GOSSIP WITH OUR FRIENDS.—I am just from an eating house dinner; and if my style is stronger than common, put it down to the butter. It is morning and storming fearfully. I saw a line of street cars, as far as my eye could reach, blocked up by the snow. A Doctor's horse has a poor chance in the country, but in the city Heaven help the car and omnibus horses! It is three o'clock, and at the window I can just manage to see, and no more. Business is at a standstill, waiting for peace or war, (no matter which—i. e. so far as New York is concerned.) Reminding one of Betsy and the Bear. If no one of the REPOSITORY readers has ever heard the story, I will tell it in our next. It is hard on business to have no fixed value, making legitimate business too much of a speculation. Dear me, how it stunts; suppose we go outside and see what is going on. Next morning, Well I did go out with a vengeance, and an only too glad that I am in. Started up Broadway, and plashed along with soggy feet to the St. Nicholas, where I learned the interesting fact that gold was 213; then on I went to the Metropolitan, where I loafed for an hour; after that, sauntered into the Broadway to see John Owens as Paul Fry. Got the worth of my money, and left, but Jerusalem what-weather! There was an alarm of fire, two steam engines were racing past, about a dozen omnibuses were choked on both sides of the way, a lot of carriages were mixed up apparently extricably, firemen and drivers cursing and shouting, "Hi, hi, get up, go long, and clear the way there," made a babel, while the snow, and rain, and wind made the view absolutely frightful. The slush was about four inches deep on the sidewalk, while the street was half knee deep in places. Almost on the instant of my exit from the bright room, my umbrella was turned inside out, and with a fiendish dash the needle-pointed sleet dashed into my unprotected face. I seized a moment to glance around to see whether there were any as unfortunate as myself, and saw three ladies just like my umbrella. This was some comfort, enough at least to enable me to wade to my Hotel, as wet as water could make one, chilled to the very heart. "God help the sailors on our coast!" I could not help ejaculating as I entered the Hotel. Hurried to bed, hung up my steaming clothes, to find them just as wet next morning as when taken off; and how have the "millions" most abundant. To-day I have scarcely ventured out of the house, the walking is so abominable. Met a gentleman just from the Pennsylvania oil regions, who reports the wind so deep that it is quite common to see a hat moving along on the surface, representing a man on horseback beneath. Had the good fortune to encounter at my hotel an itinerant port wbo, for twenty-five cents currency, told me the following:

quired it to accept the appointment of Deputy Sheriff of the county in which he lived. Last summer, upon the call of the Governor of Indiana, he enrolled himself among the patriotic hosts who responded to the summons. The discharge of his military duties was characterized by the same earnestness and faithfulness which marked all his labors in civil life. During his absence from home, while in the service of his country, without any solicitation or management on his part, he received the nomination for the Sheriffship of his adopted county. This unexpected action was a spontaneous expression of the esteem in which he was held, and the confidence which they justly reposed in his capacity and integrity. He had scarcely entered upon the discharge of the new duties imposed on him, when the summons from the inexorable Destroyer came, and he has been suddenly removed from the scenes of his earthly labors, while yet he lingered on the threshold of an honorable and useful career. This community, in which Mr. Early was so well known, and in which his remarkable freedom from the petty vices and frivolities of youth was so generally remarked—in which the probity and manliness of his mature years won the confidence and respect of all who knew him—a formal eulogy were quite superfluous. In social life, our lost friend was frank and genial. To those who were fortunate enough to secure his friendship, he was sincere and useful. Selfishness received no toleration from him; for what was vainly sought in his own frank and generous nature, was heartily despised when detected in another. No motives of personal advancement ever tempted him to sacrifice the high regard for truth which was one of his prominent characteristics. Although called into public life in boyhood, and continuing to fill important trusts till his death, yet this expression of public opinion conferred no honor, and was but the natural consequence of a character and abilities such as he possessed. Of the manner in which he sustained the general relations of son, brother and husband, we may not speak. The bitter, though silent, tears and desolate hearts of those who have more immediately lost him, declare his worth more eloquently than any words of ours could possibly express. It is not for us to point them to the great source whence comes the healing balm for all the ills of life. Yet we may be allowed to remind them that the priceless legacy of an honorable name is left them, and in its solemn alleviation of their sorrow might successfully be sought.

