DIALOGUE.

The following dialogue is said to have taken place between two contractors, not a hundred miles from the Northumberland bridge. They are both strong friends of Jesse Horton, for the best reason in the world, which is, that Horton makes his monev in the same way they do, by getting fat jobs on the state works :

Mr. J .- Do you know that Horton's prospects are getting worse and worse, every day? If the election had been a few weeks earlier, I think his chance would have been much better.

Mr. W .- Yes, I see it all plain enough. Horton was getting along pretty smoothly, as long as the people thought he was a plain hard working farmer. They have found out that it was all a humbur, and as soon as that cursed new paper came out in Sunbury they published it, that Horton was a contractor, and no farmer. Well, how under the sun could we deny it? Every body about here knew

Mr. J.-They say Horton would do much berger, if he would stay at home, and let his friends electioneer for him. They say when he was riding through Augusta township, he asked every many woman and child he met with, how its daddy, or how her husband would go, or whether he was a Van Buren or Harrison man. The fact is, the people in the country don't know the man, and his appearance, you know, is not calculated to make a | of hearing him debate some of the most interesting very favorable impression.

Mr. W .- True. I heard but a few days ago, he met a respectable of | gentleman riding on the turnpike. Horton, they say came up to him, and in a rough way commenced sneering at, and abusing Charles W. Hegins. The old gentleman said nothing at the time, but told his friends when he got home, that he had seen Horton, and was pretty well satisfied what kind of a man he was,

Mr. J - Well, the fact is, we must make a beld push. We must get as meny young men as we eather on our works, from different counting If they are here only ten days, you know every vote is just as good as any old democrat's in the county.

Mr. W .- There is certainly a bad prospect now for more jobs and you'll see if we don't get a good many contractors, or friends of contractors, in the legislature, we are done for, at least for a year or two anyhow. The farmers are beginning to get frightened when they see three or four millions every year added to the public debt-they know very well that their land- mu the taxed to pay the

Mr. J .- If we could only keep out Hegins, I would not care much, who they would get in his place-you know he was the chairman of the committee of internal improvements last winter, and if he is elected, you know, he will most likely be appointed on that committee again. Well! you knowthat all the bills for the different improvements and repairs are reported by him-now you will recolbet that we wanted about four millions of dollars, last winter, and that Hegins had the bill out down to about two midious, just own half, and declared that he was opposed to granting one cent more money than was actually necessary for repairs and to keep up the public works.

Mr. W .- Yes, I know very well. Many of his friends on the public works were dissatisfied with him, and, if he is elected again, they will try to keep him off that committee, but I am afraid there will be too many like him in the next legislature. The truth is, the farmers wont vote for a contractor if they know it. It does look a little too bad to let a man vote to pay himse'f. He is always sure to " take care of number one," and that's just the way our public debt has got as large as it is. This thing of a contractor getting into the legislature to vote money into his own pocket, never will go down well with the farmers.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in the Forks to his friend in this place.

DEAR SIR :- We live at present in an age of bustle and speculation. Every man finds it his interest to be constantly on the alert for speculation, and that in a secret manner for his own benefit. If the following will be of any use to you or your friends, you are at liberry to make use of it in whitever manner you may think proper,

The Bloomspurg people, together with a very large me; rity of the people of Columbia county. are determined on removing the county seat from can be placed in the assertions of the Mitton Ledger Danvill to Bloomsburg, and to accomplish that and Sunbury Gazette. So far from opposing a object, they have entered into a secret combination reform of the present banking system, Mr. Hegins or pledge with she party in the forks, that they would exert ail their influence throug out North- people desire, and we ask them to read the bill and umberiand c usty, and especially through that part judge for themselves. It will be recollected that bordering on Columbia county, to elect their can- this bill passed two weeks before the Legi-latue

