When we left Columbus, he was on a visit home, but as soon as he reached Nashville he cann to see us; he ant with us nearly two hours, chatting about everything. I never, saw him in better spirits. He showed me a very eleganting, and gave me its history, which I suppose you know. The next day he called again and told ne he was or dered to Louisville to do some mustoring. I think it was the next day he started for Louisville. He called on his way to the depot; this was the last time I saw him. He then had the ring on his finger, and was in most excellent spirits. On last Wednesday he got back from Louisville. The cars gut in at 7 o'clock in the evening, when he went to the Sewance House and took a room. At 9 o'clock he visited Gen. Wilson's Cavalry Headquarters and had a long talk with the Mustering officer. Left there in about half an bour. He passed a sentry a few moments after, the giard heard s pisted shot and almost immediately a man ran swiftly past. But a pistel shot is so common an occurrence he thought nothing of it. This was at 10 o'clock. At 11, some gentlemen, in going up to bed, saw some one sitting propped up on the lower step, and upon examination found it was an officer, and dead-shot through the heart.

"I was shocked to see in a Louisville paper that it was supposed he had shot himself. Such a thing is absurd, as the pistol was found I ying at least half a square from the spot where he was found. I went yesterday to see the pildee, and more lonely spot could not well be found. The step he was lying against was a long wooden flight, and ran up between the brick houses like the stair-case where Collier's wig establishment is in Columbus.

"Some one had eridently waylaid him for robbery, as that ring and his pocket book were both gone. I am writing in the Chattanooga depot, where I am waiting for the cars; but I knew how awons you would be to hear all.

"Truly your friend, CAPT. JAMES P. NEILL,

The following is General Butler's farewell address to the army of the James: HEAD'ES DEPART. OF VIEGINIA AND N. CAROLINA, Army of the James, Jan. 8, 1865.

Soldiers of the Army of the James, Jan. 8, 1865. 3

Soldiers of the Army of the James—Your commander, relieved by the order of the President, takes leave of you. Your conduct in the field has extorted praises from the unwilling. You have endured the privations of the camp and the march without a murmur. You have never failed in attack when ordered. You have stormed and in attack when ordered. You have stormed and carried works deemed impregnable by the enemy. You have shown the positions to be so by holding them against his fiercest assaults in the attempt to retake them. Those skilled in war have marvelled at the obstacles overcome by your have marveiled at the obstacles overcome by your valor. Your line of works has excited the wonder of officers of other nations, who have come to learn defensive warfare from the monuments of your skilled labor. Your deeds have rendered your names illustrious. In after times your General's proudest memory will be to say with you, "I, too, was of the army of the James." To share such companionship is pleasure, to participate in such acts is honor; to have commanded such an army is glory. No one could yield without regret. Knowing your willing obedience to orders, witnessing your ready devotion of your blood in your country's cause, I have been chary of the precious charge confided to me. I have refused to order the useless sacrifices of the lives of such 'soldiers, and I am relieved of my command. The wasted blood of my men does not stain my garments. For my action I am responmand. The wasted blood of my men does not stain my garments. For my action I am responsible to God and my country.

To the Colored Troops of the Army of the James:—In this army you have not been treated as laborers, but as soldiers. You have shown yourselves worthy of the uniform you wear. The best officers of the Union seek to command you. Your bravery has won the admiration even of those who would be your masters. Your patriotism, fidelity and courage have illustrated the best qualities of manhood. With the bayonet you have unlocked the iron-barred gates of prejudice, opening new fields of freedom, liberty and equality of right to yourselves and your race forever. of right to yourselves and your race forever. Comrades of the Army of the James, I bid ou farewell—farewell. BENJ. F. BUTLER, Major General.

As a fitting addition to the fearful horrors of starvation inflicted upon our prisoners by the Rebel Government, we have now one of their grim jokes. It seems that some of the poor sufferers worn to skeletons and suffering from the natural weakages of mind which follows such torment, have andertaken to swear allegiance to the rebel Government, in the hopes of getting food enough to sustain life. With a grin of joy that might add ugliness to the face of Satan, the Southeran press brand these poor fellows as "galvanized Yankees."

Any one who has read of the early experiments in galvanism, where brute animals at first, and afterward the human dead body, were made by the effect of electricity to perform most startling. afterward the human dead body, were made by the effect of electricity to perform most startling and ghastly muscular gyrations, will concede the fitness of the Rebel epithet. Living corpses, brought to the verge of the grave by a system of deliberate starvation, are mercilessly snatched from the rest for which they are praying, to form regiments like those which the dead drummer arrayed for the inspection of the ghost of Napoleon, only to be called, in the heartless sneer of Jeff Davis, "galvanized Yankees."—N. Y. Tribune.