DESERTER RECORD.—The Provost Marshal intending in a few days, a pamphlet containing a list of deserters and non-reporting drafted men of this District from the several drafts of 1863 and 1864. There are doubtless contained in this the names of persons who are in honorable service but who having taken no pains to show the fact to the Board of Enrollment, were retained upon the lists, drafted and marked as deserters. Such persons or their friends ought to submit the proper evidence and thereby get placed right on the records of the Provost Marshal. The genuine, bonafide deserters, who go west to do the work which the farmer's sons there go to war, the skulkers who live upon trees or in caves, should each apply for a copy to preserve and hand down to their children (if the latter ever consent to own them) as a memento of ancestral treason and poltroonery.

ON FURLOUGH.—We received a call last week from John D. Foster, a graduate of this office, now a member of Company C, 19th Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps, who is on a visit to his home in this place. John entered the service in the 140th New York, and while in that organization participated in the battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville. On the march to Gettysburg, being in ill-health, he gave out, and shortly after was transferred to the Veteran Reserve Corps. Being stationed at Washington in July last, when that city was besieged by Gen. Early, he took part in its defense. He is now doing duty at Elmira, N. Y., guarding rebel prisoners. Although John entered the army single, he now returns with a mess-mate, having taken unto himself a wife from among the fair daughters of our National Capital.

DESERTER SHOT.—We learn from the Somerset Herald that on the night of the 7th inst., an attempt was made to arrest Henry Fletcher, of Middle Creek township, Somerset county, who is a deserter from the draft. The house was surrounded by a squad of cavalry, and admission demanded. This being refused the door was forced, when Fletcher leaped from a rear window, and attempted to gain a piece of woods near by. He was repeatedly ordered to halt by one of the soldiers, who saw him jump from the window, and upon persisting in his attempt to escape, was fired upon, and fell. Upon being carried into the house it was found he was badly wounded, being shot through the body. As he was too severely hurt to be removed a surgeon was sent for, and he was left with his friend.

WASHINGTON.—We will again call the attention of our readers to the Lecture by Rev. Dr. Conrad, to be delivered this evening, in the Methodist church, at 6 o'clock. This lecture was delivered in Harrisburg two weeks ago, and the Telegraph thus closes a long article in review of it: "We must abstain from any further attempt at sketching the matches review of the Christian attributes and career of Washington. With perhaps the exception of Lewis' oration on the occasion of the death of Washington, we repeat the lecture, and we are confident that all who heard it will bear us out in the assertion that it is one of the best ever written in the same condensed form by any American citizen. Nor must Dr. Conrad be permitted to repeat the lecture, and we are confident that it should be repeated before as many audiences as possible, as well as on account of the influence it will have on the morality of the people, and the respectability of the soldiers of this hour of the country's struggles and perils."

ACCIDENT TO COL. SPER.—While Col. Spear, of the 11th Cavalry, was riding, with a member of his staff, near Varena, Va., on Saturday night, his horse fell, and he was thrown, causing his fall, together with that of his rider, upon whom the animal fell with crushing weight, inflicting it is feared, internal injuries of a serious nature. Col. Spear, in obedience to orders, was about to return to the saddle for stirring operations, and it is to be regretted that his services are to be lost even for a few weeks in that branch of our army, to which he has sided in giving such enviable celebrity.

THE DRAFT.—The Board of Enrollment of this District received last Saturday an order to commence the draft on the 21st inst., which was done. We believe only Fulton county was drawn yesterday, to the number of one hundred and fifty, which is the quota of that county with one hundred per cent added. The drawing will be on account returned for such counties and townships as are making no effort to fill their quotas.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—Lieut. Kinworthy, on behalf of his company, makes the following acknowledgment of mitters received from the Ladies Aid Society of this place: "We have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the mitters from the Ladies Aid Society of this place, and to express our sincere thanks for the same. The mitters are of a beautiful pattern, and we are confident that they will be worn with pride and pleasure by the members of our company. We are, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant, J. T. KINGSBURY, Lieut. Kinworthy's Co., 1st Regiment Pennsylvania Cavalry."