"Resolved, That the first section of an act, enti- | the Legislature, and also to use every means and inducement in order to gain the supp at of other For the regulation of the several Banks, Savings members in the House. Of this I am fully confipent. For the removal of the county seat from Suntury to Northumberland, would not only imcrease the value of the property of his constituents in Northumb riand, but it would add value to his own, in the imediate neighborhood; and whatever tends to enrich and fill the purse, will, you may depend, be his more immediate object, This is a complete way to bargain and sell. If you will only help me to get the county seat removed from Danville to Bloomsburg, I will sid in your election, and help you to secure the removal of the county seat from Sunbury to Northumberland. Rest assured that such is the case; they have it all cut and dried for you, so that Northumberlard Borough will in the end rob Sunbury of the county seat. For they say that Northum erland is the place where it ought to be, because all the Stages and Packet Boats centre there, and it would be more convenient for people traveling in them that have business to attend to, if the county seat was removed to Northumberland. This reas son hey give, because people who have business to attend to, traveling in this way have to lay by a day, on account of going across the river. whereas they say if it was at Northumberland, they could despatch their business from the time the Stage or Packet arrives until it starts again. They say they have a building, viz: the College, sufficiently large, that could be converted into a court House, as good as the one at Danville, and large enough for all the offices. I felt it to be an imperious duty involed upon me, to warn you against the secret factions of one party against the other. I know not what your politics are, nor the party you side with; but I feel confident that you will use every endeavour to put down such secret faction, and secure the interest of your own place, ras well as those of your neighbors and yourselves. In haste,

Yours stacerly, J. S.

FROM THE AMERICAN SENTINEL.

C. W. HEGINS. There is no regularly nominated candidate for the state legislature in Northumberland county, the county delegation not having been able to agree ea oge. The consequence is, that there are two democrats in the field, CHARLES W. HEGINS, Esq. who represented the county in the last legislature, and who manfully sustained the measures recommended by Gov. PORTER, and JESSE C. HORrox, E-q a new candidate.

FROM THE WEEKLY AMERICAN SENTINEL. CHARLES W. HESTNS, Esqr. to again before the people of Northumberland county for a seat in the Legislature. Last winter Iwe had the pleasure questions that came before the House; and in every instance, he acquitted himself with greaability. We regarded him as second to no manin the House for an easy style of public speaking and cogency of argument in debate.

FROM BICKNELL'S REPORTER. THE RESUMPTION MOVEMENT IN PHI-LADELPHIA.

We have made inquiries and are able to a nounce to our readers that the prospect of a resamption of specie payments by all the banks of Ph ladelshia on the 15th of January next, is still favorable. No definite arrangement has yet been concluded, but it is understood that all the banks of the city and county have agreed to assist the bank of the United States, with the exception of the Commercial Bank and the Farmers and Mechanics. These two will also, we doubt not, yield concurrence to the general plan in the course of a few days. One or two directors of the latter ask for an exhibit, but the U. S. Bank thinks it is not exactly the fair thing for that particular institution to demand any specified expose not required by the other institutions, especially as she (the U. States Bank) demanded no such statement when in former times she was in the habit of assisting the smaller institutions. It is probable, however, that the whole matter will be arranged in the course of a few days, especially as Mr. Jaudon is of the opinion that he will find no difficulty in disposing of the post notes of the United States Bank in Europe, if given under such circumstances. We learn, however, that some of our banks have been offered loans of large sums by eastern institutions, as low as 44 per cent, per annum. The prospect on the whole therefore, is highly favorable, and we may confidently look forward to a resumption by all solvent banks not only in Phil-delphia but to the south and west before the next Spring.

A Mossynous Dacision .- It is stated that by the new Constitution of Maine, every male citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, excepting persons under guardianship, paupers and I ndians not taxed, and having his residence established for three months, in the state previous to the election, is a voter. A short time before the late election, a Judge who was wisabove what is written, made a decision that a deposit of clothes constituted a reside ce and large numbers of individuals, from abroad abroad, of both parties, sent their cloth's into the state three months before the election, and when the time came round went there and votedand carried their wardrobe home with them.