JOHN A. GILMER, formerely a member of the JOHN A. GILMER, formerely a member of the Federal Congress from North Carolina, and now a member of the rebel Congress from the same State, publishes, in the Richmond Whig, Jan. 4, a letter on the "position and duties of Virginia in the existing state of political matters." He favors State action and interposition in bringing about peace, and argues that Virginia is at liberty to take such action without consultation with the rest of the confederacy. He declares against the emancipation of slaves in the army, and says emancipation of slaves in the army, and says "Confederate emancipation is worse than Federal or coerced emancipation."

UNION LOSS SEVERE

Major Gen Dix, New York:—The following official dispatches have just been received at this

HEADQUARTERS U. S. FORCES,
On Federal Point, N. C., January 15, via Fortress Monroe, January 17.
Brig. Gen. J. A. Rawlins:—General—I have Brig. Gen. J. A. Rawlins:—General—I have the honor to report that Fort Bisher was carried by assault this afternoon and evening by General Ame's Division, and the Second Brigade of the First Division, of the 29th Army Corps, aided by a battalion of marines and seamen from the navy. The assault was preceded by a heavy bombardment from the Federal fleet, and was made at 3:30 P. M., when the first brigade, Gen. Curtis, of Ame's division, effected a lodgment upon the parapet, but full possession of the work was not obtained until 10 P. M. The behavior of both officers and men was most admirable.

ficers and men was most admirable.

All the works south of Fort Fisher are now occupied by our troops. We have not less than 1200 prisoners, including Gen. Whitney and Col. Lamb, the commandant of the post. I regret to say that our loss is severe, especially in officers. I am not yet able to form any estimate of the number of casualties. Alfren H. Terry, Brevet Maj. Gen. Command'g the expedition.

Hon, C. A. Dana, Asst. Sccty. of War.—After a careful reconnoisance on the 14th, it was deci-ded to risk an assault on Fort Fisher. Paines di ded to risk an assant on Fort Fisher. Faines of vision, with Col. Abbott's brigade were to hold our line already strung across the Peninsula and facing Wilmington against Hoke, while Ame's Division should assault on the West end of the land front; and 400 marines and 1600 Sailors on the East end. After three hours of a heavy navy fire the assault was made at 3 A. M. on the 15th. Gen. Curtis' Brigade led, and as soon as it got on the west end of the land front, was followed Gen. Curtis Brigade led, and as soon as it gut on the west end of the land front, was followed by Pennypacker's and later by Bell's. After desperate fighting, gaining foot by foot, and severe loss, at five P. M. we had possession of about half the land front. Abbott's brigade was then taken from our line facing Wilmington and put into Fort Fisher, and on pushing it forward at 10 P. M. it took the rest of the work with little resistance, the garrison falling back to the extreme point of the Penisula, where they were followed and captured. Among others, Gen. Whitney and Col. Lamb, both wounded. I think we have captured 1,000 prisoners. I hope our own loss, may not exceed 500, but it is impossible to judge inthehight. Among the wounded are the Commanders of the leading brigades, Gen. Curtis being wounded not severely, but Colonels Pennypacker and Bell dangerously. The land front was a formidable one, and the parapet in places 15 to 20 feet high, but the men went at it nobly and under a severe musketry fire. The marines and ender a severe musketry fire. The marine and sailors went up gallantry, but the musketry fire from the east end of the land front was so se vere that they did not succeed in entering the

The navy fire on the work, judging from the holes, must have been terrifie.

Many of the guns were injured. How many there were on the front I cannot say, perhaps 30 or 40.

C. B. COMSTOCK,

Jent. Col. A. D. C., a Another dispatch estimates the number of pris-oners captured at 2500, and the number of guns at 72.

Gen. Grant telegraphs in honor of this great triumph achieved by the united valor of the army and navy, he has ordered a salute of 100 guns to be fired by each of the armies operating against Richmond. C. A. Dana, Ass't See'y of War.

IMPORTANT FROM GEORGIA.

The steamship Arago, from Port Royal, arrived at New York on Friday, bringing Savannah dates to the 8th. The utmost quiet and good order prevailed in the city. An extra of the Republican, of the 7th, gives the following important news:

"We write amid the greatest exultation. The following highly important information just receiv-from a gentleman direct from Thomasville, six days since. He reports that in the following, counties elections have been held since the capture of Savannah, and in Thomas, Brooks, Berrien, Lowndes, Clinch, Montgommery, Appling and Tatnall counties, the people had openly declared in favor of a return to the ark of safety—the Union. Oreawhelming majorities were given the Union. Overwhelming majorities were given for the restoration of the United States Government, and the people were arming to defend themselves from the Secessionist, who were denouncing the Unionist and threatening their lives. A bitter conflict was imminent at the time our information of the conflict was imminent at the time our information. mant left, and the most intense excitement pre-