HEADQUARTERS RIGHT HAZEL BRIDGE, A. C. Chamberburg, Pa., February 15, 1865. To the Editors of the Franklin Repository:—I have the honor to acknowledge, on behalf of the members of my company, the receipt of the mitters from the Ladies Aid Society of Chambersburg, and at the same time to thank them, and wish them "God speed" in their noble and patriotic efforts. RESIGNED.—Lieut. Col. Pyfer, of the 77th Regiment, has been obliged to resign on account of ill health. He has returned to Lancaster city.

TO THE TOWN COUNCIL.—This body should know that the wall at Spahr's corner is likely to fall at any moment. "We presume the corporate treasury is not so full as to make it desirable to have a bill to settle for a human lot because of the want of a little prudence. Let the authorities see that this danger is removed from the path of the large number of people that now make Washington street a thoroughfare."

MASONIC DONATIONS.—St. Louis Lodge, California, contributed to the sufferers of Gen. Washington Lodge of this place, $200 in gold. Jno. E. Storer, formerly a resident of Chambersburg, is Secretary of St. Louis Lodge. We learn that several other California Lodges have made liberal donations.

SAD ACCIDENT.—We learn that on last Friday a young son of Mr. Jacob Harglerode, living a few miles north of town, was so seriously injured, falling upon or being caught by a cog-wheel in his father's mill, that it was deemed impossible that he could survive.

THE 22D.—To-day being the anniversary of the birth-day of the Father of his country, it will be celebrated by the military stationed in this place by a street parade, accompanied by the Chambersburg Silver Cornet Band.

POSTMASTER APPOINTED.—Mr. John Goshorn has been appointed Postmaster at Doyleysburg, this county, in place of Joseph W. Doyle.

SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS.—Deserters from General Early's Rebel army in the valley continue to come within our lines almost daily, expressing their entire disgust with matters in the army and the Confederacy generally, expressing a desire to return to their fealty to the Union, take the oath of allegiance, and again become good, loyal, and industrious citizens. General Grant has thoroughly fortified his army in the rear, and the Petersburg Express states that he is nearly as strong in that quarter as he is in front. Every road is strongly barricaded, and heavy lines of works extend in every direction. The rebels have recently extended their lines from near Reever Station two miles toward Monk's Neck.

Lieut. W. P. Cushing, commanding the gunboat Monticello, reports that on the night of the 4th inst., he entered Little River, S. C., and proceeding about eight miles' way, four boats and fifty men, landed in the small town of All Saints Parish, on Little River. The town was placed under guard without the knowledge of its inhabitants, and he succeeded in capturing some soldiers and arms. He held the place all the next day, and discovered and destroyed about $15,000 worth of cotton. He also captured two flats at the mouth of the river containing twenty-three bales of cotton, which had some time before been removed from a blockade-runner to lighten her. This was brought off, together with some negroes. The North Carolina planters, and all the men met present to be willing to come back under the Government, and most of them seemed to be loyal men and only waiting emancipation from military rule. On the 6th inst. the Lieut. sent two boats crew ashore in Charlotte Inlet, under command of Acting Master C. A. Pettit. He surprised and routed a Rebel force detailed to collect provisions in that county, capturing six soldiers with their arms and equipments, and destroyed the stores that had been gathered for the enemy at Flenderston.

PERSONAL.—Major-General Heintzelman, who has been sojourning in Wheeling for some months, has been ordered to Cairo. John R. McBride, of Oregon, present Member of Congress, has been appointed by the President Chief Justice of Idaho. The Illinois Legislature has passed a bill appropriating $25,000 for the purchase of the burial place of the late Stephen A. Douglas. Gov. Andrew Johnson, who was confined to his room with a severe cold for the past two weeks, is improving, but he is still unable to attend to the duties of his office. The Nashville papers say that Andrew Jackson Donelson, candidate for Vice President on the Filmore ticket in 1856, has returned to that city from the South, and had taken the oath. Major-General Q. A. Gilmer has been appointed to the command of the Department of the South, vice Major-General Foster, who comes North on a furlough, which is rendered necessary by disability arising from a troublesome old wound. The rebel Gen. Winder, the infamous conqueror of the Richmond prisons, is dead. He was a native of Baltimore, and was educated at West Point. At the breaking out of the rebellion he joined the rebels, and has almost constantly been in Richmond as superintendent of prisoners. His harshness and brutality to Union officers and soldiers under his charge, has covered his name with an infamy that will not soon be forgotten. He was 65 years of age. H. S. Foote, late member of the rebel Congress, on arriving within our lines, communicated with the Secretary of State, desiring to remain in the country, with a view to use efforts for the purpose of bringing about a peace, with the overthrow of the rebellion and the restoration of the Union upon the basis of the gradual removal of slavery from the South, while declaring that he had never abandoned the rebel cause, did not propose to accept the terms of the President's proclamation of amnesty. Permission, therefore, was given him either to return within the enemy's lines, or to leave the United States not to return during the continuance of the war, without permission from the Government. Mr. Foote has embarked for Europe.

