

FOR THE AMERICAN SHEEP HUSBANDRY.

Mr. ENYON.—In a preceding communication I called the attention of your readers to the importance of sheep husbandry, and if they have taken the whole subject into that serious consideration, as it necessarily demands, I sincerely trust that every intelligent farmer will be fully convinced of the necessity of using all the means within his reach to obtain more practical knowledge on this all important subject. With your permission I will now proceed to give a more minute detail respecting the probable and immediate profits that may be realized from sheep husbandry.

It may not be necessary or out of place to mention here that it requires considerable skill and experience to manage sheep to advantage; and this is probably the reason why so many enter into the business with sanguine hopes, and, owing to a complete failure, have left the business with disappointment and disgust. Some suppose all that is required is to stuff their sheep with dry food, give them little or no water, but suffer them to go out in time of snow and eat it, as they are disposed to do. Now, here lies the secret. If you permit your sheep to fill themselves with dry hay, and give them no water, then the natural consequence is an insufficient supply of gastric juice to promote the digestion of the hay in the stomach, a loss of appetite, and ultimately death by exposure to cold and rain. I would, therefore, advise every one who is disposed to commence the profitable business of sheep husbandry, to provide his sheep with good clear water in winter and summer, and feed them regularly with hay and rutabaga every day through the winter.

It is well known to those who have experience on the subject, that the raising of sheep is a profitable business. The average weight of the fleeces of a flock of one hundred sheep, is from three to four pounds per head. We will estimate three and a half, which will now sell in the market at 50 cents per pound; hence, a sheep yields in wool, annually, one dollar and seventy-five cents, or a flock of one hundred sheep, one hundred and seventy-five dollars. Besides, from one hundred ewes, at least seventy-five lambs may be expected, and the droppings of the manure is also of considerable importance to the farmer. We may safely calculate that the lambs, and the benefit of the manure, will compensate the husbandman for the expense of keeping the sheep, which will leave him then yet a net profit of one dollar and seventy-five cents per head.

AV. J. E. Cattawissa, Feb. 14, 1842.

Correspondence of the "Sunbury American."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6, 1842.

The case of Mr. Adams was this day finally disposed of. Mr. Bots moved to lay Mr. Gilmer's resolution and Marshall's amendment on the table, which was carried. A motion was then made to reconsider the motion to lay the reception of the petition on table—ayes 144 nos 52. Next a vote, "Shall the Petition be received." This brought the whole facts before the House, obliging them to vote either against the "Union," or the Right of Petition. It created quite a sensation among the Royal Bishops. A member asked to be excused from voting, which was refused. The final vote stood ayes 40, nos 166. I think the whole Pennsylvania delegation voted in the negative. Two democrats from New York voted with the Federalists. Adams is now again dashing away in presenting petitions, as fast as ever.

THE TARIFF. Iron Manufacturers' State Meeting.

A meeting of the Iron Manufacturers of Pennsylvania will be held at Harrisburg, on the 23d of FEBRUARY, instant. The Iron Manufacturers generally of the State, are invited to attend—all being considered Delegates without the formality of primary meetings or appointments. A general meeting is desired, to devise means for the protection of the great interests of the business, and to urge upon Congress the importance of fostering domestic enterprise, capital and labor.

SUB-TREASURY.—It would seem from our Harrisburg letter, that we are to have in this State, a miniature of the Sub-Treasury system, "for the safe keeping of the public moneys." The difficulty is we have no money to provide against such a possible contingency. But the affair reminds us of one of the preparations which graced the outfit of the South Sea Exploring Expedition. It was a boat, provided with row locks and runners, which was to be towed till the solid ice was reached, when the oars were to be dispensed with, and reindeer harnessed in—when they should be caught on the Polar continent that was to be discovered.

The Post Office in the House of Representatives at Washington, is an expensive affair, for so small a number of people. It employs one postmaster and four messengers. Connected with this department, is a public stable, the keeper whereof receives $2 per day, and keeps it open for his own private use, filling it with horses and cars. Six horses are employed in the service of the House, $1.25 per day. The recent investigation committee think it would be better to buy horses at once, than to pay $456.25 per annum hire for each of them.—Phil. Gazette.

RATHER PUSHED.—John A. Shugert, the editor of the Venango Democrat informs us that such was his embarrassment on account of the want of punctuality in payments on the part of his subscribers, that he was obliged to run through the law for non-payment and sue into the jail in order to keep one of them.

A YANKEE BOY.—The London Times says that Lord Lyndhurst is the first Englishman who has received the seals three times from his sovereign.—Lord Lyndhurst is not an Englishman. He is an American, born at Boston, where his sisters yet reside. His father, Col. Copley, the painter, left Boston when the troubles commenced, and brought his family with him to England.

Too Bad.—Some of the New York papers say that the filling of the steamer Missouri with water the other night at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was in consequence of the ungovernable curiosity of some ladies. They were visiting the ship the previous day and curious to see the operation of the stop-cocks of the boilers, they set them running. The ship careened, and when the trouble was detected she was found fast in the mud and water.—Phil. Gazette.

THE NEW LEAS.—Mr. Diskens is the present Lion in Boston. Fanny Elster seems forgotten, and those who were a fortnight since so delighted with her heels, are now equally pleased with Box's head. The following from the Journal of Commerce is very appropriate.

ADDRESS TO BOZ. They'll tone thee Box, they'll soap thee Box—Already they begin! They'll dine thee, Boz, they'll visit thee Boz, Thy y'll stuff thee to the chin! They'll smother thee with stanzas, Boz! With fish, and fesh, and chickens, Our authorials will bore thee, Boz, And hail thee "Cousin Dickens"! While ladies—"spite thy better half,—Blue, yellow, fad, and fat, Will coax thee for thy autograph, And likewise looks of hair!

Beware Boz! take care! Of forming false conclusions, Because a certain sort of folk Do mete thee such attractions. For they are not the people, Boz, These templates of the corks, No more than a church steeple Boz, Is Bosten or New York!

SEASONABLE ADVICE.—"Take time by the forelock," says the adage. Take medicine at the proper time, say we. It is a matter of less difficulty to ascertain the proper time to seek relief from medicine, than it is to discover the proper medicine which is to administer comfort to the afflicted patient. Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills, which have obtained a celebrity in the "Annals of Physic," unacquainted in ancient and modern times, have performed such astonishing cures, that thousands of people, in justice to Dr. Brandreth, have publicly recorded their opinions of their wonderful and extraordinary health-restoring qualities.