"Governor Brown was at Thomasville, and it is reported that he is at the bottom of the undertaking, favoring the movement. The action of the Governor has produced the greatest agitation among the loyalist and disunionists, encouraging the former and embittering the traitors, who swear eternal vengeance. "Governor Brown has disbanded the George "Governor Brown has disbanded the Georgia militia, and the troops have returned to their homes, many of them uniting in the work of re-demption. In Liberty and McIntosh counties the American flag was to be unfurlied from the Court Houses at Hinesville, county seat of Liberty county, and at Darien, county seat of McInsh county. "The cars are running on the Gulf Railroad "The cars are running on the Gulf Railroad from Thomasville to the Altamaha river, and one of the conductors who managed to escape, reaching this city yesterday morning, reports that all along the line of the road the people are ripe for revolution. Union flags have been displayed from several houses and the lives of their occupants threatened by the secessionists.

"There is no telling where this internecine strife will end, but of the complete overthrow of the chapring enemy there can be no doubt.—

the chagrinned enemy there can be no doubt.— Let our loyal lips lisp words of sincere gratitude to the Author of these glorious rays of permanent victory, which have burst upon our national horizon, proclaiming the wisdom of God, and the dawn of an honorable peace, founded upon liberty, justice, wisdom and moderation."

GLOOMY.-The Richmond Examiner of a re cent date makes the following sombre reflections upon the rebel situation. If there is a scintillation of comfort or consolution to be derived from it, we hope it may do those whom it may concern good; but we don't see it:

"There is such a thing as heart-break for na tions, as for individuals. There are such things as hopelessness and despair, lethargy and apathy. as nopelessness and despair, ternargy and aparity.

A conviction that all that it will do must come to naught, all sacrifices it can make, be rendered vain, by an irredeemable cause—a conviction resting on rational grounds, both of reflection and Cybertreett, will produce this state of Goliand in experiment, will produce this state of feeling in any nation, however heroic and however obsti-

OUR PRISONERS.—It has been represented that nothing has been done by our Government to carry out the arrangements for taking care of prisoners, agreed upon by Generals Grant and Lee. We now observe, by Richmond papers of the 6th, that 2,500 blankets have been sent to our men in that city; the first instalment having reached them soon after Christmas.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

There has been a general depression of stocks and prices during the last week, resulting from two causes. The remote prospects of peace founded on the Blair mission to Richmond, and the reports from Georgia, unsettled prices and depressed gold: but we look for this cause to effect the market but temporarily. While the exhausted condition of the rebels makes it manifest t the world that they cannot gain their independence, we do not look for a cessation of hostilities or actual negotiations looking to peace until Richmond is in the possession of Gen. Grant. We hope to see him there before the 1st of May; but until then we do not expect negotiations of any to close the war

But the main cause of the depression of prices is the scarcity of currency and the failure of the government to meet its engagements. There are unpaid requisitions now of over $200,000,000. and it has crippled every branch of trade, and made a demand for discounts quite beyond the ability of the banks to meet. This cannot last long, as the government must very soon provide means to bring up its requisitions now lying over, and strongly as the authorities are averse to increasing the volume of currency, we think it must eventually be done. The depression in prices is therefore but temporary, and, will gradually but speedily give way.

Oil operations seem to have escaped in a great measure the effect of the depression, and sales of valuable lands are still made daily at fabulous prices. The stocks were somewhat effected, but not sensibly. The contraction of financial operations generally made many realize who were overloaded, and the speculative stocks were therefore reduced.

The certificates for the Sterling Oil Company as now ready for delivery. The Imperial will have its charter probably this week. Active measures are in progress for the through development of the property of both companies. -The following are the latest quotations of the sales of stocks and bonds in Philadelphia:

PROF. SANDS the world renowned MAGICIAN

The entire performance is conducted without the shadow of offense, even to the most fastitious, being chaste and instructive.

ow of offense, even to the most fastitious, being chaste and instructive.

The following we clip from the La Grange Monitor:
FUN, MAGIC AND VENTRILOQUISM.—It was our agreeable pleasure to visit Masonic Hall last evening, to hear a lecture from Prof. H. Sands, the renowned Magician and Ventriloquist, and general "humbug" exposer, and to witness the many langhable and truly wonderful exploits of the Professor and must acknowledge that, for a general combination of amusement and instruction, we have never seen his equal. His expositions of the spiritus phenomena was clear and lucid, and received by the auditence with hearty acclamations of applause. His feat of ventriloquism and legerdemain are excellent. The supposed running of a knife through his wrist caused great furore. The table-tarning, of which we shave heard so much, was clearly shown by him to be a magnificent humbug, so far as it pertains to spiritualism. In fact, his whole performance was good, and met with unbounded satisfaction from all present.