The Banks

We publish, to-day the following bill, metricusing the banks, passed by the House of Represen tatives on the third of April last, together with the yeas and nays on the passage of the bill. We do this for the purpose of showing how little reliance voted for just such restrictions on the banks as the didate, for which that came idate has pledged himself first adjourned; plenty of time for the Senate to in return, if elected, to give them his support in have passed the bill, but did not see proper to do it. ser, Sprott and Watts-10.

SEC, 7. Provides the manner and order in which the trustees shall pay the debts of the bank.

SEC. 8 That from and after the passage of this ct, it shall not be lawful for any stockholder of any bank, savings institution, or loan company within this commonw alth, to vote at any election for directors or offi ers of the same, except in his or her own proper person, and that any act or acts of Assembly heretofore passed, authorizing the stockholders of such banks, savings institutions and loan companies, to vote by proxy at such elections, be, and it is hereby repealed.

Sic. 9. It shall not be lawful for the directors of any bank, savings institution or loan company of this commonwealth, to deel re a dividend of than eight per cent. per annum on the cap tal ac-tually faid in, or accumulate as a contingent fund more than five per c nt. per annum upon their said capital, and all the annual profits arising from any such institutions, over and above the said eight per cent, dividend, and the said five per cent, coningent fund, shall be paid annually into the treasury for the use of the commonwealth: Provided, however, that when the said contingent fund excreds twenty per cent. of the amount of the capital actually paid in, the excess shall be paid into the state tressury.

Sac. 10. It shall not be lawful for any bank within this commonwealth to purchase and hold any bank or other stack, except their own, or the stock of this state, or of the United States, and the amount of such stock so purchased and held, shall t no time exceed ten per cent, of the capital stock of such bank actually paid in.

SEC. 11. That from and after the first day of January next, every bank within this summer wealth shall receive at par the notes of all the char-tered specie paying banks within the same, and no bank shall pay out at its counter any thing but its own notes or specie.
Sec. 12. No bank shall issue notes in the form or similitude of bank notes, payable at a former day, usually called or denominated post notes.

SEC 13, Provides for monthly statements by the banks. Sec. 14 The stockholders of each and every bank, savings institution and loan company in the comm awealth, shall be personably liable for the redemption of the tills and notes, and payment of the just debts of such bank, savings institution a forn company; and such personal flability may be enforced in the manner prescrib d in the sixth section of this act. And it shall be the duty of the prosident of cashier of every such bank, saving a instatution and loan c inpany, on the first Mondays of Jonuary, April, July and October in each year, to formish on oath or affirm tion to the pro honotary of their respective counties, a complete list of its stockholders, with the rumber of shares held and owned by each, which said list said prothonotory shall five in his office without charge, su ject to the paid fo a search. Sec. 15. That if any banking institution, loan ompany or savings institution shall, when not r decining their notes and labilities i specie, declare any dividend of profits or alleged profits among the stockh lders, the declaration or payment of such dividend shall ipso facto work a forfeiture of the inspection of all persons, for the fee which is now

Sec. 16. No director or any other officer of any bank, shall directly or indirectly procure any loar or discount therefrom, and no loan or discount shall be made by any bank, except by the board of directors, a majority of whom shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for that purpose,

SEC. 17. Provides further penalties against the violation of the act in relation to small notes. Sec. 18. The wilful and deliberate false sweering

y any officer or other person, touching any stateent made or other duty enjoined by this ect, shall be deemed perjury, and punishable as such; but the solitary confinement in any such case shall not be less than one nor more than six years.

Sec. 19. The provisions contained in the foregoing act, shall not be construed as legalizing the suspension of specie payments by the banks of this commonwealth, or any other act or acts committed by them, or either of them, in violation of the law this comm nwealth, or the provisio s contained in their act of inc rporation respectively.

Sec. 20. The legislature reserves full power to make such alterations, provisions and restrictions as it may at any time think proper to enact, for the regulation of the banks, savings institutions and ovn companies within this commonwealth, and shall be liable to such taxes as are now in farce, or the legislature may at any time hereafter impose, Sic. 21.