GOOD NEWS!!

SHERMAN'S TRIUMPHANT MARCH! COLUMBIA, S. C., CAPTURED!! CHARLESTON EVACUATED!!

The capture of Columbia and evacuation of Charleston by the rebels is announced in the following telegrams received from Gen. Grant: "CRY POINT, Va., Feb. 20.—Hon. E. M. Stanton:—The following paragraphs are extracted from the Richmond papers of today. We now know that Charleston was evacuated on Tuesday, and that on Friday the enemy took possession of Columbia. It is reported that our forces under Col. Beauregard, after a long and hard fight at Charlotte, Official intelligence was received at the war office last night that Sherman was on yesterday morning advancing towards and was near a point on the Rail Road leading to Charleston, and that the Rebels were being driven off by Sherman's forces from Columbia, which is thronged with refugees from Columbia, who report that some of Wheeler's cavalry plundered the city before the evacuation. Up to Tuesday last it was uncertain whether Columbia would come within the immediate line of Sherman's operations, and consequently the public mind was not prepared for such an early solution of the question. The government had, however, just two weeks ago taken the precaution to remove the stores belonging to the Government to several millions of dollars, and to make the past few days all of the dies and plates belonging to the Treasury Department, together with the supplies of treasury notes on hand, were safely carried away. The enemy being in possession of Branchville, Orangeburg, and Kingstons, precluded movements on the roads leading to Charleston, and an unfortunate accident upon the Charlotte road, cutting off nearly all the rolling stock from the city, prevented the authorities from making any attempt to save other valuable materials in the city. Large quantities of medical stores belonging to the government were there, one-half of which were saved and the rest for want of time and transportation was destroyed. The presses and fixtures for printing Treasury notes of the establishment of Evans and Cogswell, and Keating and Ball, were necessarily abandoned, together with the other extensive machinery of these well equipped establishments. The printing press of Branchville, Orangeburg, and Kingstons, 200 printing presses and was the largest and best equipped publishing house in the South. The enemy's force operating west of Columbia reached the banks of the Santee, and they in a number of shells, to which our batteries responded. A portion of this column moved up the river during the night and crossed the Saluda and Broad Rivers, and on the morning of the 17th inst. they were near Columbia, where they remained until the morning of the 18th inst. The enemy's force entering Columbia consisted of Sherman's main army, a large portion of which immediately moved up the Charlotte road, and another portion has moved down the direction of the Santee, and the latter city has doubtless been evacuated. CRY POINT, Feb. 20.—Hon. E. M. Stanton:—The following dispatch just received: The Richmond Express of the 17th inst. says Charleston was evacuated on Tuesday last. STEAMER LATER.—NEW YORK, Feb. 21. Steamer Fulton from Port Royal and Charleston, Pa. 18th, arrived here on the 20th inst. The steamer was accompanied by the following news: Charleston was evacuated by the enemy on the night of the 17th, leaving the several fortifications in the hands of the rebels, which they spiked. The evacuation was effected by the steamer Fulton, on the morning of the 18th, at 10 A. M. Part of the troops stationed at James Island crossed over in boats and took possession of the city without any resistance on the part of the rebels. The upper part of the city being on fire previous to the evacuation, and the bales of cotton were burned, and it is supposed that before they could be removed, one-third of the city would be destroyed. In testimony whereof, I have herewith set my hand and the seal of the said Court, at Chambersburg, the third day of February, 1865. G. W. MITCHELL, Clerk.
